Improvement Ass'n Discusses Changes in Newton Ward Lines

Proposed changes in the ward line boundaries throughout Newton were discussed at a public meeting of the Newton Improvement Association Wednesday at the Underwood School, attended by a large number of people.

Hirsh Sharf, alderman from Ward 6, pointed out that a change is needed to even out the distribution of voters throughout the city. Mr. Sharf, who is chairman of the Ward Lines Committee of the Board of Aldermen, said that changes in ward boundaries can be made only every 10 years, and the project will have to be postponed for another 10 years if action is not taken at this time.

Rep. George Rawson, chairman of the Association's committee on ward lines, stated that the worst inequality would be ironed out if Wards 5 and 6 could be split into three or four new wards. Then, he said, it is possible that no other changes would be necessary.

This splitting, Rep. Rawson declared, would involve an increase in the number of aldermen from 21 to 27. He thought there would be no problem in connection with this change, and in fact it might be advantageous to make such a change since a heavy burden currently is being carried by the Board of Aldermen.

Alderman Paul S. Rich of Ward 7, also a member of the aldermanic Ward Lines Committee, agreed with the report submitted by Rep. Rawson.

The Association drew up a resolution to the mayor and the Board of Aldermen asking that the sidewalks be cleared promptly after a snowstorm. Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., secretary of the Newton Taxpayers Association, warned, however, that whenever we ask for services such as these, we automatically increase the expense to the city and tend to increase the tax rate.

The meeting was conducted by William Powers, president of the Newton Improvement Association. Edward J. Pease, chairman of the Association's program committee, presided during the discussion of the ward lines problem.

Lions Club Members to Hear Dr. Edward Landy February 12

Dr. Morton V. Ross, Program Chairman of the Newton Lions Club announces that the next meeting will be held Thursday, Feb. 12 at the Newton YMCA. Dinner will be served at 7:00 P.M. Dr. Edward Landy of the Newton Public School system will be the speaker for the evening. Dr. Ross invites all members to bring guests to hear Dr. Landy.

Dr. Landy began his work in education as teacher in the South Junior High School in Quincy, Mass. Later he became head counselor at the North Quincy High School. From that city he went to Abington, Mass. as principal of the high school. Before coming to Newton in 1947, he was Director of Guidance in Montclair, New Jersey.

While at Abington, Dr. Landy was granted a leave of absence to work as director of the Occupational Adjustment Study, a project financed by the General Education Board and sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

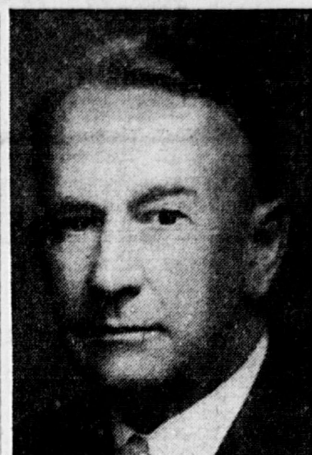

During the war Dr. Landy held the title of Operation Analyst with the U.S. Army Air Forces. He has taught summers at various camps.

Chas. B. Flood Named Advance Gifts Chairman for Red Cross

Charles B. Flood of Auburndale has agreed to serve as Advance Gifts Chairman for the 1953 Red Cross Fund Drive, according to Fr. Brittain Kennedy, Campaign Chairman. "We are delighted that a person of Mr. Flood's position and experience in the community has agreed to take on this major endeavor," said Mr. Kennedy. "He has had long and intimate experience, not only with Red Cross, but also with other community affairs and will make an invaluable contribution to our campaign efforts. As Advance Gifts Chairman, it will be Mr. Flood's duty to supervise the solicitation of those persons who are numbered among the more substantial givers of the Red Cross Fund."

CHARLES B. FLOOD

Mr. Flood, a native of Brookline, has resided in Newton for the past thirty-five years. He was an Alderman for ten years, and for six years more served as President of the Board of Aldermen, the longest such term in the history of the City of Newton. Mr. Flood was President of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross for three years, from 1945 to 1948, and has been a Director of Red Cross for more than twenty years. He has also served as Fund Chairman for the Newton Community Chest.

During recent years, Mr. Flood has been in Washington, where he has acted as Chief of the Leather Division of the National Production Authority. This group is concerned with making sure that enough leather is available for use by the Armed Services. Leather is the seventh most critical material in our national production.

Mr. Flood is New England Manager for the Fred Rueping Leather Company of Wisconsin. He is a Director of the Auburndale Cooperative Bank and a Trustee of the Newton Cemetery and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and a member of the Badminton and Tennis Club of Boston.

Warns Against Plowing Snow Onto Streets

Snow may not be moved from private property onto the street or sidewalk, Street Commissioner Harold F. Young warned Newton residents last week.

Snow from private property often causes dangerous conditions in streets after they have been plowed by the city. Mr. Young declared. He stated that gas stations and owners of private plows were the worst offenders.

Mr. Young has requested the Police Department to stop persons from plowing snow from their property onto the streets or sidewalks. Residents who have no space to place the snow should remove it to areas set aside for this purpose, he said.

He explained that the location of such areas may be obtained by calling any of the city yards.

Harry M. Carey Cites Facts to Hospital Group

Speaking at the Annual Dinner of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital held at the hospital Tuesday evening, Harry M. Carey, Director of the United Community Services of Greater Boston, outlined the spiritual, emotional and psychological differences between the approach of the typical German and the typical American to social service agencies. Mr. Carey's address was presented before a group of hospital Trustees, staff, volunteers, and friends in the hospital dining room. The dinner was preceded by the annual meeting of the hospital Trustees and Board of Governors, during the course of which pertinent reports on hospital activities during the past year were given. At this meeting, a plaque was unveiled which commemorated the efforts of the past presidents of the hospital.

In his seventh Annual Report, Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director, remarked that once again "the hospital did more for patients in less time." The average patient's stay dropped from 9.1 days in 1950 to 8.3 in 1952. In spite of rate increases, this shortened stay permitted an average increase of only $3.00 in the normal patient's bill. The hospital welcomed its ability to make available quarters in previously unused buildings for both the Newton Visiting Nurse Association and the Newton Nutrition Center.

Improvements in the hospital's physical plant included remodeling the cafeteria, a new fire alarm system, new lighting equipment for the operating room, and conversion of a boiler from coal to oil. A new refrigeration system is in the process of installation.

Two-thirds of the hospital's budget, according to Dr. Hamilton, are expended for salaries of personnel. Shortages in almost every department made the personnel problem a serious one, particularly in relation to the nursing staff. A work simplification program and employee incentive system have resulted in measured savings of more than $4,000 a year, at a cost of only $661. Absenteeism, accidents and personnel turnover continue to pose serious problems.

Push Bill for Early State Payments

Earlier payments of income tax distributions from the state to the municipalities would be of assistance to both state and local governments, Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association told members of the Joint Committee on Taxation last week at a hearing on the Taxpayers' sponsored bill, H. 1275.

Muther pointed out that the state would benefit by having the entire income tax collection and distribution operation handled within a single state fiscal year, and by eliminating the major part of the bookkeeping involved in setting up estimates only to correct them later.

The cities would benefit by having a definite amount known to them earlier in the year at budget time, and by having the actual payment made before the tax rate was finally set, asserted Muther. Moreover, adoption of the proposal would cut down the amount cities would need to borrow in anticipation of taxes, he concluded.

Newton Makes $293,625 Profit In Annual State Settlement

In the annual settlement of debts between the city and the state, Newton will be credited with nearly $500,000 over last year's figure according to the "Cherry Sheet" received this week from Tax Collector Henry F. Long.

The $500,000 figure, representing about $1.60 on the tax rate, will not be received in its entirety by the city, as Newton must pay 40 per cent of it back to the state.

In all, Newton is scheduled to receive $1,294,512, but the city owes the state under this accounting a total of $1,000,987. This results in a net profit to the city of $293,625.

The increase in money credited to the city over last year's figures resulted from $282,127 more to be received from taxes collected by the state, $95,000 in overestimates of state charges, and a drop of about $150,000 in estimated state and county charges for the coming year.

The receipts from the state follow:
Income tax, $526,012.99; Corporation tax, $654,382; Reimbursement on account of publicly-owned land $796.12; Old Age tax (meals) $17,736.66; overestimates $95,584, total $1,294,512.

Charges levied against the city in the Cherry Sheet are as follows: County tax $451,641; Tuberculosis Hospital, $117,372; State Audit, $759; Smoke Inspection $3024; Metropolitan Parks Reservation, $154,869; Metropolitan Sewerage, South System, $168,324; Metropolitan Water, $41,159; MTA Deficiency, $820; MTA Bond Payments, $62,124; total $1,000,987.

Corresponding receipts from the state in 1952 were: Income tax, $456,541; Corporation taxes, $654,382; Account of Publicly Owned Land $773; Old Age tax, $15,104.56, total $916,801.

Corresponding charges in 1952 were: County tax, $496,825; Tuberculosis Hospital, $123,902; State Audit, $6047; Smoke Inspection, $6047; Metropolitan Parks, $139,688; Metropolitan Sewerage, $166,500; Metropolitan Water, $33,640; MTA Deficiency, $42,735; MTA Bonds, $5718, total $851,634.

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

This is the fifth in a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

What is a casualty loss?
A casualty loss is a loss of property arising from fire, storm, theft, or other casualty. It is a loss due to some sudden, unexpected, or unusual event. A loss resulting from a fire, damages to your automobile, losses by theft, damages to property by storms, floods or a bursting boiler, are typical of the losses you may deduct on your tax return. Usually, the cost of the repairs is evidence of the amount of the damage.

You may not deduct the portion of the loss which is paid by the insurance company.
What other expenses may I deduct on the Federal return?
You may deduct such expenses as:

1. Union dues.
2. The cost and the expenses of cleaning special uniforms necessary for your employment.
3. Investor's expenses, such as safe deposit box rental, investment fees, etc.
4. Cost of determining your tax liability.
5. Dues paid to professional societies.
6. Expenses incurred in preserving income-producing property.

Must I deduct my actual 'other deductions' on my tax return?

No. You may deduct either your actual 'other deductions' or what is called an 'optional standard deduction.' This standard deduction is 10 percent of your adjusted gross income. If your adjusted gross income is less than $5,000, you get the benefit of this deduction by using the tax table on page 4 of your return. If your 'adjusted gross income' is $5,000 or more, you are allowed a 10 percent deduction, with a maximum of $1,000.

Should I use the 'optional standard deduction'?
That depends on how much you have for actual other expenses. A taxpayer who had 'adjusted gross income' in 1952 of $4,000 and actual other expenses of $200 will pay a smaller tax if he uses the tax table on page 4 of the return. On the other hand, if the same taxpayer had actual expenses of $800, he will pay a smaller tax if he deducts his actual other expenses.

Why is it to my advantage to be careful about the classification of my deductions?

The proper classification of your expenses will, in many instances, reduce your tax liability.

Example: During 1952 a taxpayer had a salary of $6,000 and rental income of $1,200. The expenses of his rental property (depreciation, real estate taxes, etc.) were $700; his other expenses (contributions, medical expenses, etc.) were $315. The taxpayer had gross income of $7,200, adjusted gross deductions of $700, giving him an adjusted gross income of $6,500. In lieu of his actual other expenses, $315, he may deduct 10 percent of adjusted gross income, $650. By using the 10 percent standard deduction his income subject to tax will be less, which will reduce his tax liability. If the taxpayer's adjusted gross income was $4,500 rather than $6,500, he would use the tax table on page 4 of the return.

Mickey Mantle At Sportsmen's Show Next Wk

Mickey Mantle may not be a champion fly caster now but Jack Sharkey promises the Yankee star will be one after a few lessons from the Old Master. Jack is to cast with Mickey at the New England Sportsmen and Boat Show opening in Mechanics Building February 7 and continuing through February 15. "And if I could make a champion out of Ted Williams in a week," remarks the former heavyweight king with a gleam in his eyes, "I can make one out of Mickey Mantle in even less time because the boy is younger and will listen to me."

Mickey himself, who arrives again in Boston next Thursday, and who will attend the Press Luncheon to be given at the Hotel Statler next Friday, says that he knows fishing and hunting thoroughly and is sure he can become a real fly caster under the tutelage of Sharkey—and in addition Mantle will be present to chat with the hundreds of sports fans who admire his great work in so ably filling the shoes of the great Joe DiMaggio.

them at the next committee meeting which will be held at the Boy Scout office at 8 p.m. on Monday, February 9. A sub-committee is working on the problem of equipment which will be needed for the Jamboree. The committee is as follows: Jack Starkweather of Auburndale, Chairman; J. Clifford French, Newton; Edward Ross, Jr., Newton Highlands; Robert Bittenbender, Waban; Salvatore De Fazio, Wellesley Hills and Donald Wyman, Weston.

The Jamboree Committee is anxious to tell the Jamboree story to all Scouting families and is willing to present a filmstrip on it to Troops and Posts at Parents' Nights. The parents of all Scouts, according to the committee, should have the opportunity to make up their minds on the Jamboree and for those who are not able to go this year there is a Jamboree planned for every three years so that each Scout who has the desire and initiative will have the opportunity in his Scout lifetime. Parents or leaders desiring further information on the California Jamboree are urged to contact the Norumbega Council Boy Scout office at 259 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

The deadline for Jamboree registrations is March 1 and any received at the Scout office after that date cannot be guaranteed that they will go to the Jamboree. Any Troops that are helping boys to go to the Jamboree may make "John Doe" reservations now and give the names of the boys who will attend at a later date. Some of the Newton Troops have indicated that they are going to raise money to help send some of their Scouts. Of the Scouts already signed up several have earned a good part of the money themselves. On Scout took on a daily and a Sunday paper route and has been doing odd jobs for neighbors since he first heard of the Jamboree last summer.

One of the Newton Scouts planning to attend the Jamboree is Jimmy King, a Life Scout in Troop 7 of West Newton. Jimmy was very sick in the hospital for the past two weeks yet he insisted that his mother bring in his application for the Jamboree so that he would be sure to be with the gang in California next summer. Another California-bound Scout is Eagle Scout Bruce MacFarland of Troop 27, Newton Highlands. Bruce attended the Valley Forge Jamboree in 1950 and knows what a wonderful time it is in store for the Scouts who go to the 3rd National Jamboree. Among the other early-birds to sign up from Newton are three First Class and two second Class Scouts. The Wellesley group includes one Eagle and two Star Scouts.

There are 96 miles of wiring running through the terminal building at Logan International Airport.

Pair of Auto Mishaps Hurt 7 on Thursday

A three-car collision on the Worcester turnpike last Thursday night injured six persons, and face injuries were suffered in another accident by a Dedham woman the same night, according to reports made to the Newton police traffic division.

The police report listed the turnpike accident as happening when a car driven by Mrs. Claire D. Banon of Brighton tried to make a U-turn to the road's east-bound lane at 9 p.m. Her car was struck from behind by an auto driven by George J. Cooney of Natick, and his car was in turn struck by one operated by Stephen B. Loring of Duxbury.

Treated at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital after the crash were Mrs. Banon and two passengers in her car, Mrs. Jean Indurski and Mrs. Ralph Schwartz also of Brighton. Mr. Cooney complained of injuries as did two passengers in the Loring car, Pierce C. L. Hare of Cambridge and H. C. Hare of Boston.

At about 11:10 p.m. last Thursday, Mrs. Fred Chase of Dedham suffered face injuries when her car in which she was riding was in a collision at Centre and Walnut streets, Newton Highlands. Madeline M. Hershey of Needham, operator of the car in which Mrs. Chase was riding reported to police that she was going southwesterly on Centre street when the collision occurred. The other car, going north on Walnut street, was driven by Florence E. Clark of St. Albans, N. Y.

Community Chorus Planning For Seventh Spring Concert

The members of the Community Chorus of the Newtons start rehearsing for their Spring Concert of 1953, Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Pierce School, West Newton, and as they do so they are enjoying the double pleasure which comes to them through participating in a most rewarding recreation while they find themselves part of a tradition in the making.

This is their seventh annual Spring Concert, and those members who have sung with the Chorus since its incorporation in 1946, and their friends who have attended the concerts during those seven years, have watched with interest and satisfaction the growth and development of this musical organization.

The Community Chorus was first visualized by a group of prominent Newton citizens led by Miss Adelaide B. Ball, who saw in such an organization an opportunity for men and women interested in singing to come together from all parts of Newton and, under expert leadership, sing worthwhile music of various types and styles—religious and secular, modern and traditional, familiar and little known—but all of excellent quality.

Through the generous interest and support of such friends as Roy Edwards, Orville Clapper, Haseler Capron and Thomas Gill, the Chorus was given a start, and because the City of Newton believed in its value to the Community, many of the large problems facing a new and inexperienced organization were minimized.

Deeply aware of its debt to its personal and its municipal friends, the Chorus in its by-laws pledged itself to give a free concert to the city each Christmas season, and that pledge has been kept. The Spring Concert is, of course, the means by which the Chorus raises its funds to defray expenses, and tickets for this event will soon be on sale.

To prepare and produce these annual concerts in December and in May has required faithful work by the members of the Chorus, foresight and organization by its officers, and creative leadership by the director. At one Spring Concert was given the first performance in the east of the Lincoln Lyrics, a most effective Choral suite in the modern manner. Another Spring Concert emphasized American folk music. Extra features in the way of guest soloists and, in two instances, a modern dance group have added variety and interest to the program.

This year under the continuing and able direction of James H. Remley, Supervisor of Music in the Newton Public Schools, and with the guidance of the President, Albert E. Grimes and his board of officers and directors, including such well-known Newton leaders as Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. Kenneth J. Waite, C. Evan Johnson and Miss Geraldine Seaver, an unusual program of fine quality will again be assured on May 20th.

Membership in open until March 31st for the balance of this season and any person in or around Newton who can read music, enjoys singing, is most welcome.

Alvord Brothers, Realtors, report the sale of a single house, consisting of 10 rooms, a bath and garage, at 52 Harrison st., Newton Highlands. The estate of William J. Skinner was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Eames, who will occupy the house.

Children's Sports Programs

In the last two years an interesting controversy has arisen over the growth of midget sports in the United States. By midget sports, we mean all organized sports
for youngsters twelve years of age or under.

In 1950, the National Recreation Association Congress set up a committee from the recreation field to formulate principles of guidance to be followed by community recreation leaders.

This committee of twenty-three members met the next year and, in 1952, the committee released a number of conclusions and suggested principles concerning highly organized competitive sports for youngsters twelve and under.

The committee found that sports for those under twelve years of age should not be "highly organized, competitive athletics."

The committee considers any athletic activity which involves a considerable amount of leisure time, of the youngsters, spent in formalized practice, which encourages large-scale attendance by adults, which is limited to the best players, and which involves a selection of winners on state, regional or national schedules, highly organized.

Further, the committee feels that competitive athletics should be only a part of the total community recreation program which should include activities like outdoor living, games, music, drama and the arts and crafts. This field is too often neglected in favor of some highly organized and highly competitive midget sport. It is also suggested that equal funds be allowed for the recreation opportunities of girls, compared with those of the boys.

A Record 1952 Christmas

The National Safety Council recently announced that the four-day Christmas weekend exacted a highway death toll of 556.
This is an all-time record, surpassing the previous record of 555 fatalities in the Christmas holiday of 1936.

When considering the 556 deaths, due to highway accidents during the recent Christmas weekend, one must also take into account the thousands temporarily or permanently injured in these and other accidents. It occurs to us that the offering of some 500 lives each Christmas is a sacrifice which is almost as unappreciated as it is unnecessary.

At least one state has attempted to remind motorists of the death threat which always hovers above the highway by erecting crosses along the highway where deaths have occurred. It is a sobering sight to see three or four crosses in a spot on the side of the road as one speeds along to his destination. The sight, and resulting meditation, has caused more than one driver to slow down.

This method has been tried by the State of Florida, and it is worth the consideration
of all states who have not tried it.

They Asked Divine Aid

The United States was founded on the belief that a Divine Providence shapes our destiny. Our greatest leaders always have appealed for Divine help in national emergencies.

The Declaration of Independence recognizes the Creator. All of us remember the story of Washington praying as he knelt in the snow at Valley Forge. Lincoln's great speeches have a biblical rhythm, as when he prayed at Gettysburg that "this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom
—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish
from the earth."

While we, as a people, follow the example of these great leaders, our nation will be safe. The godlessness of World Communist shall not prevail against it.

Buckley Fails to Meet MTA Trustees

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley suddenly becomes shy and bashful when the officials of the 14 cities and towns served by the MTA try to induce him to sit down with them and tell them what he considers wrong with the way the transit system is being run.

Mr. Buckley twice has sidestepped such invitations from the men who must produce the tax money to meet the MTA deficits, and he acts as if he suspected that they are planning to set some sort of bobby trap for him.

The impression is growing that the reason the State Auditor is shying away from a conference with the Mayors, City Managers and Town Selectmen is that he cannot produce the facts and figures to support the allegations he has hurled at the MTA trustees.

If that is unfair to Buckley, he is responsible for it, and he is the one who can correct it.

Over a period of many months Buckley
has issued reports criticizing both the MTA trustees and their policies, and he accused
them of wasting and squandering money.

The MTA trustees have countered with the reply that Buckley didn't know what he was talking about, that he was simply talking to attract attention to himself and for the pleasure of seeing his name in print and that his allegations were unfounded.

Until very recently this observer was disposed to attach considerable credence to Buckley's statements, and so, apparently,
were the city and town officials.

Confronted with the conflict between Buckley's claims and the MTA denials, the representatives of the 14 communities, headed by Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes, who comprise the MTA Advisory Board, decided to arrange a face-to-face meeting between Buckley and the MTA trustees.

Their purpose was to try to get at the real facts and ascertain whether there were any changes in MTA policies and procedures which they could demand in order to save money for the taxpayers of their cities and towns who have to foot the bill for the transit system's annual operating loss.

The trustees showed up for the conference, but Buckley didn't. A telephone call to the Auditor's office brought only the answer
that he was "busy around the State House."

So the Mayors and Selectmen decided to try again and to arrange a second session to which they would invite only Buckley and would not remain away because of the possibility that the officials of the road might not the MTA trustees so that the Auditor
"gang up on him."

But for a second time Buckley was among
the missing when the meeting got underway,
and this time his only explanation was some mumbo-jumbo that one member of the MTA Advisory Board has political ambitions and that another has a personal friendship with the MTA trustees.

It could well be that more than one of the local officials has political ambitions. Buckley may have some himself. It could also be that one of the local representatives is a friend of the MTA trustees. But what difference does that make, and how does it justify Buckley's absence?

That would not alter the fact that Buckley is not backing up the allegations
he made, or that he is not cooperating in an effort to do something about the MTA, on which he has set himself up as an authority.

Either he has the facts and figures to support his statements, or he hasn't. He injected himself originally into the MTA row.
Nobody drew him in.

The people in Boston, Newton and the other cities and towns, who have to pay heavier tax bills because of the MTA and who consider that almost any change in the status of that system would have to be for the better, are likely to take a dim view of any elected official who refuses to join in an effort to lighten the load they're carrying.

A third meeting has been called by the Mayors and Selectmen for later this month,
and a third invitation is being sent to Buckley to give the local officials the benefit of his ideas on a very important subject.

Another refusal by Buckley would be very likely to bring the public wrath upon his head, and it would certainly leave the impression that he can't substantiate his own public statements.

Executive Director Norman MacDonald declared the other day that $20,000 worth of State-owned furniture disappeared when Governor Dever left office and turned up a week later in Secretary of State Cronin's office.

How this came about was not made quite clear. Certainly, Secretary Cronin didn't piggy-back it down to his own suite of offices when Governor Herter's back was turned. Director MacDonald point is that nobody keeps a very careful inventory on State-owned property. It's well taken if $20,000 worth of property can disappear for a week.

A tremendous controversy over the rent
control issue is probably inevitable as a result of President Eisenhower's edict to remove federal controls April 30 and Governor Herter's stand that it is a matter for the individual cities and towns to decide.

The Governor's position is understandable. Some communities need rent controls and some don't. Those that do not need the controls would shriek in protest at bearing any part of the cost for operating agencies
in cities or towns where they are needed.

But this will pose a troublesome problem for some communities, particularly cities, where housing shortages still exist
and landlords are likely to boost rents
sky-high if they have the power to do so.

This probably comes down to the point where some form of controls are needed in most of the cities and the larger towns and are unnecessary in the smaller towns where most of the people own their own homes.

A terrific amount of chaos could result if officials in the communities where controls are still needed decide against maintaining such machinery.

What Shall We Eat...

...Decide on Valentine Dessert

February has so many days
that rate a celebration dish it's bound to be a month of interesting meals. Be sure to have a special dish at least one of these special days... Valentine's Day, Pancake Day, Ash Wednesday, and Washington's birthday. It's your bow to more fun at home and pleasant meals.

Let's take the first big day in February, Valentine's Day merits
a special dish that reminds us
of hearts, flowers, and all things pretty and gay.

For dessert, have Heart's Delight Meringue a la Mode. It's a meringue shell — family size
— in the shape of a heart, filled with ice cream and topped with strawberry sauce. This festive dish is always right for a party;
it has no age limit. Oldsters relish it just as much as the youngsters do.

When preparing the egg whites,
remember eggs separate best when they are cold; but the whites beat up better at room temperature. So separate the eggs as soon as you take them from the refrigerator; then let the whites stand covered until they come to room temperature.
Beating the sugar well, rather than folding it in will give you finer textured meringue.

HEART'S DELIGHT MERINGUE A LA MODE
6 egg whites
2 cups sugar
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 pkg. strawberries (frozen)
Sugar
Red Food Coloring
Beat egg whites until they hold a point. Gradually add sugar, beating between additions, adding lemon juice alternately with last half of sugar. Continue beating until stiff and glossy. Add a few drops of coloring to make a delicate pink color. Drop by spoonfuls in the shape of a heart drawn on paper on a baking sheet. Hollow out center with the back of a spoon, leaving a higher rim around edge. Bake in a very slow oven, 275 deg. F., for about 1½ hours or until meringue
is crusty and very slightly browned. Pile ice cream into cooled shell by tablespoons. Serve.
Top with strawberries sweetened
to taste. Makes 6 servings.

PROPOSED STEPS
It seems that the majority of Americans are unaware of already established procedures which indicate that we do not need a war effort in order for our nation to have prosperity.
There is much information available to warrant the conviction that the procedures essential for continuous peacetime prosperity
have been developed and are at hand. At the very least, these newly developed procedures constitute another asset which will be added to the great stock pile
of assets already possessed by mankind.

At the present moment, it seems that the world's greatest need is for the advent of a world leadership capable of putting mankind's great wealth of assets efficiently and constructively to work.

Proposed Steps to World Leadership

I
Establishment of a broad common understanding of ethics
on a businesslike basis through a brotherhood and build up of group cooperation having its roots in such understanding.

II
Use of group cooperation and
the person to person method for speeding up the rate of progress
being made in educating the people concerning the merit of social experiments which have already been tried and proved worthy of a place in the march of human progress.

III Development of a nation-wide person to person system for circulating petitions amongst the people and use of the system to reflect the will of the people concerning proposed alterations to social processes.

IV
Use of the person to person petition system at election time to get the names of qualified ethically trained men onto election ballots without political ballyhoo.

V
By means of demonstrating,
show the rest of the world that our way of life best solves human problems.

Newton With Three Ladder Companies, Desires a Fourth

Newton has 3 Ladder Companies at the present time and desires a fourth in order to improve the coverage. 2 of the Ladder Companies are aerial ladder trucks, (Trucks No. 1 and No. 3), the aerial ladders are 75 and 85 footers. Along with these ladders they carry a full compliment of hand raised ladders. Ladders No. 2 is known as a Quad and is a combination of both a ladder company and engine company. It carries a full compliment of hand raised ladders, a 750 gallon pumping unit
and 1000 feet of 2½ inch hose.
All 3 Ladder Companies carry a wide variety of tools and other necessary appliances that are required for performing most any type of rescue work.
Among their equipment are such things as salvage covers, mops, pails, squeegees, tarpaper, shovels and other items that are used for cleaning up operations and securing the building after a fire.

The Ladder Companies main work is to open up areas so that the Engine Companies can get in and extinguish the fire. Here again the saving of life is the first important objective. The Ladder Companies place the ladders and perform rescue work wherever necessary. Part of their work is to spread the salvage covers over furniture and other valuable articles where and when possible to help reduce the water damage. They also handle most of the resuscitator cases and emergency rescue operations. When the fires are over these companies help
in cleaning up the debris so that the repair work can be started as soon as possible. Broken windows and roof opening are covered with tarpaper by these men.

Ladder Companies are usually staffed with an officer and 3 or 4 fire fighters.

Drills are held regularly on the use of equipment, appliances and other phases of fire fighting operations similar to the Engine Companies.

Most box alarms have one or more Ladder Companies answer
on the first alarm, and a Ladder Company is dispatched to most all building fires that come in over the telephone.

The Chief answers most of the box alarms during the day and important and multiple alarms
at night.

An Assistant Chief is dispatched to all box alarms, building
fires and most types of emergency calls.

The Lighting Plant responds to night alarms or it can be called for at any time that it services are required. This truly also carries some emergency tools.

The Mechanic answers all multiple alarms and checks the apparatus to make sure everything is operating correctly. After each run the apparatus and equipment is checked and made ready for the next call regardless of the time of day or night.

The Newton Fire Department
is here and ready at all times to serve the community to the best of its ability. In case of a fire be sure to call the FIRE DE-PARTMENT AT ONCE, here in Newton the telephone number is BI 4-0030. As an added precaution learn the location of your nearest FIRE ALARM BOX and how to operate it as you may need to use it if your phone is dead. Learn the location today.

Inaugural Parade Marchers Include 2 Newton Students

Two Newton students at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., were among the Cadet midshipmen who recently returned to the Academy from Washington, D.C., where they participated in the Inaugural Parade.

They are Frank S. Capodanno Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Capodanno of 131 Crafts street, Newtonville, and Vincent J. Lane, son of Mrs. Prudence Lane of 44 Carver road, Newton.

The cadets were taken from Kings Point, aboard the attack transport USS Monrovia, to Norfolk, Va. They sailed up the Potomac River aboard the barracks ship USS Mercer to the Naval Gun Factory at the nation's capital.

On the morning of the inauguration of President Eisenhower they joined in the line of march with thousands of other members of the armed forces to pay tribute to the new Commander-in-Chief.

After the ceremonies were completed, the cadet midshipmen were returned to Norfolk, and boarded the Monrovia for the trip home to Kings Point.

Norman F. Vincent completed requirements for the bachelor of arts degree at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, as the first semester ended last week. He majored in speech.

rious problems to the hospital, and appropriate steps are being taken to remedy these situations. Mr. Wesley Sprague left the hospital on April 30 to become Administrator of the Brockton Hospital. Mr. Geoffrey B. Torney came to the hospital in June as administrative resident. Mr. Carl Johnson retired as Chief Engineer to be succeeded by Mr. John Doherty. In September Dr. Charles Jones was appointed as Associate Pathologist. The hospital was proud of the fact that Dr. Lewis S. Pilcher, a member of the Active Staff, served as President of the Middlesex South District Medical Society.

In his report, Dr. Hamilton emphasized the need for full reimbursement for the care of medically indigent patients. Legislation currently before the general court to provide reimbursement for the cost of welfare charges should be vigorously supported by members of the community, Dr. Hamilton urged. In closing, Dr. Hamilton paid particular thanks to Mr. Charles M. Cutler, hospital President, and to Mr. Thomas E. Shirley for his continued help over the past five-year period in many capacities.

Other reports were submitted by the School of Nursing and Nursing Services, the Executive Committee of the Medical Staff, the X-Ray, Anesthesia, and Pathology Departments, the Hospital Aid Association, the Investment Committee, and the Treasurer. In the latter report, Mr. Richard P. Chapman was able to announce a net increase in hospital income of $174,000 or 12.7 per cent over that of last year. The hospital was able to return unexpended funds to the Community Chests of Newton and Wellesley in an amount approximating $6,000. This return was in part due to the fact that the hospital was unable to hire all the personnel for which it had budget allocations.

New members of the Corporation elected at the meeting included Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., John B. Fox, Mark C. Wheeler, and Norman H. S. Vincent. The slate of officers of the Corporation for 1953 included: President, Charles M. Cutler; 1st Vice President, Donald P. Perry; 2nd Vice President, Marshall G. Bolster; Treasurer, Richard P. Chap-

Spotlight on Weeks

WEEKS' FOSTER CHILD Four years ago through a Foster Child Organization, Weeks Jr. High School adopted a Greek child Angeliki Hondronikola by name.

When Weeks first started to support her, Angeliki had been living in a cave in the side of a mountain. She ate hot food only three times a week as there was not enough fire wood each day. She was poverty stricken. At the present Angeliki lives in a house and attends a public school.

Her father was killed by the Nazis and in one of her many letters Angeliki shows her great happiness on receiving a pair of shoes by saying "Thank you immensely for everything you sent me dear parents. When I saw the lovely pair of shoes I thought that my own father had come back to life and sent them to me for winter to give me pleasure." All her letters are written in Greek and we receive the original letter with a translation. They all

man; Assistant Treasurer; Samuel C. Brown; Clerk, C. Raymond Cabot. Mr. John B. Fox has also been added to the Board of Governors.

In making his comparison between the attitudes of the average German and the average American towards the community and other social service agencies, Mr. Harry Carey based his observations on his experience during a recent trip to Germany, where he served as a State Department specialist for a four-month period. Available to Mr. Carey were confidential reports and documents, and contacts with many important leaders in Germany's community life. From this experience, Mr. Carey drew the conclusion that the differences between the two nations were largely ones of attitude and that these attitudes had their roots in different social patterns.

Fearful of the effects of too-extensive dependence on Government, Mr. Carey warned that this could be a real threat in the United States. He emphasized the fact that the United States and Germany are, and must remain, partners and that Germany can serve as a bulwark between the East and the West. Finding much of value in the present German picture, Mr. Carey feels that equality of opportunity, private initiative, freedom of thought in action, high standards of living, and the de-emphasis of professionalism are all elements Germany needs and which the United States might lose. Welcoming the student exchange program, Mr. Carey feels that these exchange students represent a real hope for the future in that they can return to Germany a true appreciation of those factors which make this country great. Finally, Mr. Carey concluded that we can keep democracy in this country, be good citizens, live satisfactory, useful and healthy lives without going in the direction of too much dependence on Government.

Many times we've seen these four good telephone habits save money, trouble, time and friends

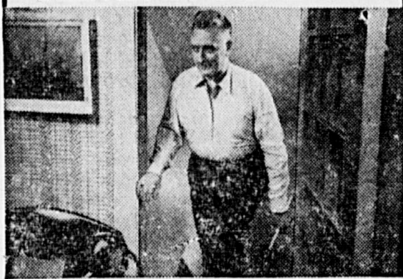

SPACING PARTY LINE CALLS

This one SAVED friends—Johnny spaced his party line calls, giving the neighbors a chance to call, too. Remember—courtesy pays on party lines.

GIVING FOLKS TIME TO ANSWER

This one SAVED trouble—Father's important message was received because he gave the party he called time to answer. Remember, 10 rings take only 60 seconds.

CALLING LONG DISTANCE BY NUMBER

This one SAVED time—Sally's long distance call went through twice as fast because she called by number. Remember—keep a list of the out-of-town numbers you frequently call.

CALLING LONG DISTANCE AFTER 6 P.M.

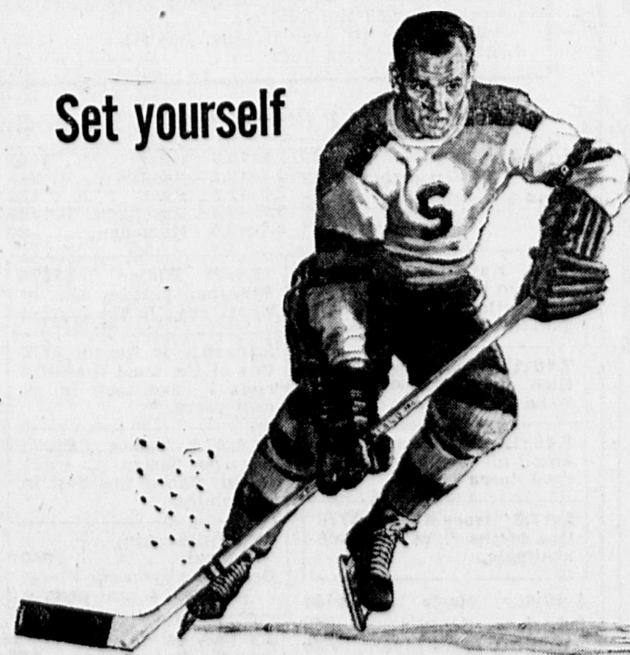

This one SAVED money—Mother telephoned long distance in the evening. Remember—rates are lower all day Sunday, too.

Remember these four good telephone habits. They help telephone people provide you with the very best service possible.

Tread Lightly—Proud Foot!

That's a mighty proud foot you see there. It's resting on the accelerator of a gorgeous 1953 Cadillac.

But we have a serious and timely warning for that proud and happy foot: Tread lightly!

Down under that accelerator is a dynamic 210-horsepower engine—coupled with the smoothest, quickest-acting Hydra-Matic Drive in history.

That great power was put there for the driver's safety—and to provide that smooth, effortless, steady ride which is the essence of luxurious motoring.

It was not put there to enable a Cadillac to dominate the highway—or to dash into the lead when the traffic light turns green—or to out-manuever the other cars on the road.

So don't ever exhaust that accelerator—unless you're in an emergency, and must do so for reasons of safety.

If other drivers covet the honors at the stop light—just let them go. They are first away by your courtesy —and that should be satisfaction enough for anybody.

Just be happy and satisfied with the great luxury this powerful engine brings you—the infinitely smooth performance... the quick "lift" that comes when you nudge the throttle... the great reserve for a burst ahead in case of necessity.

And be happy, as you can't help being, with the scores and scores of other wonderful things about this magnificent car—its easy, relaxing ride, for instance... its distinguished and inspiring beauty... its rich, luxurious interiors... its honored and respected name... and its truly amazing economy.

Yes—there is so much about a Cadillac to inspire and delight its owner that he doesn't need the additional thrill of unleashing its spectacular performance when it isn't necessary.

So that's why we're sure he'll "Tread lightly!" He isn't in competition with anyone.

Camp Fire Girls

January 28, was a day of surprises for the Kunka Group of the Camp Fire Girls from Newton Centre, Mass., when they visited the Museum of Science, Boston.

Before they knew what happened, they were making the acquaintance of Spooky, the Great Horned Owl. He flapped his silent wings for them and they saw his pupils expand and contract with the changing light. Brilliant tropical fish darted before them in a balanced aquarium, and they investigated the complicated engine of a real jet capable of driving an airplane over 600 miles an hour.

Exploring the many wonders of the Museum were: Dyanne Adams, Sonya Loeb, Helga Mueller, Barbara Blake, Sandra Smith, Marjorie Jacobs, Phyllis Auerback, and Isabel Smith. They were accompanied by Phoebe F. Loeb, Guardian.

FRED RICHMOND eagerly passes cake to buyer, Jana Sussman, at Dessert Sale, held Jan. 30 by the fourth class, Room 12 at Mason School, Newton Centre, under the direction of Miss Joan Ring, teacher.

Exemplary Dessert Sale Held By 4th Graders At Mason School, Jan. 30

The March of Dimes fund benefited from the Dessert Sale held Jan. 30 by the fourth grade of Mason School, Newton Centre, under the direction of Miss Joan Ring, teacher.

All the "goodies" were prepared by the children, who not only served as cooks, but, with the aid of their enterprising teacher, composed the advertising posters and learned about sales. A committee, composed of members of the class, distributed posters to other classrooms and shops in Newton Centre. Handbills were also distributed throughout the Centre.

When the Sale opened, the class members were astonished to find $14.00 in the "tilt," within 20 minutes. Two children were in charge of the cash register and "clerks" were in charge of the various cakes, cookies, candies and other miscellaneous "goodies." The children worked in 15 minute "shifts." Although the Sale was scheduled to end at 2 p. m., at 1 p. m., the class was completely sold out, with a total earning of $24.64.

The children had experienced a lesson in cooperation and unchild was an integral part of the project. The curriculum was selflessness by this Sale. Each brought into a living practical need: as an example, clean penmanship and correct language usage for posters and flyers, as well as skill in art and arithmetic.

Friendsgate Club Collects Clothes For Benefit of YMCA Bldg. in Japan

It's a long way from the Newton YMCA to Japan but there is a strong bond between the two according to Leonard D. Garfield, Men's Division and Membership Secretary for the local Y. Garfield, who is advisor to the Friendsgate Club, an organization for young adults conducted by the Newton YMCA, recently pointed out that the Club is collecting used clothing to be sent to Kyoto, Japan.

This international service project was undertaken by the Friendsgate Club following a visit here by the associate general secretary of the Kyoto YMCA last year. The purpose is two fold in that the clothes are sold at reasonable prices to Japanese caught in an inflation that makes our own seem unimportant, and the proceeds from these sales go to improving the Kyoto YMCA.

Kyoto is the historic first capital of Japan and Garfield says that he has heard American GIs describe it as the most beautiful city in Japan.

The Newton YMCA's Friendsgate Club came into being 3 years ago when a group of young adults met at the Y on Monday nights for informal dancing classes. Seeking to enlarge the scope of the Club the members decided to form a permanent organization under the sponsorship of the YMCA.

N. C. Banks And Artists Benefit From Exhibitions

The paintings exhibited at the Newton Centre banks during the last few months have proved beneficial both to the banks and to the artists themselves.

At the Newton-Waltham Trust Company in Newton Centre Square, Norman Burchell is showing portraits and landscapes in oil. Trained at the art Student's League in New York and at one of Boston's schools of practical arts, Mr. Burchell has chosen this field for his life work. In portrait and landscape, he has found a satisfying spare-time activity.

Katherine Wilkins is exhibiting water colors at the Savings Bank. Perhaps originality may be said to be the keynote of her freshly rendered papers, an example is the painting, "Boston Common Persian Version" which drew much attention in the recent Independent Show at the Museum of Fine Arts. Sketches made during her Mexican trip last fall also show this quality in marked degree.

Miss Wilkins gives much time to instructing a devoted group of admirers, both young and old. Her pictures may be seen through Feb. 23.

At the National Bank on Beacon St., Esther Connelly's paintings will be shown for the next two weeks. A gifted artist who has painted for years, Mrs. Connelly's interest has passed through many phases; a strong sense of design always dominates her work. Once arrangements of still life occupied her creative attention.

At the moment, she finds semi-abstracts most absorbing. Her "Dancing Figure" illustrates this well, the motion of the dancer's hand and feet suggested the surrounding pattern and keeps the whole in fluid motion. This exhibition will continue from Feb. 10-24.

Star Market Institutes Winter Vacations for Employees

The Star Market Company, operating large supermarkets in six suburban-Boston communities, announces the inauguration of an extra week's winter vacation, with pay, for all employees who have been with the Company for fifteen years or more. Since all Star employees receive, after one year's service, a two-weeks' paid summer vacation, the new winter vacation gives the fifteen-year employees three full weeks off, with pay, annually.

The Star Market believes it is the first major food organization in New England to grant the third week, midwinter vacation, with full pay, to men and women at every employment level.

Avery Lecture To Be Given Feb. 11

On Wednesday morning, February 11 at 10:30 o'clock at the Community Playhouse, Miss Eunice Avery will take her audience "Behind the Egyptian Headlines." Miss Avery has been giving a fascinating series of lectures this year.

The second half of the 1952-53 course of lectures on world affairs began two weeks ago when Miss Avery discussed the myriad of problems India is facing as she struggles to make political democracy take root in a nation still 83% illiterate and where communist influence in many forms actively tries to attract her millions.

Egypt with 6000 years of history behind it is undergoing rapid change. King Farouk has been forced into exile and a soldier is at the helm. How can we appraise the growing unrest in Africa and the possible influence Egypt may have upon it? Can Egypt make good her claim to all the waters of the mighty Nile? Will the coup in Egypt weaken or aid Middle East security? Will it endanger the access of European nations to the Suez Canal?

Miss Avery has visited Egypt four times. This past summer she went from the Blue Nile in Ethiopia and the White Nile in Uganda to their junction in Khartoum. She has studied Egypt from many angles, has seen the rural welfare program first hand, the work of the missions, and the sturdy resilience of a 6000 year old peasantry. There is much of interest in Egypt besides the romance of its recent king.

Miss Avery's lectures are open to the public with tickets available at the door. The series is sponsored by the Wellesley League of Women Voters as an educational service for Wellesley and the neighboring towns. Reservations for the luncheon which regularly follows each lecture may be made by telephoning Mrs. Donald J. Moore or Mrs. Clarence J. Hunter. Guests are always welcome!

Electric locomotives deriving their power from transmission lines may soon take the place of today's familiar diesel units because of their inherent over-all economy, some engineers predict. Inexpensive electric power combined with the latest developments in electric engines is expected to make railroad electrification attractive again, not only for dense traffic lines but for light traffic lines as well.

fairness to all have contributed mightily to the growth of the bank during these fifty years."

Mr. Richardson, who resides in Waban, and has been widely interested in local charitable and welfare movements, joined the Newton Centre Trust Co. as treasurer in 1903. At that time deposits approximated $550,000, but grew to some $1,250,000 during the next five years. In 1908 the institution consolidated with the Newton National Bank, and became known as the Newton Trust Co. Later in the same year it affiliated with the Newtonville Trust Co., with Mr. Richardson becoming treasurer of the latter organization. A consolidation took place in 1914, giving the Newton Trust Co. a strong position with four offices in Newton Centre, Newton, Newtonville and Auburndale, and combined deposits of about $3,300,000.

A further affiliation with the First National Bank, West Newton, followed in 1922, with additional offices being established in Newton Highlands and Waban. In 1949 affiliation with the Waltham National Bank was consummated, and the bank became known as the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Co. The Weston office was opened during the same year.

Mr. Richardson became president of the bank in 1948, and served in that office until February, 1951, when William M. Cahill was elected president and Mr. Richardson became chairman of the board, a position which he still holds.

The 50 years of Mr. Richardson's service and leadership have seen the bank grow from a single office, with a half million dollars in deposits, to its present outstanding position. It now serves Waltham, the Newtons, Weston, and adjacent communities through 14 offices, and has resources of over $60,000,000.

750 Requests For Tax Cuts Turned Down

Although 750 requests for abatements in 1952 real estate taxes have been denied, less than a dozen protests have been made to the Tax Appeals Board, Chairman John D. Wright of the Newton Board of Assessors reported Saturday.

The assessors received a total of 801 requests for tax abatements, Mr. Wright stated, but only 40 were approved. He attributed the record number of requests to the $7.20 increase in the tax rate and a 10 per cent increase in the assessments on older houses.

He reported that approximately 700 local veterans had applied for the $2000 real estate assessment abatement available through the General Laws. At the same time, Mr. Wright stated that two more 1952 motor vehicle excise tax commitments had been received by the city from State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long.

The two commitments for last year's tax included 2,800 individual assessments totaling $55,000. Commissioner Long's office reported that about 150 motor vehicle excise tax statements remain for Newton residents.

Payrolls Show A Significant Upward Trend

The number of production workers in Newton decreased slightly during December, but the total weekly payrolls showed a significant increase, according to the monthly report of the Department of Labor and Industries.

Sixteen manufacturing plants in Newton reported a total of 6708 production workers earned $391,652 during the week ending December 13. Wages, the summary showed, went up 4.6 per cent in the month, while the number of employees dropped one-tenth of one per cent.

For the state as a whole during the same period, the number of workers in production jobs went up four-tenths of one per cent, while the total weekly payroll rose 5.8 per cent.

Twenty-six of the 36 cities and towns throughout the state listed in the report had average weekly earnings in excess of $60, with Beverly the highest at $79.41. The weekly average in Newton was $58.39.

Seeks to Have Will Revoked

Two Newton brothers joined with a Lexington brother last week in an attempt to revoke the will of their cousin, a Somerville recluse who died in 1950 supposedly poverty-stricken, but actually with an $81,303 estate.

A petition to revoke the will was filed in Middlesex Probate Court by Franklin K. Haven of 58 Greylock road, Newtonville; Roger W. Haven of Oxford road, Newton Centre; and Gilman W. Haven of Lexington.

They identified themselves as being cousins of Alfred M. Cutler of 442 McGrath highway, Somerville, who died in August of 1950. Mr. Cutler's will left his estate to Albert L. Sullivan, custodian of public buildings in that city, because "Sullivan alone has exhibited concern for my comfort and welfare."

The three brothers claimed the Middlesex Probate Court decree allowing the will stated erroneously that the "heirs-in-law" had been notified. They declared that the heirs could have been found had a diligent search been conducted.

For 30 years prior to his death, Mr. Cutler's hobby had been genealogy, the petitioners said, and therefore the heirs could easily have been traced.

Mr. Cutler was a recluse who for 39 years lived in a junk-filled home and was thought by his neighbors to be impoverished. At the time of his death he had saved so many papers and advertisements that they were sold for junk for $175.

The brothers pointed out in their petition that a neighbor had provided Mr. Cutler with free meals and had given the recluse a constant supply of water, since Mr. Cutler had been shut off for non-payment of his water bill.

"News of the Day"

Last week many Day girls attended the modern dance demonstration which was presented by the apprentice and workshop dance groups from Newton High. Some of the dancers did practice and exercise drills; others had worked out interpretive numbers to songs and familiar advertisements. It was a very fine and interesting exhibition of the work done by these groups.

The basketball squads lost both games to Weeks Junior High when the teams met in the Day gymnasium on January 23. Weeks Varsity trounced Day 51-25 and then Junior Varsity won its game, 34-20.

Day's annual talent show was held on Friday, January 30 and over a dozen performers exhibited various skills and talents — much to the enjoyment of the entire student body and faculty. Marianne Keefe was the student chairman of the program which included piano solos, vocal numbers, an instrumental trio, recitations, accordion solo, tap number and a clever impersonation of Johnny Ray. The following students participated: Nancy Durham, Dorothy Civetti, Vincent Battista, Martin Rossman, Joan Spinner, Judy Nordstrom, Betsy Briggs, Bethel Bilezikian, Ken Zaloman, Lucas Taddeo, Nancy Foley, Joan Gallagher, Jane Dahl and Elaine Holmes. Following the student performers, came a special treat. Mr. Walter Nordstrom, parent of two Day students, presented his excellent balancing act.

Everyone was on the edge of his seat during Mr. Nordstrom's act as he, apparently without effort, balanced everything from a straw to a ladder on his chin. The entire assembly was quite a success and our congratulations go to all who participated.

January 27th was an exciting day for the girls who went to Weeks Junior High for the volleyball play day. The results of the game were: seventh grade, Room 29, won over Bigelow, lost to Weeks; eighth grade, Room 13, won over Bigelow, lost to Weeks; ninth grade, Room 21, won both games. Congratulations are in order for the ninth grade team's winning efforts. Before they went home the teams got together for refreshments. When the seventh, eighth and ninth grade scores were added, Day tied with Weeks for first place. Everyone agreed it was a perfect day and are all hoping that the basketball season will turn out as well.

Studebaker Styles Set New Concepts To American Scene

The showroom of Chandler of Newton, local Studebaker dealer, is being readied for the public showing of Studebaker's new 1953 models which F. O. Chandler, president, believes will excite the public as much as any new cars he has ever displayed.

"They're low! They hug the road! They have lines that bring new automobile styling concepts to the American scene!" says Mr. Chandler.

Studebaker has revealed no details to the public concerning its '53 offerings, but Mr. Chandler declares the new cars will be as dramatically different as were Studebaker's postwar cars for 1947.

"During its first century of building highway vehicles Studebaker has contributed many improvements toward better transportation," Mr. Chandler says. "The public has come to associate new ideas, new concepts, and constantly improved transportation with the world's oldest manufacturer of highway transportation. And I can assure you that these new cars will not only be the most beautiful cars Studebaker has ever offered but truly symbolic of the advanced engineering and design for which Studebaker has become so famous."

Your Income Taxes

by James R. Canavan, C.P.A.

This is the fourth in a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

What expenses are classified as "other deductions" on the Federal return?

A partial list of expenses which are classified as "other deductions" follows:

1. Contributions
2. Interest
3. Taxes
4. Medical Expenses
5. Casualty Losses
6. Miscellaneous Expenses

These expenses are shown on page 3 of your tax return.

What contributions may I deduct?

You may deduct the amount you contributed to most non-profit religious, charitable, educational, scientific, and literary organizations; to veterans' organizations; to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; to fraternal societies, orders or associations. If you contributed property rather than cash, you may deduct the fair value of the property. There is a limitation on your deduction, but the limitation rarely applies to the average taxpayer.

What interest may I deduct on my tax return?

You may deduct the interest paid on most loans if you are legally obligated to make the payment. This includes such items as the interest on a mortgage on your personal residence, interest on a personal loan, interest on an installment purchase of a car, a television set, etc.

What taxes may I deduct?

Generally speaking you may deduct all State and local taxes imposed upon and paid by you. You may not deduct Federal taxes or Massachusetts gift, inheritance, liquor, or tobacco taxes. Your State income tax, driver's license, motor vehicle registration fee, meal tax, State gasoline tax, poll tax, local real estate and personal property taxes are typical of the taxes which you may deduct.

What are medical expenses?

A medical expense is an amount paid for the diagnosis, cure, treatment, mitigation or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any bodily function or structure. It also includes premiums paid for accident or health insurance. Fees paid to physicians, surgeons, dentists, Christian Science practitioners, nurses (including nurses' board), chiropractors, osteopaths, the cost of artificial teeth, eyeglasses (including examination), drugs and medical supplies (including vitamins prescribed by a doctor), hearing aids, etc., are considered medical expenses.

My wife and I are under 65. May I deduct all of our medical expenses?

No. You may deduct only the excessive expenses paid for medical care for yourself, your wife, or a dependent which have not been compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

If your "adjusted gross income" for 1952 was $6,000 and your medical expenses were $750, you are entitled to a deduction of $450. You get no deduction for the first 5 per cent of your "adjusted gross income" which in this case is $300.

What are the maximum deductions for medical expenses?

The deduction for each exemption (excluding the additional exemptions for age and blindness) is limited to $1,250. On a separate return the maximum deduction may not exceed $2,500; on a joint return the maximum deduction may not exceed $5,000.

My wife is 65. May I deduct all of the medical expenses?

The 5 per cent limitation does not apply to you and your wife. This means that you may deduct, subject to the maximum deduction allowable, all of the medical expenses paid by you in 1952 for the care of yourself and your wife. If you paid medical expenses for a dependent, you may deduct only that part of these expenses which exceed 5 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Health for All

INFLUENZA

Influenza is a serious disease which often leaves its victims exposed to attack by pneumonia and other complications even if it does not cause death itself. The combination of influenza and pneumonia and other diseases is now blamed for many of the 20,000,000 deaths during the worldwide influenza epidemic of 1918.

Fortunately, modern medicine has since developed effective means of combatting pneumonia and some of the other complications. But no medicine is known which can cure influenza.

Influenza is an infectious disease, caused by a virus, which is spread from person to person, most commonly through coughing and sneezing. Influenza usually occurs in epidemic form. It attacks suddenly. Symptoms of influenza include fever, chills, sweats, headache, sore throat, runny nose, bronchitis, and aches and pains in the back and limbs. It often starts like a common cold, but is different in that chills accompany fever in influenza.

If you have a cold with a fever, call your doctor immediately.

Your doctor can do much to protect you against dangerous complications. Follow his instructions. Be sure to stay in bed until he says that all danger of pneumonia is past.

The fever usually lasts only two or three days, but the patient is often left as exhausted as if he had gone through a long illness. This is the dangerous period, the time to build up your health as surely and carefully as possible. Plenty of rest and sleep and nourishing food are essential.

There is a vaccine now available which gives limited protection against some forms of influenza. Strains of influenza virus, however, may vary from one epidemic to another, and, although the search continues there is no single vaccine capable of preventing all types.

The precautions that all of us can take are: first, keep in as good health as possible, and, during the usually short duration of an epidemic, stay out of crowds as much as possible, and away from people who don't cover their coughs and sneezes.

BACKYARD GARDENER

by Alfred W. Bolcourt

Even porch boxes are being modernized. Instead of several drainage holes in the bottom, it now has but one drainage hole in the side, one inch from the bottom. Why the change?

This new porch box keeps a reserve supply of water in the bottom and keeps the soil in the box not too moist, not to dry, but uniformly moist. In case you do not have a porch box, it is comparatively simple to construct one from scrap wood. The wood need not be cypress or cedar since this new box is lined with tar paper and painted with non-toxic asphalt-asbestos paint. Outside dimensions may vary, but a box might be 8 inches high, 8 inches wide, and 3 to 4 feet in length.

Reserve Water Supply
Bore 1/2 inch drainage hole one inch from the bottom in the center of one side. Cover the bottom of the box with coarse gravel up to the drainage hole. Then make a cylinder 7 inches long and about 1 inch in diameter by rolling a small piece of tar paper and fasten it with a piece of scotch tape. Set the cylinder up at one end of the box. This is the place where you add water to the reservoir. Now add 1/2 inch layer of sand on top of the gravel and finally add the soil.

You can use your modern porch box to start young plants early in the home. Later, this same box may be planted to geraniums, vinca, dusty miller, ageratum, or petunias. I made one of these boxes and it now sets in our bay window. In the past, my wife has objected, and rightfully, to the water seeping from flats or other containers onto the window sill. With this new porch box, by looking down the tar paper cylinder you can add just enough water without it overflowing through the drainage hole on the side.

If you want information for starting plants early, send for extension leaflets number 249, PLANT PROPAGATION, Mail- ing Room, University of Massachusetts, Amherst. This leaflet is free to all residents of Massachusetts.

Some gas ranges come equipped with a huge top burner. When the cover is down, it serves as an extra working surface; when it's up, the griddle plate can be used to make as many as 16 hamburgers and pancakes at one time. During the canning season, the burner will take a huge kettle which is also good for making soups and stews that require simmering to bring out the flavor.

Legion Formula For Peace and a Secure America

Early power girded by prayer is The American Legion's formula for peace and a secure America.

This was the statement made today by J. Herbert White, commander of the Department of Massachusetts, American Legion, as he called upon eligible veterans of World War I and World War II and of the Korean conflict to actively support this program.

"Every honorably discharged war veteran of this state can and should support this realistic program of the American Legion for world peace through American strength," Commander White declared. "By joining the American Legion and contributing his individual interests and energies, every ex-service man and woman of this Commonwealth can help to restore decency and law to this chaotic world."

Commander White pointed out that the American Legion recognized the futility of relying upon the United Nations as it is presently constituted, to be effective for world peace and to assure American security.

"Fundamental changes must be brought about before this international organization can become a compelling force for global law and order," he said. "Until such a time the American Legion is convinced that only American strength—not on paper but in being—can prevent the tragedy of World War III. To this end the American Legion urges the immediate build-up of American morale, economic and military strength within the limits of our economy to give fighting weight to our leadership of the free world toward a new era of enduring world peace."

J. Rose and Co., Brooklyn, manufacturer of Royal Rose gas ranges, reportedly will cover the Greater New York territory on a direct factory basis, the sales organization having been augmented.

Hungry minds must be fed, too. Ten dollars will send a book package overseas. Inquire at CARE, 175 Tremont st., Boston.

United Veterans Organizations Acts to Have Honor Roll Fixed

After it was pointed out that some of the names on Newton's honor roll of World War II servicemen are falling out of place, the United Veterans Organizations of Newton voted last week to take steps to have the listing repaired in time for Memorial Day.

At the annual meeting of the UVON, the delegates from the various veterans groups elected Chairman William J. Maloney to contact Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood about repairing the honor roll.

They decided that temporary cardboard waterproof nameplates should be provided until further action is taken to erect a more permanent memorial. The appointment by Mayor Lockwood of Mr. Maloney as supervisor of the 1953 Memorial Day parade and exercises was announced. He has held that post for the past three years.

Mr. Maloney revealed that he would call a meeting the first week in March for the commanders of the different veteran groups to start plans for Memorial Day. He hopes to have Gov. Christian A. Herter as principal speaker at Memorial Day Sunday exercises in the War Memorial Building.

Chairman Maloney announced the next sendoff for 23 Newton Selective Service inductees will be February 11. Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, will represent the clergy.

The delegates elected Mr. Maloney to serve as chairman of the UVON for the fourth consecutive year. Elected to serve with Mr. Maloney were Francis B. Foley, commander of Sgt. Eugene J. Daley Post, VFW, as vice-chairman; Harry J. Kane, commander of Thomas Burnett Camp, USWV, as secretary; Ralph McDocks, past commander of Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter, DAV, treasurer, and William E. Halliday Jr., past commander of Newton Post, American Legion, judge advocate. Chairman Maloney appointed James D. Coletti, past commander of Newton Post, Italian-American War Veterans, as historian.

Receives Sportsmanship Award For Team Play in Two Sports

Jimmy Wiper, goal tender on Newton High School's hockey team and a center in football, was one of four outstanding athletes in this area who received sportsmanship awards last week at a banquet in Howard Johnson's on the Waltham-Watertown line.

Head Football Coach Warren Huston cited Jimmy for his sportsmanship in twice making difficult changes in positions played during the current school season. In football, under Mr. Huston, Jimmy switched from quarterback to center after several games, while he switched from defenseman to goalie in the middle of the hockey season under Coach Jack Hall.

"It's always a great thrill to carry the football or rush down the ice with the puck," Mr. Huston pointed out, but Jimmy made the change without complaint to help strengthen the team.

The Newton High youth was presented a 21-jewel Waltham wrist watch for his sportsmanship by Judge Frederic A. Crafts, himself a prominent athlete both in high school and in George Washington University. Judge

Crafts also awarded watches to students outstanding in sportsmanship at Brandeis University, Watertown High and Waltham High.

The banquet was initiated by the Moye Chevrolet Company of High. Newton, which donated the watches. The firm, represented at the event by John Hepperle, general manager, was the sponsor of local football games the past season over WCRB.

Attending the program were the four award winners, three of their fathers, coaches from each of the schools, officials and staff members of WCRB, the headmaster of Waltham High and the principal of Watertown High School.

Mr. Hepperle said that "While a boy may not have the natural ability to be an outstanding performer on the gridiron, he can have the sportsmanship and team spirit to be an inspiration to his team mates. This type of boy also deserves some kind of recognition," he added.

"For this reason," Mr. Hepperle stated, "the Moye Chevrolet Company was glad to present the Outstanding Sportsmanship Award to the local player who best exemplified the true spirit of sportsmanship."

Other football players who were presented with similar 21-jewel Waltham Watches were Donald Soffer of Brandeis University, Thomas Collins of Waltham High School, and Manuel Gaipo of Watertown High School.

Accuse Boy, 13, With Grabbing Girl's Handbag

Arrested after following a young woman to her home, a 13-year-old Newton Centre boy admitted Sunday night to grabbing a handbag from a telephone operator last month, according to Newton police.

The boy was arrested at 10:45 p.m. Sunday by Patrolman James F. Lyons after he had been told that the youth had followed the woman home.

Questioned at length by Sgt. John J. Regan and Inspectors Charles W. Lynch and John B. Shorton, the boy reportedly admitted snatching a purse on January 19.

The boy is scheduled to appear in Juvenile Court on Friday, February 13.

Temple Reyim To Honor Its Brotherhood

Temple Reyim of West Newton will honor its Temple Brotherhood, which has grown to an active arm of the Temple with more than 100 members in only a few months, at its regular Friday evening service at 8:15.

Rabbi Harold D. Kastle's sermon will be titled "The Role of the Layman in Jewish Life." Lewis Alfred, assistant chaplain of the Brotherhood, will give the opening prayer and sing the Kiddush. Cantor Samuel Hurwitz will chant the service, assisted by the Temple Choral Group.

At the Oneg Shabbat following the service, refreshments will be served by members of the Brotherhood. Following this a symposium will be held on the subject, "The Significance of the Brotherhood to the Temple." The participants will be Irving Wexler, vice-president of the Brotherhood, who will act as chairman; Samuel Barres and Herbert Teitelman, members of the Board of Directors; and Michael Needle.

At services Saturday morning at 9:45, the Bar Mitzvah of Michael Teitelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Teitelman, will take place.

Local Adlai Group Violated Election Laws, Says Cronin

Newton's committee boosting Adlai Stevenson for president one of 89 political committees whose names were listed as not conforming with the "corrupt practices" laws last week by Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin. Mr. Cronin's office stated Friday that the Newton group had not complied with the state law which requires all candidates and political committees supporting candidates to file financial statements within a specified time after the election.

Heads Study Group For Student Gov't.

William Kelly of 38 Elderidge road, Newton, has been named chairman of the "two-level" student-faculty committee of Boston University's student government board, the Student Faculty Assembly.

His committee is studying plans for a graduate level student government body. Mr. Kelly, a student at the school of theology, is also a member of the agenda committee of the Assembly.

Plays in Recital At Conservatory

Alice Lillegard of 233 Bellevue street, Newton, a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, performed several piano selections in a student recital in the Conservatory's Recital Hall Tuesday afternoon. She played Brahms' Intermezzo, op. 118, no. 4; Romance, op. 118, no. 5; and Intermezzo, op. 118, no. 6.

Distrophy Group Lauds Fire Dept.

The Muscular Distrophy Associations of America have acknowledged "with thanks and appreciation" the donations made to the fund by members of the Newton Fire Department. Chief John E. Corcoran reported last week that a total of $128.30 was received in canisters distributed by Fire Department personnel. He said the Association also commended the men for their genuine interest and cooperation.

Liquor Permit To Drug Store Over Protests

An all-liquor package drug store license was granted to a Newton Highlands drug store last week by the Newton Licensing Board, over the protests of the Newton Package Store Dealers Association.

The board awarded the license to Charles Rudnick, doing business as the Four Corners Drug Company at 901 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, during a 4½-hour session in which three transfers of liquor licenses were approved and a request for an all-liquor license for a Chinese restaurant was turned down.

The board was urged to deny the license for the drug store in a letter written by J. Seymour McLean, president of the Package Store Dealers Association. Mr. McLean pointed out that the board recently had refused applications for package store licenses in the same area.

Rev. Willard C. Arnold, pastor of the Newton Centre Methodist Church, objected to the application for a liquor license filed by William Wong of West Roxbury.

Appoint Waban Man Chairman Of Mental Health Fund Drive

A Waban man today (Thursday) accepted the general chairmanship of a state campaign for funds to promote mental health and fight mental illness under the supervision of the National Association for Mental Health.

Before being appointed to this post, Charles E. Kurtzman of 5 Byfield road, Waban, has served with many charitable and humane organizations. He has served with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Archbishop Cushing's Charity Fund, National Conference of Christians and Jews, motion picture industry charities, and promotion of war and savings bond sales.

Until approached by campaign officials, he did not realize the extent of mental illness, Mr. Kurtzman stated.

"It was news to me," he said "that one in every 16 people suffers from mental illness and other personality disturbances, that patients in mental hospitals make up almost half of all the patients in all the hospitals in the United States, and that one out of 12 children born each year will sometime during his life suffer a mental illness severe enough to require hospitalization."

"These facts alone were enough to convince me that no effort should be spared in the vitally important work toward improvement of conditions," Mr. Kurtzman declared. "Of particular importance is the furthering of plans ready to be launched by psychiatrists and other mental health authorities for preventative work in classrooms among emotionally disturbed children—a plan in abeyance only because of lack of sufficient funds."

"I am certain," he added "that once the people of Massachusetts become aware of the problem's extent they will come forward generously with the means to make up the lack."

As head of Loew's Northeast Division of Theaters, supervising operations in coastal New England, upstate New York and Canada, he has a wide acquaintance among leaders in every section of the Commonwealth, and promises to put virtually all of them to work in the campaign whose object is continued and expanded effort toward solution of the Nation's No. 1 health problem.

"Institute on Judaism" to Be Held Today

An "Institute on Judaism" for the clergy will take place at Temple Shalom of Newton, 175 Temple street, West Newton, today (Thursday). Fifty clergymen of various faiths and denominations will meet to hear two lectures by Professor Jacob R. Marcus of Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The theme of the Institute will be "The Jew In American History" in anticipation of the Tercentennial in 1954 of the coming of the first Jewish pioneers to America.

Dr. Marcus is the Director of the American Jewish Archives and the author of numerous volumes concerning American Jewry. His latest work is "Early American Jewry," an informal study of the life and background of the Jews in the Colonial and Early American period.

At a luncheon meeting which will also take place on the same day, The Newton Ministerial Association, as the guests of Rabbi Irving A. Mandel of Temple Shalom of Newton, will hold an unusual symposium on the theme: "How Do Changing Population Trends Affect Your Church?"

Participants are: The Rev. Russell Boynton—Moderator; Melvin Morse, Mass. State Planning Board; Raymond Atwood, Real Estate.

Large Group of Workers Now Canvassing City in Heart Drive

Thomas V. Cleveland, Chairman of the 1953 Heart Fund Drive, reports that a large group of workers are now carrying the Heart Fund Drive message to the citizens of Newton, and hopes the response will be generous.

Diseases of the heart are responsible for more deaths than all other diseases. Research must be increased to assist in its cure. $250,000 is the aim of the 1953 Heart Drive for Greater Boston and it is believed that Newton will, as always, do its share.

Checks should be made payable to "Heart Fund" and mailed to William J. Payne, Treasurer, Newton National Bank, Newton 58. The following are conducting the drive in Newton: Harold A. Wooster, Newton Public Library; Publicity: William J. Payne, Newton National Bank; treasurer: B. Garfield Rae, Jr., Industries; Charles S. Trefrey, Jr., Distribution of Plastic Hearts in business establishments.

The workers are as follows: Newton Chairman: Mrs. Allen P. Joslin. Workers: Mrs. George White, Mrs. Edward Sawyer, Mrs. —HEART—

Leaders Ask Group Be Formed To Prevent Repetition of Act

Mayor Says "No Need for One" and "Anything Further Would Magnify It"

Despite pleas made at a special meeting of indignant religious, civic and educational leaders, Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood Monday night turned down a request that he appoint a committee to work toward preventing a repetition of the brutal beating of a 14-year-old Jewish boy Saturday night.

The meeting, which was attended by clergymen of all faiths as well as prominent local citizens, agreed that the attack was motivated by anti-Semitism. The group's statement urged that "all moral forces in the community be brought together" to assure "appropriate corrective action."

But Mayor Lockwood, who said he was not invited to the meeting, stated flatly that no committee was needed. "This situation has gone about far enough," the mayor said. "To do anything further would only be to magnify it."

"As far as the request for a citizens' committee is concerned, the city of Newton does not need one," Mayor Lockwood repeated his earlier statement that the unprovoked assault by five boys armed with heavy-buckled Army belts and two knives was only "an unfortunate incident."

Five teen-age boys, four of them 16, and the other 15, faced 27 complaints in Newton District Court Monday morning charged with the near-fatal beating of 14-year-old Stephen Berger of 29 Mayflower road, Chestnut Hill, on Saturday night.

Stephen was taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital after four Harvard students rescued him from his attackers. He was found to be suffering from a skull fracture, numerous cuts and bruises and eye injuries.

All the defendants, who said they wanted "to make whoopee," were also arraigned in the beating of two other youths leaving a dance at Temple Emanuel on Ward street, Newton Centre.

They were charged with four counts each of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon and one count of disturbing the peace. Two were also charged with possession of illegal weapons—long-bladed switchknives.

The cases of four of the boys were continued by Judge Donald E. Mayberry until February 27 and the other until tomorrow (Friday). However, the fifth boy's case will probably ultimately be considered with the others.

After Monday night's meeting, the following statement was issued:

"It was the unanimous conviction of those present that deep concern be expressed that this deplorable incident should have occurred in our community. The group appreciates the prompt and vigorous action of the police in apprehending the alleged perpetrator of this attack."

"It was urged that all the moral forces in the community be brought together to assure

Organize to Render Volunteer Service

A group of interested Newton citizens met Monday evening, at the invitation of the Board of Trustees of the Jackson Homestead, and formed an organization to render volunteer service to Newton's unique community museum and to raise funds for equipment and programs.

The Director of the Homestead, Mrs. Madeleine A. Arnold, reviewed the progress made at the Homestead since the house was presented to the City in 1950. She described the setting up of a period parlor, bedroom and kitchen, and also the exhibit room which houses monthly changing displays assembled by the Women's Clubs of Newton. She expressed the hope that eventually the Homestead will possess its own set of diagrams based on historical events in the early days of the various villages of the City.

It was further pointed out that in the laundry are featured the family well and the interesting two-thickness outside door. In this room is to be constructed a relief map of the City, with changing exhibits around the walls. In the basement are kept the loan collections which are available to all city groups and are in steady demand by the schools. To be seen here also is the old well where escaping slaves hid in times of special danger.

Historical research and the assembling of facts about the Newton of today is going on all the time, and many individuals are being helped with reference material. Groups of children and adults go to the Homestead for guided tours and various civic

Newton Players' to Present "June Eyre" Feb. 19, 20 and 21

The Newton Players' second production of the year will be Marjorie Carleton's version of the old favorite "June Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte on February 19, 20 and 21 at the new Peirce School in West Newton. Robert Warfield, director of the Gershwin Theatre at Boston University asserts that Mrs. Carleton's script is one of the finest from which he has worked. He should know, for he will be long remembered for his splendid production of "June Eyre" at the Brattle Theatre in Cambridge several years ago.

Members of the cast who are giving their time and talent have had professional experience. Among them are Russell B. Curran, director, Mrs. Louvain Simons, who will play the title role, John Peters, Jr. who enacts the role of "Rochester," Mrs. John C. Young (Anne Theodorovich) and Mrs. Wayne Tate, who have played several seasons of summer stock, Mrs. Marion W. Davis, well known reader and teacher, Miss Elsa Badger and Mr. Earle Joseph Carleton, Jr., and 1st class seaman Robert L. Horstman complete the cast.

Another member of the Newton Players who is lending her talents is Margot Cabanne, the well known decorator from Mayflower Wayside Furniture Co. in West Newton. She has exhibited in the Fountainbleau School of Art in Paris where she studied. Although she has made a name for herself in Modern and Period interiors, she is particularly interested in the early Victorian, which is the setting for "June Eyre." While she was working with her aunt, Miss Sparks, a popular Park Avenue decorator, Margot Cabanne won a nation wide contest for a movie setting at a Decorator's Club Exhibition in New York.

The Production Staff for "June Eyre" is headed by Mrs. Robert Walsh. Assisting her are Miss Catherine E. Chipman, Mr. Charles E. Chase, Mr. Stephen Arnold, Mrs. S. L. Sholley, Mrs. Lillian Winpenny, Miss Katherine Wilkins, Miss Edith May, Mrs. J. Arthur Colburn, Mr. Wesley Dines, Mr. W. Hunter Perry, Jr., Mrs. H. Thaxter Spencer, Mr. Edwin D. Smith, Mr. William B. Marshall.

The sets for the play have been designed and executed by the Newton Players' Dramatic Workshop under the leadership of Mr. W. Hunter Perry, Jr. Those who have been wielding the hammer and brush include Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Booz, Mr. Leonard H. Abbot, and Mr. Edwin D. Smith.

The costumes will be furnished by Mrs. Harold Bowditch.

Says Chicken Pox Increase Will Continue

An "extra heavy load" of chicken pox cases from now through April was predicted last week by Dr. Ernest R. Morris, director of Public Health, on the basis of a sharp increase in the number of cases last month over January of 1952.

There were 260 cases of the disease in Newton during January, Dr. Morris reported in his monthly summary of communicable diseases. This represents an increase of almost 700 percent over January of 1952. Sixteen cases were noted the first three days of February.

The totals of all other communicable diseases were well below the 1952 figures for January, Dr. Morris pointed out. No cases of measles were reported during last month, while in 1952—an epidemic year—there were 245 cases.

A comparison of communicable diseases reported during the two January's follows:

	1953	1952
German Measles	2	4
Mumps	8	32
Scarlet Fever	2	11
Whooping Cough	2	14

NEW HOME of Seeley Brothers Company located at 763 Washington street, Newtonville. (Photo by Wilk)

Founded in 1904; Seeley Bros. Still Managed by Same Family

For the third time since its founding in 1904, Seeley Brothers Company of Newtonville is changing its location, but the firm which has been managed by three generations of the same family will still be located within one block of their first store.

Seeley Brothers, one of Newton's oldest upholstery firms, is now at 763 Washington street, next door to their former store at 757 Washington street. The new location, according to George E. Seeley, youngest of the Seeley brothers, will be more convenient for customers since the store is directly on the street and has a large display window.

Before, the building of the upholstery and used furniture company was set back from Washington street in a building occupied for 24 years. Previous to that, from 1904 to 1929, Seeley Brothers was at 803 Washington street, in the center of the business block between Walnut street and Central avenue.

The founder of the company in 1904 was William H. Seeley, who later was joined by James A. Seeley. A third brother, Silas, also joined the firm. The business has continued to be run throughout almost half a century by the same family, although the original brothers are now in retirement.

The company has seen many changes, according to George E. Seeley, over the past 49 years. At one time Seeley Brothers was one of the largest awning companies in Newton. During another period, the firm did much carpet laying and once had a large business in crating furniture for moving. But these branches of the business were all incidental to their main line of upholstery.

"High quality upholstery is a tradition with us," said Mr. Seeley, "and it will continue as long as Seeley Brothers is run by the present management."

"We plan to promote our used furniture and antiques department, featuring better-grade pieces obtained from houses of Newton residents," he explained. The company is going to feature practical furniture.

The new site of Seeley Brothers is on the lower floor of a two-story brick building with an entrance directly on the street. Their section of the building formerly was occupied by the Newtonville Outfit.

Producers Will Raise Fewer Turkeys in '53

Farmers are going to cut down the size of the turkey crop they raise this year. They're going to raise only 54 million birds compared to the 59 million in the record crop of 1952.

Reasons are the record large storage supplies of turkey left from the 1952 crop; turkey growers have gotten less for the turkeys than they did a year ago and they've had to pay more for feed.

Whatever your ability, dependable persons like you are needed for volunteer duty. If you want to help, the Red Feather Volunteer Service Bureau is looking for you. Call Richmond 2-2000.

Dr. Hamilton at Hospital Meeting in Chicago

Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, attended a meeting of a joint group of hospital and medical people this week in Chicago. The purpose of the meeting, held at the Palmer House, Tuesday, was to allocate interns to those hospitals in the country which have medical house officers as part of their regular staff. Representatives of the American Association of Medical Colleges, of the American Medical Association and of the American Hospital Association were present. Dr. Hamilton was one of the two envoys of the latter group.

Each year, prior to his graduation from medical school, the medical student who wishes to embark on his year of intern's training rates the hospital of his choice, one, two and three. The hospitals which have vacancies on their house officer staffs also rate the available interns in their own order of preference. The purpose of the Chicago meeting is to reconcile the two listings of choice and to make an equitable apportionment among hospitals.

of the available medical school graduates. This system does away with many of the inequities of the former haphazard method of each hospital being in the position of competing for the top medical students. Certain hospitals, under the former system, because of their location or because of the reputation of their staff would always attract a disproportionately large number of applicants. Other hospitals would find themselves hard pressed to meet their needs. The present system does away with these inequities and produces a fair opportunity for the proper distribution of graduate medical talent.

Who is considered a dependent?
A dependent is a closely related person whose gross income for 1952 was less than $600, who received more than one-half of his support from you, and who did not file a joint return with his wife. The dependent must be a resident of the United States, Canada, or Mexico and must be more closely related to you (or your wife, if a joint return is filed) than a cousin.

When is my marital status determined?
Your marital status is determined as of the last day of the taxable year. This means that if you were married on or before December 31, 1952, you may file a joint return with your wife. If you were divorced on or before December 31, 1952, you are considered a single individual for tax purposes and, therefore, you may not file a joint return with your former wife.

Who is considered a head of a household?
A head of a household is an unmarried taxpayer who contributes over half of the cost of maintaining a home in which any of the following relatives live:
1. An unmarried child, grandchild, or stepchild, even though the child has income of $600 or more.
2. Any other relative who is a dependent.

What is the tax advantage to being classified as a head of a household?
The tax liability of a head of a household is computed by using rates which are lower than those used for other unmarried taxpayers. This change in the law will help many taxpayers.

My son was born during 1952. Do I get the full $600 exemption for him?
Yes. You do not prorate the $600 exemption for birth or death. This means that you would be entitled to the $600 exemption for a child who lived for a few seconds after birth. You get no exemption for a stillborn child.

What is a joint return?
A joint return is a return which includes the income, deductions, and exemptions of both husband and wife. It is usually to your advantage to file a joint return because of the income-splitting provisions of the tax law.

Which return should I use?
You may use Form 1040A, Form 1040 (short-form) or Form 1040 (long-form).

Form 1040A, the wage earner's return, may be used if you are not the head of a household and your gross income is less than $5,000 and is received from wages, interest, or dividends. The interest or dividends cannot exceed $100. If you use Form 1040A the Director of Internal Revenue computes your tax, refunding an overpayment or assessing you for an underpayment. The Director uses the tax table on page 4 of Form 1040, which allows you approximately 10% of your gross income for other expenses (contributions, excessive medical expenses, etc.).

You should use Form 1040 (short-form) if your "adjusted gross income" is less than $5,000 and your other expenses are less than 10% of your "adjusted gross income". Your tax liability is shown on page 4 of the tax return.

You should use Form 1040 (long-form) if your "adjusted gross income" is less than $5,000 and your other expenses are more than 10% of your "adjusted gross income" or if your "adjusted gross income" is $5,000 or more. If you use Form 1040 (long-form) you must compute your tax on page 3 of the return.

When is my Federal return due?
Your Federal tax return must be filed by March 15, 1953.

The growing impact of taxes on American business, says Tax Foundation, is indicated by the fact that since 1950 business profits that seem to be going up actually have been going down after taxes.—New Haven (Conn.) Register.

Dr. Isidor S. Meyer To Speak at Temple Emanuel

In honor of the American Jewish Historical Society which will hold its annual meeting in Boston February 14 and 15, Dr. Isidor S. Meyer, Librarian and Editor of the Society, will be the speaker at Temple Emanuel of Newton's late Sabbath Eve Service February 13. The Service will be at 8:15 p.m.

Honoring the American Jewish Historical Society which is playing so important a role in acquainting the public with the Jewish contributions to the development of America, and the role played by Jews in the founding of our Republic, Temple Emanuel has invited Dr. Meyer, noted authority on American Jewish history and Editor of the Society's "Publications," to speak on "Patriots and Principles."

Dr. Meyer is a graduate of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and has done graduate work at Columbia and the Hebrew Universities as well as at the University of Berlin.

Dr. Albert I. Gordon will conduct the Service and introduce the guest speaker. Cantor Gabriel Hochberg and the Temple Choir will chant the Service. An Oneg Shabbat will take place in the Vestry at the conclusion of the Service.

that appropriate corrective action be provided with respect to the boys charged with this attack in order to prevent a repetition.

"It is imperative that the city government marshal all forces at its command within the community and, accordingly, the group recommends the appointment by the Mayor of a citizens' committee to be concerned with improving human relations in the city and assuring peace and security of Newton residents."

A second meeting on the problem has been scheduled for next Thursday, and a large number of community leaders are expected to be present. Monday's meeting was called by Rabbi Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel and Prof. Prentiss Pemberton of Andover-Newton Theological School.

According to police accounts of the Saturday night incident, the five boys had been holding a party at one of their homes, several blocks from the Temple. The parents of one of the youths were in Florida, and the boys had the house to themselves.

The boys told police they were drinking beer when they decided to go looking for excitement. Approaching the Temple, they came across Arthur Hurvitz, 13, of 40 Acacia avenue and Benjamin Labb, 12, of 104 Manet road, both Newton Centre, who also were leaving the dance.

Then they met Berger about 150 yards down Ward street from the Temple. When he answered "Yes" to "Are you a Jew?" the boys started hitting him with their fists and knocked him to the ground. They also struck him with Army belts which had the buckles honed to razor sharpness.

Four Harvard students, who were attending a party at a nearby home, heard the screams of the Berger boy and ran out to assist him. Theodore Benson, Jr., of 256 Ward Street, Newton Centre, who was host at the party, gave first aid to Berger while awaiting the police ambulance.

The five were rounded up a few minutes later in the immediate neighborhood by Newton police in cruising cars. Police said they were carrying two switchknives and a pair of sharp-buckled belts along with several empty beer bottles.

Among those attending Monday's meeting were Rev. Russell H. Bishop, First Baptist Church; Rev. George F. Sullivan and Rev. T. C. McClory, both of the Sacred Heart Church; Haskell C. Freedman, member of the Newton School Committee; Harold B. Gores, Supt. of Newton Schools; Robert E. Segal of the Jewish Community Council, Boston; Joseph G. Dietz, chairman of the board of Temple Emanuel; Lloyd B. Oppenheim, director of the Temple youth council; Robert H. Mitchell, director of guidance at Newton High School; Clarence O. Berger, uncle of the beaten boy and a Brandeis University official; Martin Goldstein, a Temple official; Sol Rotenberg, president of the New England Region United Synagogue; Joseph Greenbaum of the Temple; Rabbi Harold Kastle of Temple Revim; Rabbi Irving Mandel of Temple Shalom; Sol Kolack, of the Anti-Defamation League; Dr. Edward Landy, a psychologist with the Newton schools; and Leigh Nisbet of the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts.

It is a long established fact that a tax imposed and collected by a unit of government that is close to the eye of the taxpayer comes under a scrutiny that guards and controls, at least to some extent not possible when the tax comes from Washington and goes to Washington—New Haven (Conn.) Register.

Clergymen Presented Gifts at Dinner Held in Their Honor

Clergymen who assisted in the 1952 send-offs of Newton Selective Service inductees were honored at a Testimonial Dinner sponsored by the United Veterans' Organizations last Tuesday evening at the Hammondswood Restaurant in Chestnut Hill. Close to 125 persons attended the dinner which also honored two Newton City Department heads.

Commissioner Harold F. Young of the Street Dept. and Commissioner Mark Croker of the Water Dept.

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, principal speaker, expressed the city's appreciation for the work being done by the Clergy at these send-offs. At the same time Chairman William J. Maloney of the UVON expressed to the Department heads his appreciation for their co-operation with the Veterans Services Dept. and with the UVON in supplying personnel for Newton veterans' burials.

Maloney also announced that these send-offs are being attended by representatives of all the Newton Veterans Organizations and that he is being assisted in the supervision of these ceremonies by Elmer H. King of the Spanish War Veterans' Post and Charles Duke of Newton Post No. 48 A.L.

William E. Halliday Jr., PC of Newton Post AL acted as master of ceremonies and other speakers were Dr. Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel, Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill of St. John's Episcopal Church and Edmund T. Dungan, Commissioner of Veteran Services.

Each Clergyman was presented a gift from the City of Newton and the UVON presented gifts to the two Commissioners.

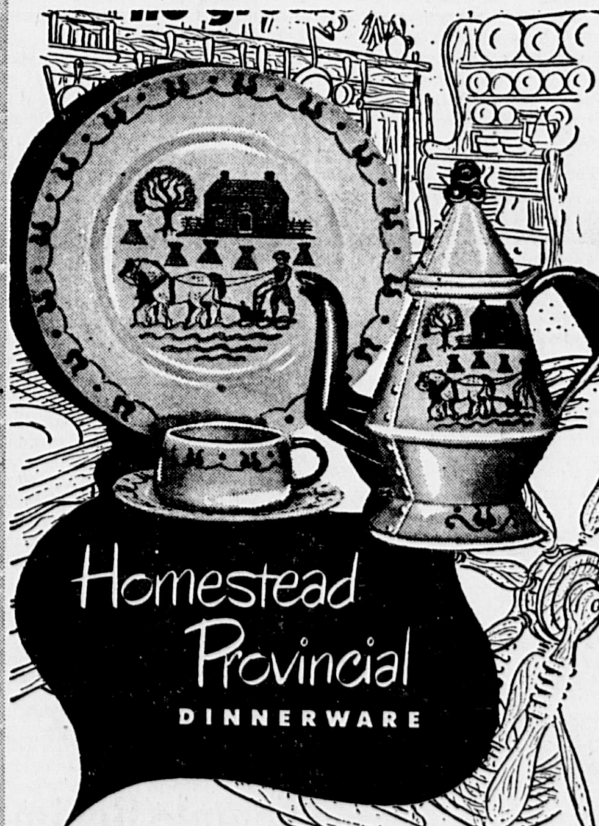

Clergymen honored at the Testimonial were:—Dr. Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel; Rev. John A. Saunders of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton; Rev. Francis F. Crisci, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Newton Upper Falls; Rev. Robert W. Woodroffe, Jr. rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Newton; Rev. Edward J. Tangney of Our Lady's Church, Newton; Rabbi Harold D. Kastle of Temple Reyim, West Newton; Rev. Douglas B. MacCorkle, of Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton; Rev. John J. Mulcahy of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes, Church, Newton Upper Falls; and Rev. Sydney Adams of Centenary Methodist Church, Auburndale.

The United States in 1952 was the largest importer and user of platinum and palladium. The volume of sales of these metals to the U. S. consuming industries, principally the electrical and chemical fields, was at a rate comparable to that of 1951.

Firm Stand Needed

The brutal attack Saturday night on a defenseless 14-year-old Jewish boy in Newton Centre by a gang of ruthless teen-agers
has brought to public attention a problem which previously was thought missing from the Newton scene.

After all the apologies have been offered for the quintet's behavior, it still boils down to a case of blatant anti-Semitism.

Such a senseless beating of a boy—merely because he admitted to being Jewish—must never happen again. Such an incident happening anywhere in our democratic country is shocking; that it happened in the community which proudly bears the name of "The Garden City" is unpardonable.

By this action, Newton has received a "black eye" as a decent community in which to live. Our city long has cherished its reputation for integrity and fair-mindedness,
but all this may be wiped out by one savage attack by five boys seeking to make "whoopie."

There seems little doubt, that Stephen Berger lies in the hospital today because he admitted his religion. When the five boys, armed with knives and sharp-buckled Army belts, asked him "Are you a Jew?"—it would have been easy for Stephen to answer "No." Whatever credit may arise from this incident goes solely to Stephen who, in the face of a certain beating, declared his faith.

Claims were made when the beating first became known that no anti-Semitism was involved, that the attack merely was an isolated incident by a group of thrill-hungry boys. The facts proved otherwise.

By no means do we encourage ruining the futures of 15 and 16 year old youngsters before their lives have even begun, but positive steps must be taken to insure that this will never happen again within our supposedly intelligent and tolerant community.

It cannot be denied that prejudices against racial and color groups exist both in practice and in thinking. To stamp these prejudices from minds takes a long time, and a single incident like this beating cannot help but delay the process.

The answer to combating prejudice—
whether it be against Jew, Protestant, Catholic, white, dark or any shade between—lies in making known the truth. There is no logical foundation for prejudice against any group; prejudice thrives on lies, ignorance
and superstition.

Of course, education is a long-term solution to the problem of prejudice. Its effect takes time, not measured in days alone but in months and years.

What is needed now is positive action to prevent another tragic incident. It is unfortunate to the city that any mother living here should have to think twice this coming weekend before letting her boy leave
the house.

The situation will not be met by declaring that direct action "would only magnify"
the seriousness of the problem. We applaud Mayor Lockwood who saw his way clear to reverse his stand of Monday night and now has agreed to appoint a committee to examine the situation.

We are not crying for the scalps of these five boys, who are each as unfortunate in their own way as Stephen Berger is, lying in his hospital bed.

Common decency demands that a firm
stand be taken, for no amount of excuses
will lessen the seriousness of the prejudice situation. The reputation of Newton is at stake, and we shall be judged by how we meet this problem.

Sacramento police who questioned Don-Garrett for refusing to pay for a drink he had ordered in a tavern, discovered $2500
in his pocket, listened with wonderment to Garrett's explanation: "I am not in the habit of spending much money on myself."

Mayor Fred Hervey of El Paso is pondering a letter from a London, England, divorcee who wrote him that in order to get into the U.S. she was offering her services as a
"nanny, cook, housekeeper, farm manager, secretary or general factotum" and would even accept a husband "as a last resort."

CURRENT COMMENT

Question Travel Allowance for Sojourners . . .

Why a legislator who lives within a 15-cent fare ride of the State House should either expect or get a travel allowance is a mystery to the average taxpayer who has to foot the bills.

A law-maker from another section of the State is entitled to be compensated for his train fare and reasonable living expenses.
If that were not done, only wealthy men could afford to serve in the Legislature.

But there is no more reason that a legislator living in Boston, Newton, Dedham or Needham, should expect a weekly travel allowance than there is that a person in private industry should expect his employer to pay for his MTA or train fares.

The suggestion that the Greater Boston law-makers be given a small travel allowance is a joke and a farce, and it is quite likely that many legislators will back away from any such proposition because of the indignation it inevitably would arouse.

One reason for the public furore, which caused the Legislature to wipe out the legislative pensions and travel allowances last September, was that Greater Boston members were drawing $14.50 to meet their travel expenses.

One Democratic State Senator drew the $14.50 weekly allowance for an extended period while he was in the hospital. Other legislators got it along with their regular pay even though they were absent from the State House for weeks at a time.

A Representative who lived within a short walk of the State House drew $14.50
each week.

It was little short of scandalous, and the legislators realized that when they repealed the pension and travel laws the night before the September primary.

If the members of the Legislature believe they are entitled to a higher salary
than they are getting, they should vote
themselves an increase in a forthright manner, not adopt the subterfuge of granting travel allowances.

Governor Herter obviously is sincere about curbing State expenditures and giving the State's taxpayers a respite. It hardly would be consistent with his program for the legislators to grant themselves over-liberal travel allowances.

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley incorrect that this column is "unfair and insincere" in its opinion that he is avoiding a meeting with the officials of the 14 cities and towns served by the MTA.

It is most unfortunate if Auditor Buckley has been treated unfairly, but the fact is that he has twice sidestepped invitations to sit down with the men heading the local governments in the communities which have to meet any losses incurred by the MTA.

Now Buckley declares in a letter to Watertown Selectman Roy C. Papalia that he is prepared to meet with the Mayors and Selectmen provided the meeting is held in his own office "where the records relating to auditors of the MTA are maintained and available."

We're not quite certain whether Mr.
Buckley sees himself in the role of Mohammed or the Mountain, but if Buckley will not go to meet with the officials of the 14
cities and towns, presumably they will journey to the State House to meet him.

Auditor Buckley is himself responsible for the impression that he is avoiding a sitdown with the Mayors and Selectmen and for suspicion that he is unable to back up his spectacular allegations against the MTA trustees with specific facts and figures.

The letter he sent to Papalia was dated
last Wednesday, and if he preferred to meet in his office with the representatives of the 14 communities, he could have said so last December instead of parrying and dodging
two different invitations with vague, meaningless answers.

One bill now pending in the Legislature,
which is almost certain to be rejected, is the measure which would cut in half the membership of the House of Representatives.

It takes more optimism than this observer is able to generate to assume that half the House members are going to wipe out their own seats and the other half line themselves up for strenuous fights to hold their places.

Representatives Adolph Johnson of Brookline is the author of the measure, and he declares that he will not file it again unless he gets some public support.

The reason he presumably gets little public backing is that most people recognize
it is a meaningless bill that will get nowhere and that it would be a complete waste of time to try to push it.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A taxpayer who wrote to a federal agency to inquire about a pending case added a postscript which read: "I haven't made up my mind on this issue, but when I do I will be very bitter." There's nothing like having an open and unprejudiced mind.

Seeking a divorce in Houston, Merrick Gillory declared that he couldn't sleep at night because his wife slept with a butcher
knife under her pillow.

A college student waiting to pay a parking fine in a Laramie, Wyo., court, sat near
a group of three men, obediently stood up when they did, raised his right hand at the judge's instruction and later discovered he had been sworn in as a new policeman.

After visiting a fortune teller who informed him he was about to sign an important paper, Plainclothes Officer John Jones headed straight for police headquarters and proved her an accurate prophet by signing
an affidavit for her arrest.

The enclosed poem was sent to me by my son, A/C John P. Salvucci. He and another Airman,
A/C L. T. Ross composed it in their spare time.

Mrs. L. Salvucci
Sitting on my G.I. bed
My G.I. hat upon my head,
My G.I. pants, my G.I. shoes,
I think I've got the G.I. blues.

They give me everything I need,
Forms to fill and books to read,
G.I. brush and G.I. comb,
G.I. wish that I were home.

They give me food that makes me grow
G.I. want a long furlough,
I eat my food on G.I. plates

I buy my things at G.I. rates
All things here are G.I. issue,
G.I. wish that I could kiss you,
I go to sleep on a G.I. bed.

The blankets they are G.I. too,
I fall asleep and dream of you,
Now G.I. bugles wake me up,
I drink my "Joe" from a G.I.
cup.

The powdered eggs are G.I. too,
But G.I. wish I were with you,
Now when my G.I. time is through

then I'll be through with G.I. blue,
Now G.I. stands for Government Issue.

But darling G.I. sure do miss you for G.I. love you G.I. do,
and G.I. hope you miss me too,

WHY?

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The revolting Operation Smack
has shown the fathers and
mothers of American soldiers
what they must expect for their sons from the Big Brass if we
allow the Korean fighting to continue. Why throw away the lives
of American boys by letting the
military keep up a war that is already won? For Gen. Ridge-
way himself stated, "It would
be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended
with our forces in control up to the 38th Parallel," and similar
opinions were voiced by Gen.
Marshall, Gen. Bradley, Sec.
Acheson and Trygve Lie.

Since the North Koreans and Chinese have agreed to a boundary even north of the 38th
Parallel, and to true terms
satisfactory to us on every point
except one, why shouldn't we put

these agreed-upon terms into operation with an immediate
cease fire and continue, blood-
lessly, to negotiate the only unsettled issue, that of prisoners
of war? Not one more American casualty is necessary. The alternative is wounds or death for
thousands of American boys in
many more Operations Smack.

A resolution calling for just
this immediate ending of the Korean slaughter has been filed
in the Massachusetts Legislature
by seven citizens, including myself. I urge all parents of draft age boys, and all citizens who
think the time has come to end
bloodshed, to tell their Legislators to support H. 1371. (I'll be glad to send anyone a copy of
it.) Also write President Eisenhower you want an immediate
cease fire.

Wayland, Mass.

Editors, Newton Graphic:

The revolting Operation Smack
has shown the fathers and
mothers of American soldiers
what they must expect for their
sons from the Big Brass if we
allow the Korean fighting to continue. Why throw away the lives
of American boys by letting the
military keep up a war that is
already won? For Gen. Ridge-
way himself stated, "It would
be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended
with our forces in control up to
the 38th Parallel," and similar
opinions were voiced by Gen.
Marshall, Gen. Bradley, Sec.
Acheson and Trygve Lie.

Since the North Koreans and Chinese have agreed to a
boundary even north of the 38th
Parallel, and to true terms
satisfactory to us on every point
except one, why shouldn't we put

these agreed-upon terms into
operation with an immediate
cease fire and continue, blood-
lessly, to negotiate the only un-
settled issue, that of prisoners
of war? Not one more American
casualty is necessary. The alternative is wounds or death for
thousands of American boys in
many more Operations Smack.

A resolution calling for just
this immediate ending of the Korean slaughter has been filed
in the Massachusetts Legislature
by seven citizens, including myself. I urge all parents of draft
age boys, and all citizens who
think the time has come to end
bloodshed, to tell their Legislators to support H. 1371. (I'll be
glad to send anyone a copy of
it.) Also write President Eisenhower you want an immediate
cease fire.

Street Conditions

Editors, Newton Graphic:

After many repeated written complaints and telephone calls,
to the Mayor, Public Works Commissioner, and Street Commissioner of the City of Newton, many of the streets of Newton still remain in a hazardous condition.

Taxpayers living on these streets have damaged their cars, as even the adjacent streets are impassable.

If an emergency arose wherein an Ambulance was needed it could not enter into the streets,
as it would sink in the mud over the hoo caps of the vehicle.

Cases where these conditions are prevalent should be immediately corrected and not left tabulated where the streets are not accepted. Taxpayers on unac-cepted streets pay as high taxes as those on accepted streets, especially where they have already signed petitions for the streets to be accepted.

The question is: Should the Taxpayers of Newton whose taxes go to pay the City Workers, await the pleasure of the Mayor of Newton, the Commissioner of Public Works, and the Commissioner of Streets, also the Voters of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton, to get around to attend to the correction of the conditions of the Streets of Newton?

Which is a positive disgrace
to the Garden City.

and without."

Fire Extinguishers Are First Line of Defense, Not Cure All

Fire extinguishers are mainly a first line of defense, but it should always be remembered that the FIRE DEPARTMENT should be called as fast as possible in the event of a fire! Call the FIRE DEPARTMENT then use the extinguisher if you have one to use, but do not take any unnecessary chances. The Newton Fire Department telephone number is BI-4-0030, or sound your nearest Fire Alarm Box.

Each type of fire extinguisher is designed to be used on a certain type of fire, therefore fires are divided into three classes as follows: Class A Fires. Easily combustible materials such as wood, paper, cotton, shavings, etc. In order to extinguish this type of fire a wetting agent is needed that will lower the ignition point and penetrate the material that is burning. The soda-acid extinguishers are usually used for this type of fire in a building and are found in 1½ and 2½ gallon sizes. In order to operate them they should be taken to the location of the fire in their upright position. Once at the fire the extinguisher is inverted and the nozzle directed at the base or body of the fire. In order to stop the stream the extinguisher must be turned to its regular position. This type of extinguisher must be recharged every time that it is used or tipped over. The recharging date should be placed on the tag which is fastened to it. They should be recharged every year to make sure they are in good operating condition. If they show any signs of leaking they should be tested at once.

There are water type extinguishers now being used for this type of fire and are found in many buildings. They are the same size as the soda-acid.

This type of an extinguisher has a small cartridge of inert gas that is released usually by inverting the extinguisher and dropping the cap section on a hard surface to puncture the seal on the cartridge. Its method of operation on a fire is the same as the soda-acid extinguisher. It must be refilled with water and a new cartridge inserted every time it is used. For fires in the woods they usually have a water type pump which is easy to operate when it becomes empty can be readily filled with water.

All of these extinguishers will freeze if exposed to cold weather. The pump type and the cartridge type extinguisher can be made "anti-freezing" by adding the correct amount of calcium chloride salts. There is also an All Weather type of extinguisher that can be used on this type of fires that does not freeze and is operated similar to the water type extinguisher with the cartridge.

All fire extinguishers should be hung up where they can be easily seen, and obtained and not knocked over and damaged.

Newton Art Ass'n.

At one of the most interesting meetings of the year at the Newtonville Public Library by the Newton Art Association, Mr. Richard B. K. McLanathan, Associate Curator at the Boston Art Museum was the guest artist. In his capacity as art critic, Mr. McLanathan commented on the general excellence of paintings produced by the members and presented for discussion. Such matters as color values, simplicity of design, and perspective were discussed as well as the technique of some of the foremost artists of other days.

President Harlan Riker announced that on Thursday Feb. 19th, Mr. Charles P. Demetropoulis, a member of the Boston Water Color Society, will demonstrate the painting of a picture in what is known as the opaque water color method. The public is invited.

The third annual exhibit by members of the Newton Art Association is to be held at the R. H. Stearns Co. at Chestnut Hill beginning Friday, Feb. 13th and continuing through Sat. Feb. 28th. The arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Paula Newman, who announced that fifty-five paintings have been selected by a jury made up of Mrs. Marion Sloane, Rosamond Coolidge, and Glenn McNutt, of the Boston Guild of Artists.

the home, causes of fire, etc. together with a demonstration of the various types of fire extinguishers.

At the end of the program there will be a question and answer period in which problems of all classes of fires may be discussed.

Lt. Clark has been with the Newton Fire Department for 15 years, and has been with the Fire Prevention Bureau the past three years. In addition, Lt. Clark teaches fire prevention in the public schools, conducts nature trips for the students, at which time they are taught how to safely build fires and cook outdoors. Lt. Clark has a hobby of collecting models of horse drawn engines, and also collecting outdated firefighting engines. In his own home, Lt. Clark has started a fire prevention museum.

Deaths and Funerals

Ashes of Ben Ames Williams, 63, Famed Author, Scattered on Maine Farmland

The ashes of Ben Ames Williams, 63, of 124 Chestnut Hill road, Chestnut Hill, Newton, were scattered this week over the grounds of the famous author's farm, Hardscrabble, at Scarsmouth, Me., a town that provided the background for his book "Fraternity Village."

Funeral services were private for Mr. Williams, who died of a heart attack Wednesday, February 4, while participating in a curling match at The Country Club, Brookline.

Beginning his career in 1910 as a staff member of the Boston American after his graduation from Dartmouth, he wrote fiction for several years before selling his first story in 1914. At that time he had collected rejection slips for 80 previous tales.

Two years later he had enough confidence in his writing career to quit his newspaper post and become a professional author. He first made his reputation through his stories in "Slick" magazine, but turned to novels in his later years. In all, Mr. Williams wrote about 40 books.

His most successful novel probably was "House Divided," which appeared in 1947, topping the best-seller lists for several months. He spent 20 years on research for the volume and 4½ years on the actual writing.

Several of his novels were made into moving pictures, including "The Strange Woman" and "Leave Her to Heaven."

An honorary Doctor of Letters degree was awarded Mr. Williams in 1942 by Colby College, and Dartmouth presented him with a similar degree in 1948.

He leaves his wife, the former Florence Talpey; two sons, Roger C. of Portland, Me., and Ben Ames Jr. of Chestnut Hill; and a daughter, Mrs. Penelope Wardwell of Beaufort, N. C.

Interment was in Charlestown, N.H.

Nellie Jordan

Mrs. Nellie (Lynch) Jordan, widow of William Jordan, of 85 Erie avenue, Newton Highlands, died February 3. She leaves a son, William E.; and three daughters, Frances Jordan, Mrs. Homer T. Nelson and Mrs. Stanley A. Beal. A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung February 6 at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church.

Auburndale Sale

Tax Receipts Top 1951 Total In City by Over $2,000,000

Newton's tax collections for last year topped the 1951 total by more than $2,000,000 with almost four per cent of the taxes yet unpaid as of the end of the year, according to the annual report of City Treasurer and Collector Archie R. Whitman.

Mr. Whitman reported that a total of $10,146,293 was turned in to the city for real estate and personal taxes, compared with $8,008,156 in 1951. Motor vehicle excise taxes reached $902,084 last year, and $795,827 in 1951.

Receipts from personal taxes over the two years jumped from $541,485 to $821,023, despite the enactment of a state law raising the exemption on personal effects from $1000 to $5000. When this measure first became law, it was estimated that the city would lose more than 90 per cent of its personal property tax receipts.

However, the receipts continued to rise since much of the taxes collected were assessed in 1951 before the change in the exemption went into effect. The law actually resulted in about $10,000,000 worth of personal property being made non-taxable.

Real estate taxes went up to $9,325,270 last year from $7,466,671 in 1951. This increase came as the result of $11,000,000 in increased assessments plus an increase of $7 in the city's tax rate.

The 1952 total for personal property, real estate and motor vehicle taxes was $11,048,377, an increase of better than $2,000,000 over 1951's total of $8,803,983.

A slight drop in poll tax receipts was noted by Mr. Whitman, who reported collected $42,968 last year as compared to $41,490 in 1951.

APPOINTMENT of Judge David A. Rose of Newton as chairman of the national civil rights committee of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith was announced today by Henry Edward Schultz, the league's national chairman.

Nickel in Steel Castings

A major portion of the nickel delivered to the steel foundries in 1952 was used in cast parts for armored combat vehicles. Nickel is considered essential in obtaining the desired properties in heavy castings that may be subjected to shock loading and in those employed in low temperature service.

What Next?

A push-button controlled "stuf-finess-remover" and an air conditioner which eliminates dust, kills bacteria and emits a faint fragrance of rose blossoms may be standard equipment for the home of tomorrow, engineers predict.

Stronger Magnets

Permanent magnets having about twenty-five times the magnetic strength of the best carbon steel magnets are being produced by the special treatment of steels containing nickel, aluminum and cobalt.

Alloys for Jets

Heat and corrosion resistant nickel alloys are used in vital parts of jet aircraft engines where their resistance to the destructive effects of high temperatures is of prime importance.

MAGIC SHOW. Well, the big day has come and gone for the Presto Club, but the memory of their performance still lingers with us.

On January 29th, promptly at 2:20, crowds began to assemble in the auditorium. The show was to begin at 2:30 and at about this time handsome Dave Lewis stepped out from behind the curtain to act as Master of Ceremonies.

Never before have the Weeks students witnessed such a show. As the performance progressed the crowd became more and more enthused. Each performer showed a new trick which amazed each and every person in the auditorium. I'm sure everyone can say that the admission price of 25 cents was well spent. Our special congratulations go to Mr. Downs for sponsoring this wonderful show and to the Presto Club's officers and members who participated in and made the show possible.

Iceland's housewives, long plagued with that country's shortage of wood and coal, soon will be provided with more abundant electric power. Generators, capable of producing nearly 55,000 horsepower, are being installed at two new major hy-under construction at the cities dro-electric power plants now of Sogsvirkjun and Laxavirkjun.

Central Club

Central Club will present the Central Players in "Little Shot" a three act farce comedy by Percival Wilde for their Annual Show to be held at Woodward Hall, Central Congregational Church, Newtonville on Friday and Saturday evenings February 20 and 21.

"Little Shot" is replete with hilarious situations and was considered one of the smash hits during the past decade. It had its premiere at the Playhouse, New York and was widely acclaimed by the critics.

Appearing in the cast will be such stars as Alvin S. Whitmore, versatile as both actor and playwright; pretty and vivacious comedienne, Betty Toby and Russell F. Baker who recently starred in the title role of "Papa Is All" presented by the Hovey Players. All have a wealth of experience in the field of amateur theatricals and are established favorites in this vicinity.

The show committee is headed by Alvin S. Whitmore and includes: Arnold C. Black, Edwin F. Brown, Robert P. Brack, Edward A. Carl, Walter H. Phillips, Robert E. Quinlan, Herbert F. Rich, Wallace M. Ross.

The play is being coached by Miss Mary Louise Wetherbee, well known dramatic coach.

DR. DAVID McKEITH JR.

Missions Head To Speak at Central Church

Dr. David McKeith Jr., executive vice-president of the American Board of Foreign Missions, will speak on "World at the Crossroads" Sunday at the 11 a.m. service of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

The liberation of men's minds and the rise of their self-esteem around the world has been due in no small degree to the work of Christian missions, Dr. McKeith believes.

Today we have the "Younger Churches" rather than missions in most lands, he pointed out, and American Board missionaries are co-workers and invited helpers. "We must continue to train Christian nationals in leadership and help them financially until they are able to assume full responsibility," he said.

In the Spring of 1951, Dr. McKeith spent two months on an administrative tour of the Philippines and Japan by air. In 1949, he made an extensive six-month visit to that part of his "world parish" found in Africa, Turkey, Syria, Lebanon and Greece.

Active in national religious and cultural groups, he is also a member of the Joint Department of Religious Liberty of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States. He holds several honorary college degrees and last September became a 33rd degree Mason.

The service of worship will be led by the minister of Central Church, the Rev. Randolph S. Merrill, and the music will be by Raymond A. Crawford, organist and choir master, the Chancel Choir, and Franklin G. Field, baritone soloist.

Ash Wednesday, February 18, will be observed at Central Church with a service at 4 p.m. in the afternoon, when Mr. Merrill will lead the worship and speak, and the Youth Choirs will sing under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth A. Bernard.

Waban Woman's Club

At the regular meeting of the Waban Woman's Club to be held at the Neighborhood Club House on February 16, at 2:00 p.m., Emily Seaber Parcher will present "Easy Gardening for the Busy Housewife."

Mrs. Parcher, a former member of the Waban Woman's Club, will illustrate her lecture with her own magnificent colored slides of New England gardens.

Miss Silverman to Be Married in May

May is the month chosen for the marriage of Miss Betty Janet Silverman, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Silverman of Newton have announced her engagement to Mr. Bernard George Berkman, of Brookline.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Concord Academy and attended Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Berkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Berkman was graduated from New Preparatory School in Cambridge and from Babson Institute.

Secures More Than $125,000 In Material for Israel

In the ten weeks since President Lou Marcus of the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel, Newton named the permanent Material for Israel committee under the general chairmanship of Edgar Grossman, a total of more than eighty tons of material, whose value is not less than $125,000, has already been shipped from the Boston area to New York for reshipment direct to Israel. The following trucking companies carried all this material to New York without charge: Old Colony Motor Lines, M & M Transportation Co., Highway Express, Benjamin Motors, Holland Transportation, Garvey Transportation Co., Yale Transportation Co., Harrison Motor Freight Co., Clinton Transportation Co., and the St. Johnsbury Trucking Co.

Seventy-four different firms have contributed material and more than fifty additional firms have promised material as soon as they have completed their inventories. In February and March, The material includes such varied items as 60,000 pairs of shoes, canned food, paper, 16 textile looms, optical supplies, men's clothing, electrical supplies, automotive parts, buttons, motors, plastic materials, chemicals, converters, machine tools, leather remnants, hats and caps, steam engines, hardware, electroplating material, X-Ray machines and supplies, paint, baby metal, cloth remnants, asbestos board, tile board, 35 mm film, drill presses, steel tubing, buffing lathes, heaters, stainless steel tableware, latex rubber cement, bronze bearings, X-Ray tubes, a two ton stapling machine, curtains, absorbent cotton, burlap bags, chrome Alum, Photographic chemicals, 4 steam pressure boilers, 500 raincoats, multiple drill, plumbers supplies, printing press, gas boiler, a one-ton paper cutter, oil burners, water heaters, 2 drinking machines, rubber belts, D. D. T. Solution, woolen cloth, stationery and envelopes, sheepskin, and a variety of other items.

Great credit is due to the forty-three co-chairmen of the thirty different divisions that have been set up in this Material for Israel program. Among the most successful thus far in securing large quantities of material are: Arthur Baker who has secured material from twenty-four different firms; Dr. Max Rivito, Dr. Maurice G. Evans, William Sandler, Charles Hurwitz, Milton Fader, and Leonard L. Matthews.

According to Henry Greenberg, Director of the New England Division, Material for Israel, Temple Emanuel Brotherhood is leading all of the other Brotherhoods in the Boston area in this Material for Israel program and all indications are that it will continue to do so.

Facts About The Marine Corps

The headquarters of the United States Marine Corps remained at Philadelphia slightly less than two years after the Marine Corps was established in 1798. The construction of the new Capital at Washington, D. C. had progressed sufficiently to require the presence of Marines.

They were first stationed at the Navy Yard, in March, 1800, for the purpose of guarding the construction at that place, and later to establish the Headquarters of the Corps near the office of the Secretary of the Navy, which moved to Washington in June, 1800.

Major Commandant Burrows with his staff and headquarters troops arrived at Georgetown and went into camp on July 31. The Marines' camp site was on a hill southeast of the town, which until recently was the site of the Naval Hospital, Washington. The Marine Band also moved to Washington at that time.

Barracks for these Marines were later rented from the War Department. The Marines moved into the mon November 11, but returned to their camp in the following spring in order to economize.

Machines That 'Think'
Twelve robot elevators directed by an electronic "traffic cop" are now serving the 9,000 occupants of the government's new General Accounting Office Building. The "brainy" elevators require no operators. When filled, they rise automatically. When descending with capacity loads, they save time by bypassing additional calls.

Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R.

The retiring British Vice-consul of Boston, Mrs. Stanley Rolis, was the speaker at the February meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R. in the Chapter House, Newton Lower Falls. Impressions gained during her visit to England were, Mrs. Rolis said, that the way of life is now easier though there is less meat on the table than during the war years; all are still willing to sacrifice and are loud in their praise of American generosity. They especially appreciate the welcome and assistance given the Productivity Teams that come to the United States to observe and study our methods of production. She said that clothing as a result of the recent disaster was needed far less than chemicals to destroy the effect of the salt deposited by the flood waters. Colored pictures were shown on a screen, among them the beautiful Royal Horticultural Gardens which extend for miles, and the homes of many literary notables. The Chateau where George Bernard Shaw did most of his writing was seen in the picture of his home which he called "Shaw's Corner." Scenes in Hingham where Lincoln's ancestors lived, and Sulgrave Manor the ancestral home of Washington were shown.

At the business meeting, a gift of $10. from one of the members to Hillside School for boys in Marlboro was reported. Eleven afgans distributed among Cushing Veterans' Hospital, The Peabody Home for crippled children, The Stone Institute and Murphy General Hospital, were reported. Plans are under way for a large auction in the spring.

Delegates and Alternates were elected to the Annual State Conference in the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel, March 19 and 20. The Delegates are the Regent, Mrs. Frederick J. Warren, the Vice-regent, Mrs. John D. Wright, Mrs. J. Walter Allen and Mrs. Norman C. Fay. The Alternates are Mrs. Harry D. Cabot, Mrs. Arthur S. Tucker, Mrs. George F. Howland, Miss Virginia H. Vassalotti, Mrs. Arthur Gregorian, Mrs. Alton L. Miller, Mrs. Willard A. Sampson and Mrs. John A. Ballou.

An hour of sociability followed with Mrs. Arthur G. Hoadley and Mrs. Norman C. Fay presiding at the coffee urns. Mrs. Halcomb J. Brown and Mrs. Fay shared hostess duties.

At the next meeting, Monday March 9, Mrs. Malcolm E. Nichols Past State Chairman of The Flag Committee will speak on "Our National Emblem."

Suit Silhouette Tends Toward Slender Lines

There is no such thing as limiting a suit to a special occasion or season, anymore. Today women wear suits to travel, to work, to the theater and even to get married in! They're all-time good fashion, whether they're tailored or feminine.

In general, the suit silhouette this season shows shoulders that are natural and narrow, waistlines slender but not pinched, skirts fairly slim-looking. But there are many variations.

There are colors for every taste—lights, neutrals and dark tones. Especially attractive are the rich pastels that look smart this season picked up in a print scarf or in a darker tone for hat and gloves to complete a one-color ensemble.

Concerted Drive Starts Toward $60,000 Church Building Fund

A concentrated drive to complete pledges for the balance of the $60,000 special building fund for the addition to the First Unitarian Society in Newton is being carried on from February 11 to March 10, according to an announcement by Joseph C. Skinner, chairman of the church board of trustees. Spurred by a conditional pledge of $10,000, promised by an anonymous member of the church at such time as the building fund reaches $50,000, it is hoped to raise $12,650 during this wind-up campaign in order to qualify for this $10,000 gift. So far the sum of $37,350 has been reached through contributions and pledges, since last May when the new building project was voted.

Mr. Skinner will hold open house from 4 to 8 o'clock this Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 11 and 12, at his home, 73 Chestnut Street, West Newton, for committee members and special volunteers to get their assignments to complete the personal calls on members and friends of the West Newton Unitarian Church. The canvassers will then report at the parish house Saturday morning to tabulate the results in augmented new pledges.

Dr. Edward Landry Addresses Visiting Nurse Association

The annual meeting of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, a Red Feather Agency, was held Monday morning at 10:00, February 9th at their headquarters, 1900 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls with their guest speaker, Dr. Edward Landry, Director of the Public Schools Counseling Service.

Mrs. Matt B. Jones, president, welcomed the guests and members of the Board and introduced the secretary, Mrs. Winslow Howland, who read a year's report of all the activities of the many committees of the Association. Mrs. Harold Jones, assistant treasurer read the annual report of the treasurer. Mrs. Jones gave the president's summary of the organization's work and Miss Hilga S. Nelson, the executive director's report. Mrs. Stanley Anderson read the nominating report for 1953.

Dr. Edward Landry, after being introduced by Mrs. Raymond A. Green, gave an enlightening talk of the Mental Health needs in Newton. Starting at the national level he told that of the nine million patients suffering from mental and physical illness, one and one half million are mentally ill and that of these six hundred fifty thousand patients or 55 percent are in mental institutions. The facilities for care of such patients are far from adequate with 3 out of every 4 hospitals understaffed and funds insufficient to maintain full staffs. Mental health research lags behind that done for Infantile Paralysis, Tuberculosis and Cancer. The amount spent per mental patient for research is $4.15 while $28.00 is spent on infantile paralysis victims, $26 on T.B. patients and $27 on cancer patients. Dr. Landry told of the children under care and guidance of his department in Newton. Some of the causes for difficulty may be attributed to the age we live in, broken homes, or physical illnesses. It was interesting to know Newton is giving definite study to this matter from a preventive point of view. Such organizations as the Visiting Nurse Association and the Family Service Bureau are already functioning in this field.

Human Relations Committee Meets To Map Program On Group Tensions

Miss Adelaide B. Ball, chairman of Newton's newly organized Human Relations Committee of the Newton Community Council, reports that their first meeting was successfully concluded. Steps were immediately taken to map a program for positive action attacking the very causes behind group tensions and youth problems. Dr. Edward Landy, noted director of the Counseling Service of the Newton Public Schools, has agreed to serve as consultant in the important work ahead. Miss Ball went on to say that the following resolutions were unanimously approved:

1. That the entire community be invited to submit suggestions and offers of service to the committee by writing directly to the Human Relations Committee of the Newton Community Council, 93 Union street, Newton Centre 59, Mass. We are particularly interested in learning of other evidences of group tensions or unrest that have not been previously reported.

2. The recent recognition of a fast growing tension has been met by other communities through the forming of committees similar to this one. We are immediately contacting these committees and other existing agencies as well as educational institutions familiar with this problem for guidance and advice.

3. To take immediate steps to ascertain the existence and the scope of the cause underlying the current of group tensions right within our own community.

4. A letter is to be sent forthwith to all existing youth agencies within Newton for requests and advice as to what Newton has and how we can assist in improving their own programs.

Miss Ball went on to say that a letter of sympathy and offer of assistance has already been dispatched to Mr. and Mrs. Berger, parents of Stephen M. Berger.

All the citizens of Newton and most particularly the parents of the Garden City are earnestly urged to rally behind the great efforts of Police Chief Purcell and his department and this committee in both detecting and preventing any further incidents.

Miss Ball further went on to say that the committee acknowledges with great thanks the written expression of support and encouragement voted by the Newton Ministers Association.

Tentative Program Announced For YMCA Building Fund Campaign

ON YOUR MARK—John Frain, Norman Vail and Kenneth Mouser get set as Eugene R. Clark, Jr., associate director of physical education for the Newton Y.M.C.A., prepares to start a race. These are only three of the 2,336 boys who were members of the Newton Y.M.C.A. last year.

Announcement was made Monday night of a tentative program for the Newton Y.M.C.A.'s 75th Anniversary Building Fund Campaign. The program was revealed by Newton Y.M.C.A. President Frederick S. Bacon at a special dinner meeting held at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Some 40 prominent Newton citizens were invited to the dinner by Charles H. Myers to discuss the coming building fund campaign. Myers is a member of the Newton Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors and chairman of the Special Gifts Committee for the building fund campaign.

The gathering was addressed by President Bacon, Newton Y.M.C.A. General Secretary Alex R. Miller and Campaign Director H. J. Pettengill. Although no goal was announced, plans for the coming spring campaign were discussed and those present were invited to assist in the drive for funds.

President Bacon told the group that if the campaign is successful the building program would include the following specific points. Officials hope to rebuild and improve the boys' social area, club room, offices and workroom, and other facilities to provide better service to this important group. It is further planned to build shower room, locker room, rest room and powder room facilities for women and girls, and to modernize the basement with up-to-date locker rooms and equipment for boys and men and get

Eight Youths to Face Burglary Charges in Juvenile Court

Already at liberty on bail from charges arising from the February 7 assault on Stephen Berger, a Newton youth will face additional charges tomorrow (Friday) along with seven companions in connection with several burglaries in the city.

Following the roundup of the eight boys last week, police recovered about $2000 worth of loot. The breaks in a West Newton factory and several homes were solved when a patrolman stopped a youth for questioning and detectives followed with an all-night investigation.

Credited with the first clue in breaks was Patrolman Charles W. Kennedy, who stopped a youth for questioning shortly before midnight on Tuesday, February 10, in West Newton Square.

When the boy was unable to explain satisfactorily where he got his watch, Patrolman Kennedy took the youth into police headquarters for further questioning.

Detectives noted the suspect was wearing a leather jacket and a pair of new shoes taken in a break from the Republic Shoe Company in West Newton several weeks ago. Shown a pair of worn shoes left behind on the night of the break, the boy admitted the theft and the other seven youths were taken into custody.

Among the items recovered by police from the homes of the suspects and one of their girl friends were several rings, a watch, two hunting knives and a pair of binoculars.

The burglaries the boys were charged with included the homes of John V. Beckman, 185 Temple street, West Newton; Clarence Howell, 9 Estabrook road, Newtonville; Fred A. Bailey, 5 Crocker circle, West Newton; Harry W. Dunning, 1881 Beacon street, Waban; and LaRue Colwell, 220 Dorset road, Waban.

Annual Police Listing Shows 65,767 Voters

Completing the task in record time, the Newton police poll listing squad turned over 65,767 cards of voter to the Registrar of Voters.

The city was covered in 32 days with 63,706 cards completed. Out of 4543 cards which were not filled in on the first visit, 2482 were mailed by the residents to the city clerk. Officers conducting the listings had to repeat their calls at 2061 homes.

Approximately 200 listing cards remain incomplete because of the absence of occupants from the city or similar causes.

Chairman Norman J. Mitchell of the Board of Registrars commended the police group on their thoroughness and reported that additional information taken by the listers will help in making up the assessed poll and the voting lists.

It is expected that many names will be added to the assessed polls, resulting in increased revenue to the city, Mr. Mitchell said.

A total of 8630 pre-school children were listed as a service to the School Department. The listing follows: under one year, 1381; one year, 1241; two years, 1493; three years, 1412; four years, 1458; and five years, 1646.

The listing squad, under the direction of Capt. Charles E. Walker and Sgt. William J. Bell, was composed of Patrolmen Thomas M. Dargan, Francis DeVito, Arthur L. Hanlon, Richard B. Hickson, Michael J. Kennedy, Mario J. Marino, James Rogers, William Peterson, Robert Mahoney and Raymond J. Thibault.

Unitarian Cleric Deplores Rowdies Locally In Sermon

"The Garden City is a garden; yes, it is still a Garden City, but there are snakes in the garden," declared the Rev. John Ogden Fisher Sunday morning, at the First Unitarian Society in Newton, in his sermon entitled "The Serpent in the Garden City."

Mr. Fisher, appointed to the human relations committee of the Newton Community Council following the unfortunate incident of February 7 when three boys were assaulted by a teenage gang in Newton Center, made definite reference in his sermon to this and other "incidents" in Newton.

Taking his text from the Book of Genesis, the story of the tempting of Eve in the Garden of Eden and the story of Cain and Abel, which he read as Scripture lesson, Mr. Fisher emphasized affirmatively the answer to the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Mr. Fisher said in part: "When I chose the sermon subject for today I confess that I was in a mood to use alliteration, but the serpent in the Garden City became much more meaningful for me after I had read the account in early Genesis. And the cry of Cain, 'Am I my brother's keeper?', has been heard again this week in Newton. To the same serpent which appeared in the garden of Eden, I credit the appearance in the Garden City."

"That idea which comes always to the selfish and to the self-centered, willingness to chance dire consequences for immediate complete self-satisfaction, a willingness to disregard the welfare or the rights of others in order to over-emphasize one's own privileges or

Fair Travel and Expense for Solons Approved by Taxpayers' Association

MISS JOHANNA RISTUCCIA and Mrs. Francis Morris, co-chairmen of the Musical Fiesta and Dance Committee of the Evening Division of the Newton Community Club present a check for $500 to James Purcell and Miss Priscilla Schenck, officers of the United Cerebral Palsy Newton-Wellesley Affiliate for use in their work with the Cerebral Palsied.

The Newton Taxpayers' Association is in accord with a proposal that would provide for the payment of travel and expense allowances for members of the Legislature consistent with existing formulas for all State and Federal employees, stated Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director this week.

Although the Organized Taxpayers will continue to expose abuses of expense allowances such as those of last year which, together with the revelation of excessive legislative pensions, resulted in their repeal under pressure of popular indignation at the special session last fall, a reasonable and controlled schedule should be permitted, asserted Muther.

Taxpayer approved allowances for state legislators call for:

1. Payment of six cents a mile either once a week or four days a week, depending on distance circumstances—the same amount paid all State employees when they use their automobiles on public business.

2. Provision for hotel room three days a week and for two meals a day four days a week for those whose homes are more than 40 miles from Boston—to be paid only if the expense is incurred—a formula consistent with what the Federal government allows traveling officials and employees.

Note that under the terms of this proposal a member would be required to certify over his signature each month that he is eligible to receive allowances. This will end travel and expense allowances to members who go to Florida, Europe or elsewhere on vacation during the sessions, or who for other reasons are absent from their legislative duties for prolonged periods. Under this bill no payment is automatic, and the member will be paid only if

Plan City-wide Welcome For Tenley Albright This Monday

Stuart Spaulding, president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce has been named by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood as chairman of the Tenley Albright Committee to draw up plans for a city-wide reception to the local youthful skating champion.

Miss Albright this week won the Women's World Skating Championship after competing with the greatest skaters of the world. She is scheduled to arrive in Newton from France next Monday and plans are now being formulated to give her a royal welcome, consisting of a parade composed of the various veterans organizations, Chamber of Commerce members, students and many other groups. The parade is tentatively scheduled to be held in Newtonville, following which a reception will be held either in the High School or at City Hall.

It is also planned to hold a more formal home-coming affair for Miss Albright at a later date when various skating groups of the city and other civic groups will join in the participation.

Object to Ban On Low-Level Home Garages

A second public hearing on a proposed ban of garages below street level will be held Wednesday night by the Aldermen's claims and rules committee, which called the session after a belated protest by more than 20 builders.

No opposition was registered to the planned ban at a public hearing last month, but the builders complained that they did not know of the hearing.

The new ordinance, reported on favorably by the claims and rules committee, was scheduled to be acted upon by the aldermen Monday night. A vote was postponed, however, in order that the new

The Newton Minister's Association meeting at Temple Shalom of Newton last Thursday, passed the following resolution: "We members of the Newton Ministers' Association, were shocked by the attack upon Stephen Berger on February 7. We strongly urge that the churches, schools and civic organizations of the city pursue a more vigorous educational program to assure security, justice, and mutual respect for all the diversified groups in Newton. We commend the Mayor upon the appointment of the Committee on Human Relations and offer it all possible aid and support."

The episode of the recent teenage disturbances in our community were discussed at length by the ministers at a symposium dealing with the subject, "How Do Changing Population Trends Affect Your Church?" The symposium, moderated by Dr. Russell Boynton, was given added significance by the presence of the distinguished lecturer on American Jewish History, Dr. Jacob R. Marcus, of the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, Ohio. Dr. Marcus commenting on the contributions of minority groups to the American way of life said, "American Jewry, basically a religious fellowship, is convinced that the essence of the League Seeks Local Pen Pals For Children of West Europe

The International Friendship League in Boston is seeking Newton youngsters who would like to correspond with "pen pals" in western Europe.

The League, which has been headquarters for international student correspondence for 16 years, has been responsible for the exchange of several million friendly letters during its existence.

A special opportunity is open now to the young people of America to add their words of encouragement to the people of stricken Europe after the terrible storms which raised havoc and took many lives this month.

From the executive secretary of the League, Miss Edna MacDonough, comes the following message to all young readers:

"Have you heard from your pen pal lately? Do you owe these correspondence friends, any letters?"

"No matter which way it is, won't you write at once and in a few days write again, not waiting for a reply. It makes no difference whether your pen pals are in flooded districts or not. All Europe is shocked by this tragedy and everybody needs bucking up."

"By writing to those in other countries as in the past, you have shown that you understand that to win friends, you first must be one yourself. And certainly there is no better time to be a friend than right now."

"If you don't have pen pals in western Europe or want the names of more of them, please get in touch with us. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the International Friendship League, 40 Mt. Vernon street, Boston."

This program is endorsed by the State Department, the National Education Association, UNESCO, educators and church leaders everywhere. It is considered a tremendous weapon for good at home and good will abroad through the exchange of millions of friendly letters yearly.

Church of the Open Word, Newtonville. On Sunday, February 22, Sunday School will meet at 9:30 a.m. and the Adult Class at 10 a.m. Morning Worship will be conducted at 11 a.m. Mr. David Garrett will conduct the services. R. Lawrence Capon will be organist and Miss Phyllis Juster the soprano soloist. A Square Dance will be held in the Parish House in Newtonville on Friday, February 27, at 8 p.m. The caller will be Dudley Briggs.

Proclamation

by
CITY OF NEWTON
Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor

Whereas, the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of Churches has designated Friday, February 20, 1953, as World Day of Prayer; and

Whereas, the Newton Council of Church Women and others are cooperating; and

Whereas, World Day of Prayer has been designated on an international, inter-denominational, inter-racial basis to join peoples of this world together in the furtherance of a belief in the theme—"Walk As Children of Light," (Ephesians 5:8). Now, therefore, I, Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor of the City of Newton, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do proclaim Friday, February 20, 1953, as "World Day of Prayer" in the City of Newton and call upon the people of Newton to observe this day by accepting this as a personal invitation to attend services at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Newtonville Methodist Church. If the duties of some are such as to make this impossible, I urge them to pause in their work for one minute at High Noon, to ask that God give us light to guide us, courage to support us, and love to unite us. I further urge every church or business having bells, chimes or whistles to sound them once or twice at 12 Noon for the observance of that minute of prayer.

Given under my hand this Sixteenth Day of February, A.D. 1953.

Theodore R. Lockwood
Mayor

Tax reductions, even in the present cruel and harsh rates, are difficult to justify when the result would be increased deficit and debt. They can be justified only when a budget is brought into balance. — Sen. Harry F. Byrd.

— THE DOR-POST —

The "social whirl" for the month of February is the week-end quite a few of the girls are spending up at Andover Academy. The boys are having their Winter Prom so some of our young socialites are going up there. Bobbe Forrest, Carol Caner, and Sandy Borkum. Bobbe Forrest, earlier in the year had a fabulous sweet-sixteen party at the Boston Club. It would be a major catastrophe if Carole Torey and Joanne Murphy got their dates mixed up—they go with two of NHS's illustrious triplets. Dick Bigelow is really going places—He's been squirring some mighty adorable seniors to Newton social events... From our orange box in the library: John O'Hayre is having open house during February vacation for seniors with their dates... Connie Glaser lost her half knitted "Vogue" sweater on the MTA... Johnny Geraci got 362 words out of Constantinople while Rhoda Greenberg got 420... He must really have money in the bank—Dickie Fogg has been roaming campus going "icky-icky"... Which way did the Indians go? They seem to have taken Ronnie Jehu's and Russ Halloran's hair (Dig those wiffles, man!) Also sporty-ing new hair-dos are Carol Fink and Nancy Hurwitz... King Sherwood and Queen Patsy reigned over the Valentine Dance... Robert "Eggy" Hamblette is leaving for Uncle Sam in eight days... Champs in the National Division of the Newton Church League are the Elliters from Elliot Congregation Church. Playing for them are Bobby and Donny Trumble, Dicky Allen, Johnny Angier, Dick Bassett, Bill Snider, Roy Tinker, Temple Emanuel is leading in the American League... Just wondering—Philly Liverman do you ever take the bus home? It seems that every day there's someone from Brookline going your way—Not a bad deal we say... Don't forget to drop all your news in the orange box in the library of building three... Toodle-oooo-ooooo.

The Elliot Church of Newton. On Sunday, February 22, the Primary and Junior Departments of the Church School will meet at 9:30 a.m. and the Nursery and Kindergarten Departments at 10:45 a.m. The Morning Service of Worship with sermon by the minister, Dr. Ray A. Eusden, will also be at 10:45 a.m. The Young People's Fellowship, Junior High and High School, will meet at noon. The John Elliot Fellowship will meet at 5 p. m. and the Young People's Inaugural On Thanksgiving?

Right now, while everybody is a little breathless at how fast things have been happening since President Eisenhower took the oath of office, it may be a good time to mention that there is no good reason why we couldn't have been at this point in our Restoration of Sanity last Christmas.

On Wednesday morning, November 5th,
we knew we were going to have a new President and a new Administration. From that moment on, what Mr. Truman and his official family thought, said or did could only be an embarrassment to them, to the nation, and to the incoming administration. And yet, under the rules they must carry on for another two and a half months. In the present state of affairs, it meant the whole
free world must mark time for ten weeks,
which happens to be exactly the time required by Hitler to subdue Norway, Denmark, Luxembourg, Holland, Belgium and France.

Whether Premier Stalin failed to recognize his opportunity to move in or a temporarily leaderless opposition or deliberately passed it up because of his own unreadiness,
we shall probably never know. But here
at home, the managers of 250,000 manufacturing concerns, four-and-a-half million
farms and thousands of other enterprises
sat tightly or coasted wondering what the new rules would be, as did their 60 million workers.

It was a good thing, in 1932, when Inauguration was advanced from the traditional March 4th to January 20th. But, with today's still faster tempo, we need another push-up. We could still give the exhausted campaigners a chance to restore depleted energy and regain a normal pulse rate in time for a Thanksgiving Day Inaugural.

And, after all, what could be a better
day for it?

There Is Hope

If there were no hope of success, the battle against heart disease would not make sense.

The truth is, there is hope for success—
in all the seven ages of man.
Only a few short years ago, subacute bacterial endocarditis (SBE for short) was one of the most dreaded forms of heart disease. It still takes more lives than it should.
This disease, a complication of rheumatic fever or congenital heart condition, strikes
most often in youth.

It strikes only those whose heart valves have been weakened. Its method is one of infection of the valves which results in serious impairment of the heart. This impairment of the valves makes it difficult for enough blood to be pumped by the heart to supply adequate circulation. This disease used to be almost 100% fatal.

Thanks to research, it can now be said that better than 70% of those suffering from "SBE" can be cured by modern medical skill. When rheumatic fever can be prevented, "SBE" will largely disappear.

More money is needed for continued research in this field. This month, the Heart Fund is asking you to make an investment toward the conquest of heart disease. Such an investment is certain to pay off — it is paying off now — and each Heart Dollar
will bring us closer to our goal.

Bitter Fight Looms Over Proposal to Assess Fringe Towns for M.T.A. Deficit

One of the bitterest battles of the year
on Beacon Hill will come on the proposal that 14 fringe communities just outside the MTA district be required to pay 25 percent of the road's deficit.

That will be an issue on which the oratory will resound and the legislators will wage a determined fight in defense of the pocketbooks of their constituents.

The lawmakers from Boston, Newton
and the other 12 cities and towns which now annually shoulder the entire MTA losses will vigorously support the idea of letting someone else share in the privilege.

Senators and Representatives from Dedham, Needham and the other dozen communities, which want nothing to do with the MTA deficit, will be unanimous in their opposition to move.

Ironically, the issue will be decided by legislators from sections of the State where the question of who pays the MTA losses is strictly academic—by the lawmakers from Cape Cod, the Blackstone Valley, the Berkshires, the North Shore and from New Bedford, Fall River, Lawrence, Lowell,

Springfield and Worcester.

Our guess is that the measure ultimately will be defeated and that the people who now dig down annually to wipe out the MTA losses can look for no assistance from their neighbors in the so-called fringe communities.

The bill to reorganize the MTA and to throw out the present trustees of the system seems almost certain of passage. Indeed, it will be something of a sensation if anyone even arises to say a good word for the trustees.

But the attempt to spread out the MTA
deficit and place 25 percent of the road's
losses on the property-owners in Dedham, Needham and the other so-called 14 fringe
communities is just as likely to be killed.

The lawmakers from the more remote portions of the State are not particularly concerned about the bills that the people of Dedham and Needham have to pay. But they suspect that if the MTA levy is spread out over another 14 cities and towns, the next step probably would be to have the State
take over the system.

The fact that the joint legislative committee on metropolitan affairs endorsed the bill to have the fringe communities pay a fourth of the deficit probably means little.

Most of the members of the committee
are from the cities and towns which now assume the MTA losses, and if they didn't support the proposal it would be tantamount to surrendering the seats they hold.
What was a big surprise, however,
was that no one from the 14 fringe communities appeared at the committee hearing in opposition to the measure. Maybe they're saving their fire for the full-dress legislative battle.

The controversy that will be provoked
by this issue will emphasize once again that the MTA is probably Governor Herter's
most troublesome headache.

Herter is planning, however, to tackle the problem in forthright fashion. He will have an expert study made of the transit system in an effort to find some answer to the road's soaring deficit which becomes greater year by year.

The Governor probably will undertake a program to make it more attractive for persons who drive their automobiles into downtown Boston to park at terminal stations and ride on the rapid transit system. He has been studying that means of drawing customers for some time.

The present MTA trustees, while waiting for the axe to fall, apparently have adopted a say-nothing and do-nothing attitude. Their only contribution to the situation was to blast the recent program proposed by General Manager Edward Dana for meeting part of the road's losses.

Democratic politicians are apprehensive
that with the Republicans in complete control on Beacon Hill the G.O.P. may re-district
the State in order to capture one of the congressional districts now held by Democrats.

Actually, there is no certainty whatever that the Republicans could gain anything by a re-districting plan or that they could improve on their present 8-6 ratio in Congress.
Over a period of years Governor Herter
was accused of gerrymandering the congressional district from which he served,
but the fact of the matter was that, although he was Speaker at the House of Representatives at the time, he had little,
if anything, to do with the redistricting
that was carried out.

If he had been directing the alignment of congressional districts, he undoubtedly would have carved one out for himself where he would have been a little more certain of election.

As it was, Herter won by an extremely narrow margin in 1942 and then solidified himself on the strength of his own service to the people of his district and by the caliber
of his work on Capitol Hill.

The Governor himself told newsmen the other day that he is not certain whether there are enough "inequities" between the congressional districts to warrant a restricting.

He explained that his own sprawling district was so big because there was forceful opposition to dividing Newton into more than one district and the entire city finally was placed in the 10th district where the margin of political strength normally is extremely tight.

Cambridge, by contrast, is divided into three different congressional districts.

The last redistricting back in 1941 was necessitated because Massachusetts lost a congressional seat in the reapportionment,
and it came very close to losing another
one on the basis of the 1950 census.

Ordinarily, there is a disposition to make no change in the alignment of congressional districts.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A Nashua, N. H., man was fined $5 for stealing a 5-cent newspaper. He told the court he took the paper from a newsstand
to read a story about a holdup.

The North Dakota Legislature has adopted a law banning the sale of candy cigarettes on the ground that they might encourage juvenile smoking. One State Senator, in opposing the move, argued that it would be just as sensible to outlaw baby bottles.

A full-blooded Eskimo got so cold in Oakland, Calif., that he went to jail for a night to get warm. James Morgan, 24, whose home is in Bethel, Alaska, 75 miles from the Bering Sea, said that at home the temperature drops to 63 below zero but that he kept warm there with furs and parkas. He was surprised that he didn't see a single parka
in Oakland where he was looking for a job.

To Mark World Day of Prayer Friday at Newtonville Church

The World Day of Prayer has been proclaimed by Governor Herter for tomorrow (Friday), a day in which the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will participate in religious services in all communities.

In Newton, the Council of Church Women will sponsor a service in the Newtonville Methodist Church, Newtonville Square, at 2 p. m. Dr. Edwin P. Booth, professor of Historical Theology at Boston University, well-known lecturer and author, and for several years a Union Lenten speaker in Newton, will be the speaker.

Others participating in the service will be Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, president of the Council; Mrs. Hugh L. Robinson, vice-president; and Rev. Hamilton M. Gifford, minister of the Newtonville church. Miss Marion G. Greene, organist, and Miss Marjorie M. Dow, soloist, will be in charge of the musical portion of the program.

Those in charge of local arrangements are Mrs. Carl L. Swan, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, and Mrs. Hamilton M. Gifford, wife of the minister. Ushers for the service, under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Hudson, are the Mesdames Earl Curran, Albert Gray, William Gray, Harry Kinsel, Edward Raphael, John Rambeau and Harold DeWolfe.

The nursery, which will be open during the afternoon to care for children of all ages, will be supervised by Mrs. David Railsback.

Under the sponsorship of the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., World Day of Prayer is observed each year on the first Friday in Lent. According to tradition it originated in 1869 when a few Methodist women in Boston organized a society with the slogan, "Two cents a week and a prayer."

Last year the service was held in 17,000 communities in the United States, with an offering of $365,000, and women in 113 other countries participated.

On tomorrow, from the Fiji Islands to the St. Lawrence Islands in the Arctic region the circle of prayer will continue for twenty-four hours.

Approximately the same service as the one observed in the local church will be followed this year in 114 countries throughout the world. The theme for 1953 is "Walk as Children of Light" (Ephesians 5:8), and the country upon which the emphasis will be placed is Africa.

The offering taken at the service will be divided between the Division of Foreign Missions and the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches. It will contribute to the education of American Indians, low-income farm communities, and migrants in the United States. Money will also be sent to interdenominational Christian colleges in the Orient to services by the Committee on Friendly Relations among Foreign Students (of which there are 30,000 in this country) to the spreading of literary material for women and children in India, Japan, Egypt, Africa, and Latin America, and to emergency needs wherever they may arise throughout the world.

Importance of Will Stressed At Finance Forum For Women

The importance of keeping a will up-to-date by reviewing it once a year with an attorney familiar with your situation was stressed by J. Watson Flett who spoke at the final meeting of the Forum for Finance for Women recently at the Williams School in Auburndale.

Mr. Flett, a prominent attorney, termed living trusts "one of the greatest inventions" and one of the best methods for the conservation of an estate. By means of a properly drawn revocable trust, he stated, it is possible to set up in one's lifetime the plans one wishes for the future, in such a manner that your hands can still guide the plans even after death.

He cited many examples from his personal experiences of what can and what has happened when there was either no will or no adequate will. From these experiences, Mr. Flett declared, he had come to realize that many women because of their trustful and sympathetic natures hate to make decisions which might seem adverse to those they love, even if these decisions are for the good of these people in the long run.

Sentimentality should not, he said, be placed above and before objectives. When determining one's objectives, one must be sure to keep in mind the advantages of a living trust which can be most beneficial in conserving assets for the estate, even if the assets are mainly homes and life insurance.

The Forum, an annual event, was given under the sponsorship of the Newton Savings Bank and the presidents of the Federated Women's Clubs of Newton. Joseph Earl Perry, president of the Newton Savings Bank, introduced Mr. Flett and stated that the bank was pleased to present the Forum series as an educational service to the women of Newton.

with a common objective in the presence of the facts do not have too much trouble coming into agreement. — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The Newton Graphic is to be congratulated upon its editorial which appeared in the February 12th issue entitled "Firm Stand Needed."

An abnormally brutal attack on a 14-year-old defenseless Jewish boy in Newton Centre by a gang of ruthless teen-agers has not only shocked and aroused our own community but has received attention and discussion on a nationwide scale.

It is regrettable that the Graphic's editorial made no reference nor mention of parental responsibilities with regard to these misguided young thugs. Where were the parents of these junior hoodlums and what steps are the families taking to straighten out their wayward offspring?

So far as community responsibility is concerned, Mayor Lockwood of Newton pulled a prize boner in attempting to shrug the entire matter off by declaring that direct action "would only magnify" the seriousness of the problem.

I disagree with that portion of your editorial that suggests the mayor is to be "applauded" for now reversing his stand. This was done only when overwhelming public opinion and political expediency made it imperative for him to do so.

Mayor Lockwood's initial attitude of inaction and complacency indicates a frigid and flagrant lack of sympathy. Would he have been so coolly indifferent if a child of his own had been chusetts a state in which we allow business and industry to prosper."

mistreated so viciously?

Upon such misguided attitudes by public officials may be initiated such inactions that may be construed by our young deluded gangsters as a lackadaisical semi-tolerance of prejudice and bigotry. Assuredly, nothing of the sort was ever intended within the structure of our democracy.

This being National Brotherhood Week, it is a most appropriate time for all to re-examine ourselves with regard to living more strictly within the precepts of the Golden Rule.

Dr. Solomon M. Kozol.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The entire Newton community is deeply shocked and grieved by the cruel and cowardly attack of a group of hoodlums on a fourteen-year-old boy last Saturday night, Feb. 7th, on Ward street. So vicious was this attack that the youngster has been confined in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in a very critical condition.

The citizens of Newton I am sure, will not allow this situation to snowball into a condition which now exists in Roxbury and Dorchester, where no one is safe on the streets after dark.

These hoodlums should be punished to the fullest extent of the law and not be allowed to roam our streets again. Left to their own devices, there is no doubt that we would see a repetition of this frightful incident.

Let's nip this thing in the bud now, and let it be known in no uncertain terms that Newton will not tolerate a performance of this kind again.

Newton has always been a city to be proud of. Let's keep it that way.

(Mrs. David M.)

Sylvia Goodman.

Telephone installation-repair trucks in front of company garage at 95 Canal Street, Quincy

What are the differences between these 2 telephone trucks?

The truck on the right is a 1941 model. The one on the left was purchased in 1952. That accounts for the difference in design — the difference in the windshield, the position of the ladder and the different bumper. But there's one more difference between the two trucks — you could look all day and not find it. That difference is inflation.

In 1941 we paid $681 for the truck on the right and its equipment. Do you know what the comparable model with similar equipment costs us now? $1,927! The new truck is designed and equipped to do the same job as the older one. But what a difference in price!

Nearly everything we buy has increased this same way, therefore rates have had to go up, too. But when you compare the cost of telephone service with its everyday value in your home, you'll see it's still a big bargain.

Central Players to Perform Act Comedy on Two Nights

The Central Players, directed by Miss Mary Louise Wetherbee, well-known dramatic coach, have completed rehearsals for "Little of," a 3-act comedy farce by Arvid Wilde, which the Central Club will present for their annual show tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday at Woodward Hall in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

The Central Club's policy is to select only such plays which have proved to be successes. "Little of," replete with hilarious situations, was one of the big hits during the past decade and considered tops in entertainment.

The feminine lead will be played by Betty Tobey, who has been a pretty and vivacious Betty Tobey who consistently captivates her audience. Miss Tobey has starred in such well known plays as "The Show-Off," "Arnie and Old Lace," "My Friend Ma," and "Nothing But The Truth."

She brings to her audience a friendly and refreshing appeal and a mastery of dramatic technique indicating extensive training. These qualities have endeared her to patrons of amateur theatricals in this vicinity and have made her an outstanding favorite.

Russell F. Baker of Waltham, who starred recently in "Papa All" presented by the Hovey Players, will play the difficult role of Scarlati, sinister head of crime syndicate.

Alvin S. Whitmore, who is known for his acting and play-righting ability, will play the role of "Little Shot." Lawrence Chamberlain, who excels in comedy parts, makes a very important contribution to the performance.

Other parts are played by Mr. and Mrs. John F. McGrath, newcomers to The Central Players Group. The McGraths have a fine background of collegiate dramatics and help make up a well-balanced cast which should assure an evening of exciting and rewarding entertainment.

To Portray Role In Simmons Play

Nancy Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Hood of 115 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, will play the part of the carpenter in Alice in Wonderland at the annual Simmons College senior formal supper party tonight (Thursday) in Bartol Hall at the college.

Miss Hood, who has participated in many college activities, is a sophomore at the School of Science. Members of the Student Government Council will be costumed like characters from Alice in Wonderland, and other students will enact a play based on the story.

Rabbi Mandel To Exchange Pulpit Sunday

Rabbi Irving A. Mandel, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom of Newton will speak at the Unitarian Society of Wellesley Hills this Sunday. His pulpit will be occupied by the minister of the church, Dr. William B. Rice, on Friday, February 20, at the Sabbath Eve Services. Dr. Rice's sermon will be on the topic, "If I Were A Jew," while Rabbi Mandel in preaching to the members of the Unitarian Society of Wellesley Hills has chosen, "I Am A Unitarian-Plus."

Tells How Courts Treating Juvenile Delinquent Cases

Judge G. Bruce Robinson of the Boston Juvenile explained the role of the courts in treating juvenile delinquency Sunday morning at a large gathering of the Temple Reyim Brotherhood and their guests at the Temple, West Newton.

He outlined steps taken to eradicate certain problems and added that "offenses toward society by children are generally attributed to broken homes, emotional disturbances, physical defects, lack of relationship between parents and children, and failure of parents to give the proper recreational guidance after school."

"The latter causes," said the judge, "are the major factors contributing to paths of crime and desolation. The court and its various agencies, both public and private, have definite programs outlined to rehabilitate the youngsters involved so that they may become useful citizens in society."

Preceding the talk, a breakfast was served to the members and guests. The opening prayer was given by Lewis B. Alfred, associate chaplain of the Brotherhood. Rabbi Harold D. Kastle, spiritual leader of Temple Reyim, led the chanting of the grace after the meal.

Seated at the head table were Rabbi Kastle, Judge Robinson, Nathan Goldstein, president of the Brotherhood; Edward Rosenwald, program chairman; and Dr. Davis Erlmutter, president of Temple Reyim.

The committee in charge of the breakfast consisted of Charles Hersh, chef; Harry Shaffman, Saul Chipman, Mac Greenburg, Charles Kaufman and Joe Liner. The next breakfast will be held March 22.

15 Men, Smallest Draft Group In Six Months, Given Sendoff

The smallest local draft contingent in the past six months was given a sendoff at Selective Service Headquarters in Newtonville last week as 15 Newton youths left for the Boston Army Base and induction into the armed services.

This month's group included seven from Board 116 and four each from Boards 115 and 117. The quota is Newton's lowest since last August, when only seven were drafted.

Pen and pencil sets as gifts of the city were presented to each inductee by Edmund T. Dungan, commissioner of veterans services for Newton. Coffee and doughnuts were served by the Newton Red Cross Chapter under the supervision of Miss Mary Furlong and Mrs. Deborah Clark.

Servicemen's rights were outlined in a brief talk by Edward Cunningham, junior vice-commander of the Newton American Legion Post. J. Joseph Ward, commander of the post, also spoke to the group.

Other veterans organizations officials introduced to the group were Nuncio J. Pellegrini, service officer of the Nonantum American Legion Post; Harry Kane, past commander of Thomas Burnett Camp, USWV; Al Farness, commander of Sgt. George Carson Post, American Legion; and Joseph Greco, a member of the Nonantum Post.

The roll was read by Hugh S. Boyd of Board 115, assisted by Theresa Evangelista, clerk. The ceremonies were under the direction of William J. Maloney, chairman of UVON.

rights—that was the essence of the serpent story in the garden of Eden, and it is to me the fundamental principle involved in the events which have transpired in Newton during the last few days.

"When you look upon the placid surface of sweet reasonableness that is evidenced in a city like Newton, you don't realize how close beneath the surface are the treacherous riptides of emotion.

They lurk very close to the surface, ready to destroy the unsuspecting. We aren't too far, today, from the early stage of human development which was outlined in the book of Genesis. We aren't too far from the elemental rule of fang and claw, and those strong emotional surges and urges which are just beneath the surface of our community life. They must be charted and understood and guarded against if we are going to continue to be civilized human beings, and to live together in a well-ordered community.

"... We may nurse some dark feeling of inferiority within ourselves which can burst out one day in cruel disparagement or violent injury toward the one who seems to us to have gotten a better break from life than we have. We can do it; I've seen it every day.

And it was in evidence a week ago last night in Newton Centre. We may burst out because we nurse these feelings of inferiority. We like to take grudges; we like to feel slighted where no slights were intended. We like to interpret remarks as disparaging, when those remarks were made in all innocence.

"We may commit murder before we have fully grasped what murder is. Not physical murder, perhaps, but physical murder is only a small part of individual destruction which we can perpetrate. What about character assassination? ... We may commit murder in subtler ways than physical. We may retail some poisonous gossip, not maliciously, but for the fun of saying something exciting, of making ourselves important in the eyes of those who are listening to us. ... And then we are amazed when the man we helped to slander is a suicide, or that the husband and wife that we smeared in our desire to gossip are getting a divorce. The damage goes far beyond any obvious deed. The results outrun the will intended.

"Now against this background let us for a moment consider some of these isolated instances in Newton. The injury of the Berger boy was an isolated incident. He just happened to get in the way of this gang who were out looking for trouble; and he and his two companions were attacked by five boys. He was seriously injured, his two companions were not. That may have been an isolated incident. It is true that one boy asked the direct question, 'Are you a Jew?' And therein lies a seed of an idea of attitude. It may be the fuse which, when lighted, will blow up the whole powderkeg of tensions which exist in our city. I don't think so. I think that we have succeeded in snuffing out the fuse at the moment.

"But here is another isolated incident. The son of a family who belong to this church had his wagon smashed to bits by a gang of teen-aged boys from Brighton. Another family in this church have had quite a lot of vandalism done to their property by the gang coming over the hill from Brighton. That's an isolated incident, but it is also a straw in the wind.

"I think when the gang of twenty boys from Nonantum picked on the usher at the Paramount Theatre down at Newton Corner, hung him over the balcony, and told the policeman who was called that if he made one move they'd drop the usher; and then moved out one by one until the last two turned the usher around so that he could get his hands on the balcony railing, and then moved out without any interference—I think that out any interference—I think that is also an isolated incident, but it is another straw in the wind.

Dr. Edwin Booth To Speak At Newtonville Methodist Church

The World Day of Prayer on February 20th, proclaimed annually as the first Friday in Lent, will be observed in the City of Newton at 2:00 o'clock in the Newtonville Methodist Church, Newtonville Square. Within the same twenty-four hour period, in over 18,000 communities in the United States and in 115 countries throughout the world, approximately the same service will be followed.

The speaker will be Dr. Edwin P. Booth, professor of Historical Theology at Boston University, and author of "The Greater Church" and "Through Experience to Faith." The Reverend Hamilton M. Gifford, minister of the church, will be in charge of the offering, which will be divided equally between the Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Miss Marion C. Green, organist, and Miss Marjorie M. Dow, soloist, have planned the musical portion of the program.

The ushers, under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Hudson, will be Mrs. Earl Curran, Mrs. Albert Gray, Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. Harry Kinsel, Mrs. Edward Raphael, Mrs. John Rambeau, and have had that background of insecurity, of unsureness, and of inferiority. Police prejudice in parents becomes activated in children. And these symptoms of the gangs who are travelling throughout our streets in Newton are but symptoms of a deep-seated malady which exists in our body politic.

"... Community complacency as an avoidance of responsibility cannot be tolerated. The fact that the Chief of Police tells me that we had only 51 complaints of assault in 1951, and it is very seldom that we have any complaints of assault, or of vandalism.

If you would talk with some of the people as I have, in various sections of the community, you would realize they have given up calling the police because nothing happens. You have to catch the youngsters in the act of vandalism or the policeman's hands are tied. And this complacency on the part of the city fathers, and on the part of the police, is the protective coloration which they assume because they are powerless by themselves to meet the situation and to resolve it.

"I'd like to tell you why. In Massachusetts, supposedly one of the most enlightened Commonwealths in the United States, there is absolutely no juvenile program. There are no juvenile judges, trained in juvenile cases. The Judge Baker Foundation is the only foundation working with criminally involved youngsters. There isn't any preventive program State-wide. And any one who wants to be a Juvenile Judge has to be named as such by his political crony. And lo and behold he becomes an expert in juvenile problems. That's what happens in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"Then there is a lack of corrective program, which to my mind is both dangerous and inexcusable. It was a tragedy when the one young man who had the confidence and loyalty of these drifting young fellows in Newton Corner, who had established that Boy's Club in the vacant store down there next to Charlesbank Road, a man who could sit down on the curbstone and talk with these boys in the language they could understand, and could get their interests and their energies directed in constructive channels—it's a crime, it's a tragedy, I say, that he couldn't have been retained.

But there was no way in which we could find the additional thousand dollars that he wanted per year so that he could continue to live and to work with these young folks in Newton Corner. To me it is inexcusable that a program be allowed to die as important as that program was for lack of community support, lack of community planning. The lack of corrective program is dangerous, and a corrective program

These are realities, and what is more important, if they are practiced by all groups within the community, then we shall in the future be able to maintain the oneness of American culture and civilization. All groups can live with one another, can respect one another because they stand upon the same enduring foundations.

The Ministers of Newton met at Temple Shalom as the guests of the congregation for the Third Annual Institute on Judaism for Clergy. A day of academic fellowship was planned by the Temple's spiritual leader, Rabbi Irving A. Mandell. Mr. Sydney Adams, president of the Ministers' Association arranged the meeting of the Newton Ministers in conjunction with the Temple brotherhood program.

It is also planned to convert the present hand-fired coal furnaces into modern, oil burning heaters and build a new complete gymnasium for women and girls. It is also proposed that a new wrestling room and weight lifting room and a proper storage area be constructed.

The program recognizes the need for more dormitory space and calls for the building of 20 additional dormitory rooms above the new gymnasium. The completed program includes provisions for renovation of the present gymnasium, handball and squash courts, and badly needed modernization of certain other sections of the building.

Those invited to attend the dinner in addition to Bacon, Miller and Pettengill included Daniel Needham, Warren W. Oliver, Loomis Patrick, Christian A. Herter, Jr., Richard Lovell, E. Graham Bates, Frank A. Day Jr., Walter B. Hatfield, Winslow H. Adams, Thomas V. Cleveland, Rev. Hamilton F. Gifford and Norman H. S. Vincent.

hearing may be conducted.

The ordinance would forbid the construction of a garage "which is an integral part of a dwelling where the entrance to said garage is less than one foot above the established grade of the adjoining street, except where permission is obtained from the Board of Aldermen."

A spokesman for the builders, Alfred W. Halper of Oak Hill Park, declared the opposition to the ordinance was based on the fact that no exception is made for land in which there is adequate drainage.

He pointed out that, in order for a builder to obtain permission from the board, a wait of up to two months might be necessary. Much of the undeveloped land in Newton is low-lying, Mr. Halper said, and it would be "impossible" to develop it if the ordinance becomes a law.

The builders have prepared a counter-proposal, which will be presented before the claims and rules committee tomorrow.

Most family men with small children are more concerned about the next 20 years than any other time of life. They know their families need them — need their income during this time. If this proposal is adopted in law, it will result in a saving of at least $60,000 per year in the account alone. It seems to me every major objection to form schedule and on an equitable basis, and the new elements introduced are such as to protect the legislator against criticism.

Recreation Department Starts Pottery Course Next Month

The Newton Recreation Department as a part of its Adult Recreation program is planning to sponsor a course in Townline Pottery starting the first week in March and running for eight or ten weeks.

It will be conducted by Mrs. Albert G. LaPlante at her home studio at 405 Wolcott street, Auburn, where she has been teaching pottery and lamp making for several years. She received her training from Mr. Maxwell H. Fellows of Boston, the originator of the Townline Process.

Townline Pottery, which is the original non-fired, glazed pottery was first created in Albany, N. Y. by Mr. Fellows who at that time was Assistant Director of Art in the Albany public schools. After many years of tests and experiments he finally perfected a process which for the first time in history enabled the average person to do hard colorful glazed pottery without the use of a kiln or wheel.

His first major recognition came in 1941 when Mr. Fellows was invited to exhibit and demonstrate his process in the Hall of Inventions at the New York World's Fair.

It created a great deal of interest because of its ease of handling and its adaptability to the limited space and equipment of the home craftsman. Also recognized were its unlimited possibilities as a new medium in the hands of the creative artist.

Its use has spread throughout the United States and to many parts of the world due, in a large part, to the fact that it is being taught as a craft at the internationally known Penland School of Handicrafts in Penland, North Carolina. Here it has a separate department of its own and is being taught to people from all over the United States as well as students from as widely separated places as Israel and Hawaii.

Townline Pottery is not to be confused with fired pottery and it definitely is not a substitute for it. It is an entirely separate craft and skill which has its own uses and its own tradition. The process itself is a basically simple one which makes use of sheet glazes in a variety of patterns and colors and an especially prepared clay which sets overnight into an extremely hard and durable pottery. It has a wide appeal for all types and ages of persons. The average person with no artistic ability or previous craft training but with a tremendous urge to make something useful and beautiful, can create lovely things just by using stock moulds and sheet glazes of a color and pattern which appeals. Even very elderly people derive a great deal of pleasure from working in this medium.

However, in the hands of the artist or trained craftsman, it offers unlimited possibilities for the designing and creating of unusual pieces which would be difficult to carry out in any other medium.

A large variety of pottery pieces will be offered in the course for beginners such as tiles, plates, fruit bowls, book-ends, flower containers and the like.

The most popular project is the making of lamp bases which may be designed and carried out in any color and size and in several techniques.

A few of the many lamp styles available will be included in the beginners course which also includes the teaching of lamp wiring and the making of shades to complement the base. The shades are made from any of the thirty-five or more new washable fiber glasses and plastic laminated materials which have become so popular recently.

Since Townline Pottery is a craft which requires no special tools or equipment, the Newton Recreation Department is making available to the people of Newton a craft which can be carried on in the home as a hobby by people of any age, and with materials that are available locally.

The class will be held starting Wednesday, March 4th, either in the morning, from 9:30 to 12, or in the evening from 7:30 to 10, depending on which time has the greater response.

Place — Studio, 405 Wolcott street, Auburn, Mass. Number in class, 8. Cost, $6.00, covers basic cost of materials to be used in course. Registration, Recreation Department, Newton City Hall.

To Head Sports, News Radio Shows At Oberlin College

Jerome Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson of 20 Kenwood avenue, Newton Centre, recently was appointed editor of the news and sports program of station WOBC, the radio station at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio.

Mr. Nelson, a freshman in the department of arts and sciences at Oberlin, is a 1952 graduate of Newton High School.

The radio station, only two years old, makes tape recordings of all recitals and concerts given in the conservatory of music, in addition to its programs of music, news and drama.

Pooling Energies For Aid to Blind

Once again the women of Newton are pooling their energies to make the 1953 sale for the blind a great success.

On March 11 and 12 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be the scene of great activity when groups from local clubs and churches will staff the tables displaying articles made by the blind.

The sale is being sponsored by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs with Mrs. Donald Mackenzie, chairman.

The First Baptist Church of Newton Centre is in charge of the Snack Bar which will open all day. Luncheon will be served from 11:30 to 2 p.m. For groups unable to get to the sale a sample kit is available by contacting Mrs. Arthur Charney BI 4-8875. There is no admission charge and everyone is invited to come and buy their household articles, aprons and beautiful woven goods at their usual low price.

This is an opportunity to help the blind help themselves as every penny made at the sale goes directly to the person who made it.

"What kind of town?" I said, laughing.

Natick Woman Wins Trip To Bermuda In Holiday Contest

A Natick woman, who entered only one ticket in the Bermuda Holiday Contest at Shoppers' World, "because I never win anything," will leave for Bermuda March 2 in spite of herself.

Virginia Clark, 61 Walnut st., Natick, was the winner of an all-expense paid, seven day trip for two to Bermuda in a drawing at Shoppers' World Tuesday.

Two more free trips to this famous vacation paradise will be given away in a continuous contest, which runs at the shopping center until March 14. With the drawing of each winner, a new contest starts. The next drawing is March 2.

"I don't know why I filled out the one ticket in the Idea Box. I come to Shoppers' World all the time but never bothered to enter the contest because I've never been lucky," Miss Clark said.

No purchase of merchandise is required to enter the Bermuda Contest. Visitors may enter one ticket from every Shoppers' World store every shopping day.

Just as excited as Miss Clark is Barbara Smith, dietitian at the Walnut Hill School in Natick. Miss Clark asked her to accompany her on the trip.

"I never even entered the contest, but have always wanted to go to Bermuda. Isn't it wonderful I know Virginia," Miss Smith added excitedly.

The trip will be quite an event for the pair as neither have ever flown on a commercial airline before. They leave by Pan American Clipper March 2. While in Bermuda they will stay at the famous Castle Harbour Hotel.

Newton Lions Hear Dr. Edw. Landy

Thursday, February 12, Dr. Edward Landy talked before the Newton Lions Club on "Better Guidance Opportunities for High School Students."

Dr. Landy stated that vocational guidance is a very necessary item, but a fairly difficult one. Students, unfamiliar with most job opportunities, find it very difficult in selecting their first vocation. Personal makeup, Dr. Landy continued, is an important factor in adapting mentally to a particular job.

A project has been initiated by the service clubs of Newton, which is entirely voluntary. Forms have been printed which are available from the Division of Counseling of the Newton Public Schools. The forms are filled in by employers in Newton, which will give youngsters information on the type of work the employer performs. The information is compiled by the Counseling Office, and when students desire more complete details, they can be referred to the particular employer, e.g. advice on the building industry. Dr. Landy has emphasized that no employer will be asked to interview any student unless the employer has indicated his desire to do so.

A second part of the project is aimed at obtaining a brief survey of employment opportunities in Newton. Forms for this are also available from the Counseling Office. The employer may list some or all job classifications in his business, with general or particular specifications, e.g. age preference, length of time for employment, educational and

Newton Banks Show Paintings

Elizabeth deVieg's black and white drawings bring a new note to the ever popular bank exhibits in Newton Centre. The savings bank is showing a collection of her expertly rendered pen and ink sketches. A medium in which she has professional command. Mrs. deVieg is an active member of several art associations and president of the Rocky Neck art group in East Gloucester, where she has a summer studio. Well schooled in this means of expression she finds her reproductions in constant demand. The show extends from February 24 to March 9.

Helen Hegenaver's paintings will be on exhibition at the National Bank on Beacon street from February 24 to March 9. Six years of study in London schools of art have given Mrs. Hegenaver an ease and confidence in drawing clearly shown in her pencil and pastel portraits. As a volunteer in the U.S.O. and in Veteran Hospitals during the war she made hundreds of sketches which were mailed out to service men's families all over the country. Through this intensive practice the artist has developed a fine perception in capturing the elusive human element of her subjects.

Madeleine Jealous is exhibiting landscapes and flowers at the Trust Company in Newton Centre square. The background of Mrs. Jealous' formal art education includes study at the National Academy, N. Y. and the Berkshire Summer School, Monterey, Mass. Local John Fuser in oil and Polly Nordell in watercolor have been her teachers. Her paintings are executed with knowledge and care, and in many shows have exhibited in Worcester, Gloucester, Wellesley and here in Newton. Starting on February 24, this showing will remain for two weeks.

As I leave for Florida and new adventures, I count among my blessings the privilege of working with The Graphic staff; Mr. John W. Fielding, managing editor, under whose guidance these society pages recently have been chosen, "Best in New England" by the NEWPA; and the publishers, Mr. Richard W. Davis and Mr. Frank W. Massey, whose newspaper is the recognized voice of the citizens of Newton.

In parting, may I wish Newton Graphic readers the greatest of happiness and success—God bless you all.

In fairness to yourself you should see our huge stock of Oriental Rugs before you buy another rug. We have the largest selection of Oriental Rugs of any suburban store in America. We specialize in only the better types of Orientals. It is almost unbelievable that we can sell these rugs for the price of ordinary rugs. We can give you these low prices because of our low suburban overhead, and because Mr. Gregorian picks from bales and bales of imported rugs only those that meet his critical approval for price and quality. Be the envy of your friends. Don't buy just any rug — buy Gregorian Rugs.

N.W. Hospital Medical Staff
Elects Dr. Eades President

At the annual meeting of the medical staff of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, held at Usen Auditorium at the hospital Monday, the body elected officers for the coming year.

Incoming as president is Dr. M. Fletcher Eades, as vice president Dr. Edward J. Sawyer, while Dr. Gerald G. Garcelon will continue as secretary and Dr. J. Robert Lyman as treasurer. Drs. Ronald Adams and John Richardson have been elected to the executive committee.

Speaking before the assembled members of the hospital's medical staff, Dr. John Condon, public education director of the Massachusetts Medical Society, outlined the importance of community relations between the physician and the members of the social groups in which he lives and carries on his practice.

Said Dr. Condon, "In order to evaluate the physician of today, we must first evaluate the doctor of former years. He was a factor in the community. His advice and counsel were sought. He operated in fields outside of medicine."

"Today's doctor has become more specialized," Dr. Condon continued. "He is a busy man and may feel that he has little free time for civic activities."

Yet Dr. Condon urges the doctor of today to assume a more active role in community affairs. He can then serve as a listening post and be better aware of the community's desires and feelings. He can sense the needs for and the reactions to his profession.

Dr. Condon stated that it was important for the physician of today to combine a sense of realism with a sense of humility.

Elected as chairman of the resident and intern committee was Dr. Joseph E. Ferrone. Serving with him will be Drs. Gerald G. Garcelon, Raymond E. Johnson, Edgar M. Holmes, Richard S. Nugent, Charles A. Thompson and David Skinner.

Dr. John K. Brines heads the library committee and will have Drs. William J. Taggart, Frank G. Sheddan Jr., Charles A. Lamb and Hugh L. Robinson; Miss Myrtle L. Fuller, R.N., and Mrs. Myriel DePopolo. Dr. Theodore D. Clark will serve as chairman of the record committee and will have with him Drs. Thomas E. Chretien, Herbert G. Dunphy and Edward L. Prien.

The credentials committee will be led by Dr. Richard I. Smith, with Drs. George Prather and Egon E. Kattwinkel as committee members. The tissue committee will have Dr. David Skinner, chairman, Dr. Arthur D. Baldwin and Dr. Richard I. Smith.

The pharmacy committee will be headed by Dr. Walter O. Blanchard, and Drs. Wilmer P. Heath, Crestor W. White, Jr. and the chief pharmacist will also serve.

Red Cross Must Be Ready To Give The Help That's Needed

Because so many people turn to the Red Cross when they need help, the Red Cross must be ready at all times to give the help that's needed.

F. Brittain Kennedy, Chairman of the Newton Red Cross Fund, which starts March 1st, called on everyone in the community to make the campaign a success.

Unfailing friend of the disaster distressed, the serviceman and his family with personal problems, the sick, injured and wounded who need blood, the Red Cross this year must raise more money than any year since World War II.

"If you have ever had a child, or loved a child," the chairman said, "you will come to the aid of the Red Cross this year."

"The wonderful blood program that has helped save so many lives right here at home and across the seas in Korea is being expanded."

"This is the main reason for the increase in campaign goals, the principal reason why our gifts this year must be more generous."

"Love for children through the Red Cross — exemplified so often in the loving care given by hospital volunteers and Motor Service drivers — goes beyond this point now in the new gamma globulin work."

"Imagine it, if you will," Mr. Kennedy continued, "the blood program has been expanded through the help of the Defense Department to provide the blood product that will be used this summer in epidemic areas where children will be exposed to the relentless crippling, polio."

"Science is on the march against this disease, and right now gamma globulin is the available weapon to help reduce the crippling pains of this disease.

"From the same pint of blood — a soldier in shock on an enemy battleground — a child at home perhaps stricken at the nearest playground — can be helped."

Most important at the present time for the campaign beginning within 10 days is to recruit people to knock on doors, ring bells, canvass a street or the streets in their own neighborhoods, in this important campaign.

Mr. Kennedy said that volunteers to serve in any capacity during March in collection of funds are needed. Emphasizing that the community wants to put the drive over the top in the quickest possible time, the fund leader said enrollments can be made now by contacting the chairman at LAcell 7-6000 or Bigelow 4-9590.

Do you like to sew? You can help with the mending at Red Feather hospitals and social agencies. If you have a few hours, call Volunteer Service Bureau at Richmond 2-200.

Climaxes Fight Against Polio With World's Skating Crown

Climaxing her battle against polio which started five years ago, 17-year-old Tenley Albright of Oak Hill skated her way to the world's championship in ladies' figure skating Sunday
in Switzerland.

A Hollywood script writer
could not have concocted a better scenario for the story of the Newton girl's rise from her polio
sickbed to become the first woman in history to take the world
title for United States.

Her brilliant display of skating artistry set her head-and-shoulders above the international field
which had gathered at the Davos
ice rink in pursuit of the coveted title.

All seven judges—only one of which was American—voted Miss Albright first place in the grueling two-day contest. Near-zero temperatures and slashing winds knocked two skaters from the finals and made the Sunday competition a nightmare for some of the skaters.

But there was little doubt once her skates touched the ice on the five-acre rink that Tenley would win the crown. In the compulsory figures Saturday, she had piled up such a commanding lead
that only a complete about-face
could deprive her of the championship.

The new champion refused to relax in her free-skating routine,
however, and gave a display of precision and daring that was far above any other skater's performance. With deceptive ease, Tenley executed all the difficult maneuvers in the book — and then added a few of her own.

The spangles on her light
cherry-colored costume glistened
gaily in the sun as she whirled around the rink as if on a Sunday spin on a frozen lake near home. But the same weather so weakened a British girl that she had to be helped from the rink
after falling twice.

"That wind was really wicked," Tenley said after leaving the ice.
"It was very hard on your throat. The ice was good, however."

Despite her title, Tenley does not intend to turn professional
as the previous women's champions have done. Instead, she plans to study medicine with an aim toward becoming a doctor,
like her father, while continuing to skate "as long as I can."

Tenley, the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hollis L. Albright of 167 Dudley road, Oak Hill, has been skating since she was nine years old.

She entered active competition
at the age of 11, but suffered an attack of non-paralytic polio. Returning to skating for its therapeutic value, she won the Eastern United States juvenile title only four months after being stricken.

In three years she progressed
to the Eastern United States
junior and National junior championships, and in 1951 Ten-ley traveled more than 21,000 miles to compete in skating
throughout the country.

Last year the slim Manter Hall School student placed third in the Olympic women's figure skating,
and she was a runner-up for the world crown in Paris last February.

She has been preparing at Manter Hall for Radcliffe College to prepare for medical school. Tenley, whose teachers say she is one of the brightest students in her class, decided on the medical profession after being struck with infantile paralysis.

Her victory in Switzerland was witnessed by her parents and by Willie Frick, her teacher at the Boston Skating Club. A brother, Nile, 13, was unaware Sunday night that his sister had won the world championship and was competing in a speed skating championship in New York.

Council of Parent-Teachers Ass'n

A meeting of the Newton Council of the Parent-Teachers Association was held at the Cabot
School on Thursday, February 12. Mr. Horace Ransom, president, opened the meeting by introducing the following new members: Mr. Carlton M. Singleton, principal of the new Countryside School; Mr. Henry
W. Keyes, member of the School Committee; Mrs. Meyer Ritvo, Public Relations officer for the Council; Mr. William Hopkins,
new Underwood School PTA
president; Mr. Gilbert Cox, new Oak Hill PTA president.

Mrs. Hannah Levensohn of the Newton Red Cross gave an enlightening talk on Gamma Globulin as it relates to poliomyelitis.
She stressed that it is the hope that one million children will receive the protection of this serum before the next epidemic. The public is urged to donate blood which will be processed into Gamma Globulin.

Mr. Benjamin Bereson, chairman of the Skating Carnival committee, reported on the progress of that group. The Carnival will take place at the Boston Skating Club on Monday, February 23rd
and is open to parents and children of Newton. Tickets may be purchased at the schools and from Mrs. Manuel Beckwith, Bigelow 4-6595. The planning group includes representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Elks, Kiwanis and the Lions Club. Valuable prizes have been contributed by these civic-minded organizations.

Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, Executive Secretary, extended an invitation from the Bnai B'rith, Joshua Loth Leibman Lodge, to attend a film on Human Relations which will be shown at the Newtonville Library, February 26,
at 8 p.m.

A report on the Radio-Television committee was given by the chairman, Mrs. Harry Brenner.

Special stress was given to the current issue about an educational channel on T.V. The Massachusetts legislature is considering the report of a special commission on Educational TV headed by Senator Phillips of Beverly.
This commission was established to investigate TV Channel 2, which has been set aside by the Federal Communications Commission for a special educational,
non-commercial station in Massachusetts. The Newton Council, along with most other PTAs in the state, has gone on record as favoring the approval of the channel. The public is urged to write to the representatives to inform them of their interest and approval.

The last feature of the evening
was a colored film of the High School students' trip to Idaho Falls last fall. Mr. Charles O.
Richter, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, discussed the Newton School-away-from-school program on the elementary and the high school level. Following this, Mr. Richter introduced Miss Catherine Curtis, of the Newton
High School staff, who accompanied the group to Idaho. Miss Curtis pointed out that the exchange trip is really a school on wheels and that the trip involved
a great deal of study preparation in advance. The students in Idaho who were hosts to our group will pay an exchange visit to Newton next month.

Temple Shalom Host to Men's Church Groups

Brotherhood-in-Action will take place at Temple Shalom, West Newton, on Tuesday when Temple Shalom Brotherhood plays host at a dinner to the men's groups of the First Unitarian Society and the Second Church in West Newton.

Bertram Lowenberg, president of the Brotherhood, announces that this affair has been planned to coincide with Brotherhood Week. He said it has been planned to repay in some measure the Newton churches for their hospitality to the Temple during the past few years when these churches have offered their quarters in the past to the congregation.

Don Daniels is chairman of the dinner which will start at 7 p.m. Friends and guests are welcome.

Slides of Newton Introduced at Jackson Homestead

A set of Kodachrome slides based on historic landmarks in the City of Newton was recently given an initial showing to a group of Newton women. The collection includes such subjects as the Eliot Memorial where John Eliot preached to the Indians, the old spun silk mill in Newton Upper Falls, Echo Bridge, St. Mary's Church, the old Whittemore's Tavern, and a considerable set of houses, still standing in Newton, which date from before 1700 to 1850.

First to see the recently acquired slides was the Business Women's Group of Eliot Church in Newton, who made a return visit to the Homestead on Monday evening. Having seen the house in the early days of its restoration, they were eager to inspect the progress of Newton's community museum. Miss O. Beatrice Forknall is the leader of this group.

Group 2 from the same organization, under Mrs. Norman Millard, also met at the Homestead on Tuesday, and were given the second showing of the new slides by Mrs. Madeleine A. Arnold, Director at the Homestead.

Other groups desiring a program based on the Newton slides, either at the Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton, or at a regular place of meeting, may make arrangements by calling DE 2-3920.

NEWTON'S OWN TENLEY ALBRIGHT. Women's World Figure Skating Champion, proudly holds the medal which she was awarded after winning the honor at Davos, Switzerland, this month, while her brother, Nile, looks on admiringly. Despite the arduous welcome home ceremonies held here in her honor Monday, Miss Albright graciously posed with her brother for this picture in the living room of her home after the city's Welcome Home exercises were conducted. Newton's Own Tenley Albright Given Enthusiastic and Warm Welcome Home

A full-fledged parade, whipped into shape over the past week by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, provided a triumphant entrance back to her home town Monday for a tired but happy Tenley Albright.

More than 5000 Newton residents turned out to greet the 17-year-old world champion figure skater as she rode along a parade route to Newton High School, where she was received by city officials.

Tenley said she appreciated the parade even more than the elaborate celebrations that marked her trip home-bound across Europe. But she was still glad, after the ceremony, to reach her home at 167 Dudley road, Newton Centre, for an afternoon of rest.

The Paris celebration of her unprecedented victory lasted until 4 a.m. the morning before she boarded her plane for Logan Airport.

"She was so tired that she couldn't sleep on the Atlantic crossing," explained Tenley's mother, Mrs. Hollis L. Albright.

But she was not too exhausted to greet enthusiastically the hundreds of Newton boys and girls who swarmed around the doorways to the Newton High auditorium. She took roses from her giant bouquets and passed them out singly to the girls around her until the bouquets had vanished.

Then, after signing autographs, she entered the auditorium for the ceremonies. Tenley repeated her denial that she would become a professional skater and reaffirmed her intention of studying medicine to become a doctor like her father.

The entire parade, however, might have been staged without Tenley as its main attraction had not Stuart Spaulding, president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, double and triple-checked the arrangements.

The Pan-American Airlines Stratocruiser had left Paris as scheduled with the group safely aboard, but the ship was 15 minutes ahead of schedule by the time it reached Shannon, Ireland. At that rate, the craft would have arrived in the early morning darkness at the airport long before the welcoming group had arisen.

Mr. Spaulding had checked with Paris to make certain the Albrights were aboard, and he checked again at Shannon when the plane was due there. Finding it ahead of schedule, he asked PAA authorities to hold it there a little longer than usual.

Even so, the airplane and the more than 100 early-risers from Newton both made the airport at virtually the same time. The ship had been scheduled to land at 8:40 a.m., but it actually

Highland Glee Club's Second Concert of Season March 10

The Highland Glee Club of Newton will present its second local concert of the 1952-1953 season on Tuesday, March 10, at 8:15 p.m., in the Newton High School Auditorium.

The male chorus will be heard in the 98th home offering by the wide public following and sponsoring membership from Newton and neighboring towns under the talented direction of D. Ralph Maclean and with James Gray as accompanist.

The club will again present a distinguished guest artist on the program. Assisting in the Spring concert will be Albert M. Basso, baritone, in leader and art songs for which he has acquired an outstanding reputation.

Though a native of Illinois, he has become well known to music lovers in New England having been in Boston several years at the New England Conservatory of Music, where he acquired his Master's Degree and is now completing an Artist Diploma course.

In the mid-west he has filled numerous oratorio and concert engagements and has appeared in the greater Boston area with choral organizations in Arlington, Cohasset, Framingham, and Lexington.

Idaho Falls School Pupils Here April 1

Eagerly Looking Forward To Visit To This City Under Exchange Plan

Mrs. Ida Holden, president of the Idaho Falls School Board, Idaho, was the guest of Mrs. Genevieve O'neley, of the Newton School Committee, this week-end.

Thirty students from Newton High School were guests in Idaho last fall in the first phase of a School and School Exchange with Idaho Falls High School. Their hosts and hostesses in Idaho will arrive in Newton April 6 for the completion of the Exchange.

During their week's stay here, the visiting students will attend classes, become temporary members of Newton families, and study and visit important features of this region in company with their hosts and hostesses in Newton High School. Faculty members accompanying them will be Mr. Elmer Crowley, principal of their school, and Miss Faye Norris, dean of girls.

Mrs. Holden has been a member of the Idaho Falls School Board for several years, and before being elected president of the Board, was its secretary. She played a very important part in planning the new senior high

Red Cross Fund Campaign Quota For Newton This Year Is Set At $105,500

Organization Of Y Campaign Is Proceeding

Special Gifts Committee Starts This Week To Enlist Sponsorships

The fifty members of the Special Gifts Committee of the Newton YMCA 75th Anniversary Building Fund Campaign this week began calling on a special group of Newton citizens to enlist their sponsorship and support for the coming campaign.

Organization of the campaign is proceeding at a rapid pace according to YMCA officials. An attractive folder entitled "Twenty Questions" explaining the important features of the campaign and what it will accomplish has been completed and is available to anyone who would like a copy.

One of the questions, "What does the 'Y' do for boys?" is answered by the simple statement that the Newton YMCA has one of the busiest boys' programs in New England. This program is carried on by a well trained Youth Work staff.

Some 950 boys with active memberships are entitled to participate in the extensive program set up by the Y's Youth Work Committee headed by Fred T. Hackley and conducted under the direction of John E. Danielson, Youth Work Secretary; David B. Potts, Associate Youth Work Secretary; and Bruno Ottavi, a member of the Youth Work Staff.

The program dovetails into the Physical Education phase of the work and activities are planned for the boys as they come from schools on weekdays, and for their free time on Saturdays, holidays or vacations. There are two groups, one for Newton boys who complete their school days earlier than those who make up the second group, from out of town and Parochial schools.

The activities include ping pong, pool, miniature bowling, checkers and chess. At the present moment the boys are eagerly awaiting the arrival of a new magnetic baseball game.

A one-hour craft class each week is attended by 75 boys. In these classes the boys work with wood, leather and copper. They construct models, work at wood carving, linoleum blocks and weaving.

"Rain, snow, nothing seems to faze them," Mr. Potts noted in commenting on the consistent attendance of the boys in the Youth Work Program which has seen the addition of 100 boys since last year.

Three Gray-Y Clubs for elementary school boys between the ages of 9 to 12 operate within the framework of the overall program. One, the Beavers and Otters is for Newton school boys. A second, the Gophers and Badgers is for boys attending out of town and Parochial schools. A third Gray-Y Club is made up of boys from Needham. All three hold weekly meetings under the direction of adult leaders. In addition Gray-Y members engage in other activities including bowling and crafts. These groups also attend professional sports events.

A twelve member ping pong team composed of high school age boys is at this writing undefeated in play with other YMCA teams. Another activity is the Stamp Club which meets weekly with a volunteer leader. A Bowling Club of 25 members also holds meetings once each week.

Volpe Is Made Head of Dept. Public Works

John A. Volpe, Malden contractor and nationally known Italo-American business leader, was today appointed by Governor Christian A. Herter as the new head of the Department of Public Works.

Volpe, a leader in the Republican party for two decades, will fill the position left vacant last week by resignation of Commissioner William R. Callahan, a Democrat.

Is an Increase Of 16 Percent Over Last Year

Calls for An All Intensive Effort On Part Of The Campaign Workers

Newton's share in the National Red Cross 1953 campaign for $93,000,000 to support vitally needed Red Cross services at home and abroad, has been set at $105,500, according to Mr. F. Brittain Kennedy, Newton's 1953 Fund Chairman. "This represents an increase of 16% over the amount raised by Newton last year," said Mr. Kennedy, "and calls for intensive effort on the part of all of our campaign organization."

"It also calls for an appreciation of the very real need for additional funds. There are two main reasons for the increase, the first of which is the gamma globulin program which for the first time will be carried forward this year by the American National Red Cross. Gamma globulin, a blood fraction, was extensively distributed last year in epidemic polio areas and it was found to have a helpful effect in reducing the incidence of paralysis due to polio. We must underscore the fact that Red Cross will not be responsible for the distribution of gamma globulin. Red Cross has been asked to collect and process some 2,000,000 pints of blood this year for gamma globulin. Distribution will be handled by agencies

More Than 500 Attend Day of Prayer Here

34th Annual Observance Held At Newtonville Methodist Church

Participating in the 34th observance of a world wide Day of Prayer, approximately 500 women in Newton joined 18,000 communities in the United States and 115 countries throughout the world by attending a church service, sponsored by the Newton Council of Church Women, held last Friday at the Newtonville Methodist Church.

In accordance with a proclamation issued by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, church bells pealed at noon to call people to pray for "light to guide us, courage to support us, and love to unite us."

The circle of prayer, begun in the Fiji Islands at the first of the twenty-four hour period and ending on St. Lawrence Island in the Arctic regions, had as its theme "Walk as Children of Light," and Africa was the country upon which emphasis was placed.

Dr. Edwin P. Booth, professor of Historical Theology at Boston University and well-known author and lecturer, was the principal speaker at the Newton service. He spoke of Africa as a continent emerging into the light in this changing world, and cited Roland Hayes as symbolic of its contribution to us and Albert Schweitzer as typical of the contribution which the western world can make to Africa.

Taking part in the service were Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, president of the Council of Church Women; Mrs. Hugh L. Robinson, vice-president; and the Rev. Hamilton M. Gifford, minister of the Newtonville Methodist Church. Miss Marion C. Greene, organist, and Miss Marjorie M. Dow, soloist, were in charge of the musical program.

Mrs. Carl L. Swan, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, was in charge of arrangements. Ushers for the service, under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Hudson, were Mrs. Earl Curran, Mrs. Albert Gray, Mrs. Willis Gray, Mrs. Harry Kinsel, Mrs. Edward Raphael, Mrs. John Rambeau, and Mrs. Harold DeWolf. In charge of the nursery was Mrs. David Rallsback.

The offering taken at the service will be divided between the Division of Foreign Missions and the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital Takes Steps To Meet Acute Nursing Shortage

In her annual report to the trustees of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, Director of Nursing Services and the School of Nursing of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital emphasized the fact that there is a continuing and serious shortage of trained, graduate nurses to provide optimum nursing care for patients at the hospital. This problem is not by any means limited to our local hospital, however, Miss Fuller noted. Indeed, it is part of a nationwide phenomenon and one that affects virtually every voluntary hospital in the country.

"Perhaps," Miss Fuller stated, "too little attention has been given to the effect that the increased birth and marriage rate has on any occupation for women. Although the total female population fourteen years old and older has increased six million since 1940, the number of single women fourteen years and older was actually lower in 1950 than it was in 1940. Also, the number of married nurses reported in 1950 was 75 per cent or almost double the 41 per cent reported in 1927. The birth rate has shown an increase in eight years from 1255 to 198 per 1,000, with the most pronounced change in the age group from 20-24 years.

This trend, whether sustained or increased, must be considered in long-term planning. Changes in short term planning must also be considered since the number of full time staff nurses has decreased from 45 in 1950 to 19 in 1952. In partial compensation, however, it must be noted that during the same period the number of part-time staff nurses equivalent to full time has increased from 4 to 11. This still does not make up the deficit and the problem of providing adequate care for patients is a serious one.

The turnover of personnel was maintained at about the same rate during recent years for the first nine months of the current year. But during the last three months of 1952, 26 resignations took place as against 11 appointments. It has been necessary to take on a large number of part-time employees and this makes the orientation of new nurses and the direction of ward activities difficult.

In order to cope with these serious problems two studies were undertaken at the hospital. The first, a study of head nurse function, revealed that too large a percentage of the head nurse's time was spent in clerical work. The second study was done to determine the number of times that personnel left the floors to deliver requisitions or to obtain supplies. This study showed that during the course of a week the time spent on errands was almost equivalent to that of three full time employees.

As a result of these observations three major changes were made in procedure in the Nursing Department. Ward clerks were employed for all floors, thus relieving the head nurse of many clerical duties and permitting her to spend more time on matters of a more professional nature. A central delivery service for the Nursing Department is being organized and is proving helpful. In addition an orderly was transferred from the Nursing to the X-Ray department to transfer patients to and from X-Ray. Ward personnel should suffer fewer interruptions.

Changes have been made in the assignment of the supervisory staff which should result in more effective management. The supervisors can now focus their attention on one major area rather than two. It is possible that the employment of the team plan, which co-ordinates the efforts of nurse, aide, orderly, ward helper and students, may be indicated.

Enrollment in the School of Nursing remained at about the same level as before. During 1952 only 14 students with drew, but of these 14, five left to be married.

Reactivation of 'NYO' Sought To Aid Juvenile Delinquents

Reactivation of the Newton Organization, which closed its doors in Newton Corner two years ago, was urged last week by Alderman Paul S. Rich as a means of combating the upsurge in Newton of juvenile delinquency.

"To say that Newton doesn't have a bad juvenile delinquency problem on its hands is simply whistling in the dark," the alderman stated.

Mr. Rich lauded the efforts of the NYO during its three years of existence under the direction of William Byrne, declaring that the activities had saved many youths "from certain prison."

There is "a group of possibly 100 or more boys between the ages of 12 and 16 who are not being reached by the existing agencies and facilities of Newton," he said. "The only agencies which see a great deal of them are the Police Department and the probation officers of the local court."

During the three years that the Newton Youth Organization was operating, it was shown "that so-called bad boys can be saved through the cooperative efforts of many, headed by the proper persons and backed by the citizens of the community," Mr. Rich concluded.

Alderman Rich's complete statement follows:

Moscow Radio says the Russians with 30,000 men and women over 100 years old—are living longer than other people. American statisticians, however, believe the Russian figures on longevity are based on errors due to lack of birth registrations. The Russians don't live longer, they say—it just seems longer, under Communist regime.—Thompsonville (Conn.) Press.

of the situation and to try find some solution to the problem. To say that Newton has a bad juvenile problem on its hands is simply whistling in the dark.

As I see it, we have a group possibly 100 or more boys between the ages of 12 and 16 who are not being reached by existing agencies and facilities of Newton. With all due credit to the public school system, and its excellent facilities, the Recreation Department, and the splendid work of its employees, plus the Boy Scouts, the so-called 'bad boys' are not being reached. The only agencies which see a good deal of them are the Police Department and the probation officers of the local court.

It is surprising to learn of the number of these boys in Newton who come from broken homes. We who live in congenial atmospheres, cannot for moment believe that so many bad situations can and do exist in Newton, the city of homes, that they do exist and from them come a goodly portion of maladjusted children. The social agencies of Newton cannot hope to solve all of the problems involved in a broken family, especially when boys 15 years of age are concerned. But many of these boys come from normal homes, where they have happily outgrown the physical control of fathers, mothers, and their brothers and sisters; so the fault cannot be attributed exclusively to the broken home.

"One might ask about the city departments which are spending considerable amounts each year on recreational facilities for thousands of Newton boys and girls, frankly speaking, the 12 to 16 year-old boys, having difficulty with schools, police and merchants, take very little part in the recreational activity.

"They know they are outsiders. They know that all too often, when they appear on rare occasions, they are soon asked to leave. This is not the fault of the department personnel but an eventual happening when one is entrusted with a hundred or more happy youngsters, and the trouble maker appears on the scene. So he goes his way and soon comes to know that there are a few others like himself in the area and he pals with them exclusively.

"We have a situation in Newton today, particularly in the Newton Corner area, where a sizable group of teen-age boys have, for one reason or another, been completely ostracized from nearly everything in the community. Some cannot go into stores and shops, others into the theater, others the libraries. Every door seems barred to them and they know it all too well. Coming from disrupted home atmospheres, where one cannot entertain friends, barred from nearly every place in the community what else but scheming and plotting against society can come from such a situation.

"Some five years ago, a trained, experienced young social worker, on his own time and with his own resources, took hold of a similar bad situation in Newton Corner. His name—William Byrne—became known through the city as the one person who could and did actually save young boys from the certain fate of the reform school, and prison. Working with Chief Philip Purcell of the Police Dept., with the YMCA, with religious leaders of all faiths, and particularly with the merchants, he created the Newton Youth Organization. For three years he devoted his evenings, his weekends, and his resources, to saving boys. The large number of boys he saved from certain prison will forever be a shining example of his efforts. Two years ago, Mr. Byrne was forced to give up his Newton work with boys and, although still residing within the city, is engaged by a busy community house in a neighboring city.

"It is my sincere hope, that some way will be found for the city government, to undertake the saving of this large number of Newton boys. No one person can do the job. No existing agency can reach those in need. But, through three years of applied effort, we have seen demonstrated over and over again that so-called bad boys can be saved through the co-operative efforts of many, headed by the proper persons and backed by the citizens of the community."

school in her city, and has been particularly interested in visiting the new elementary schools in Newton in connection with contemplated elementary school construction in Idaho Falls. Mr. Holden is a prominent lawyer in Idaho Falls, with an extensive practice over the entire State.

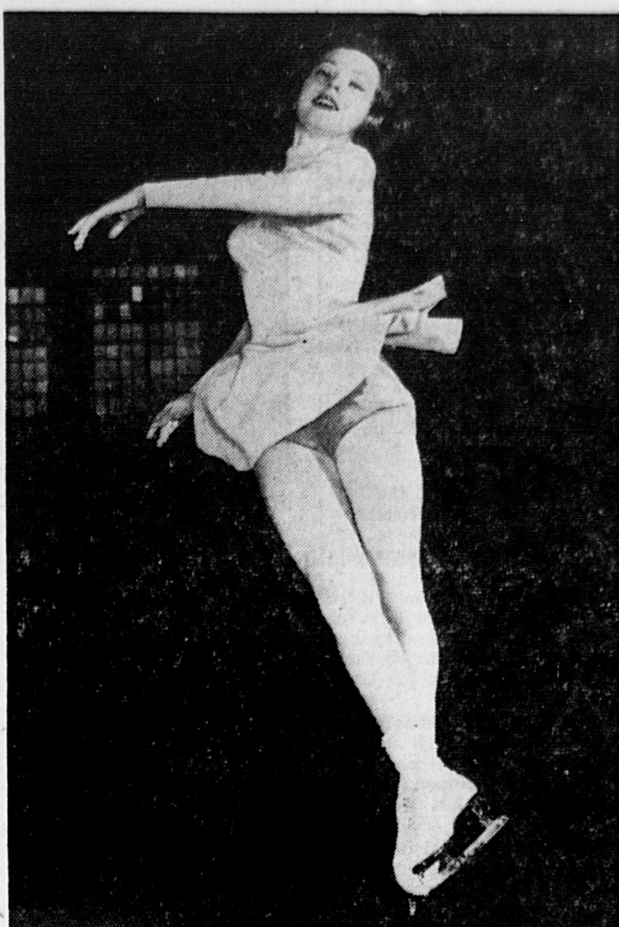

Mrs. Holden reports that the School and School Exchange idea has made a vital impression in Idaho Falls. She says that the students there are eagerly looking forward to their visit in Newton.

Hospital—

The Seminar in Human Relations for the class of students entering in September of 1952, marks the main change over previous years in the School of Nursing. This seminar, guided and conducted by the Human Relations Service of Wellesley is directed towards helping the new student to adjust to a strange and to an exacting schedule. Although it is probably too early to draw final conclusions from this seminar, the experience seems to have had some effect since only one student from the incoming class has withdrawn due to a failure to adjust to the demands of the profession of nursing. If it seems advisable, this type of guidance may be continued for the balance of the time that these students are in the school.

A study of the cost to the Hospital of maintaining the School of Nursing was completed early in the year by Miss Barbara Hamilton, a graduate student at the Boston University School of Nursing. While there was some evidence that the students paid in services slightly over the cost of their education, this did not seem to be the significant point. Miss Hamilton pointed out that the high saw Alderman John B. Osborn present the first American woman's skating champion a gold trophy bowl and an inscribed book on the history of Newton.

Rep. Howard Whitmore, Jr. read a resolution, passed recently by the Massachusetts legislature, praising her victory at Switzerland. Mr. Golding praised her combination of "grit and talent" which helped Tenley to overcome polio in her pursuit of the skating crown.

Other speakers who praised Tenley's achievements included Harold G. Gores, superintendent of Newton schools; Miss Adelaide Ball, president of the Newton Community Council; Wilfred Chagnon, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce; and Mr. Spaulding.

ington. Last fall, he was soloist with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra at the Worcester Festival.

Mr. Basso for the past four years has held the position of leading bass in the New England Opera Theatre, and has recently broadcast a complete performance of Winterreise Cycle of Franz Schubert.

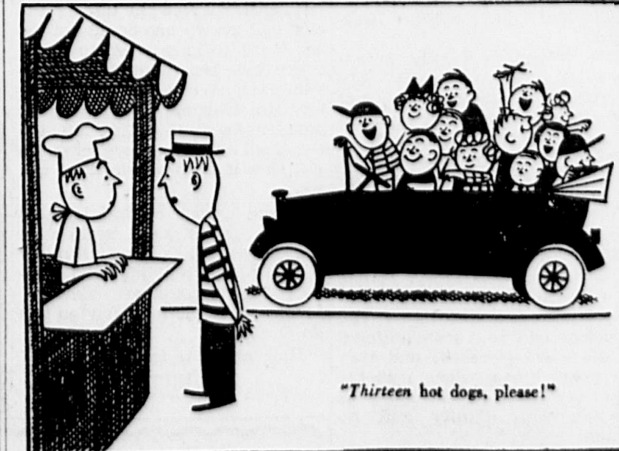

Of interesting coincidence to club members is the knowledge that Mr. Basso gives much credit for his early start and encouragement in vocal music to the family of George E. Leeper, now of Needham, and a member of the bass section of the glee club for the past eight seasons. For several years Mr. Leeper's sister, Ruth, was concert accompanist for Mr. Basso.

The program of the choristers has been well chosen for variety and balance and will be supplemented in solo parts by Mr. Basso and several of the individual voices of the club. It is expected that their reputation for singing beautiful music will be as always capably demonstrated to a large music loving audience.

There is a second important reason for the increase in National Red Cross fund requirements. The Defense Department has long felt that the servicemen in Korea have a justifiable need of more extensive clubmobile service. Red Cross has accepted the request to meet this need.

"It is important that we keep in mind that we must not only support our share of the National Red Cross programs but must continue to carry on the eighteen services performed each year by the Newton Chapter. A substantial portion of the money raised in Newton will be spent right here in Newton for service to Newton people, so we feel it is most important that people who live in Newton be urged to make a contribution to the Newton Chapter. It is from the Newton Chapter that Newton residents request and receive service."

"Included in the local program are such important activities as the Educational Services of First Aid, Home Nursing and Water Safety; the Service Groups, serving the community; its hospital and two Veteran Administration facilities, through volunteers in Arts and Skills, Canteen Entertainment, Gray Ladies, Nurses' Aides, Motor Service, Production, Social Welfare Aides and Staff Aides; College Activities at Lasell Junior College; Home Service with its wide variety of assistance to veterans, servicemen and their dependents; the Blood Program with its twenty Bloodmobile visits this year to serve the Newton resident as well as the serviceman wherever on duty; the Junior Red Cross with its very active program through the schools; and Disaster Preparedness and Relief standing by to meet the emergency which could happen here."

"It is going to be a real job to reach our goal," said Mr. Kennedy, "but with intensive effort on the part of everyone and a real understanding of our need, we are confident that our objective can and will be reached."

Mr. Potts reports that the Youth Work Program runs 6 days a week with the largest attendance on Tuesdays and Saturdays. A normal day sees 60 to 80 boys active in the Youth Work Area at the Newton YMCA while the big days may find 150 to 200 boys on hand.

Once each month the program calls for a "mass activity" such as a father and son night or a jamboree. These include special emphasis activities such as a Halloween party, a talent show or a costume party. There may also be movies and refreshments.

Variety is introduced by special trips like a recent visit to the Antique Automobile Museum in Brookline, or a prominent sports event. During the Christmas vacation a group of 60 boys made a trip to the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain.

The Newton YMCA, a Red Feather Agency, is a member of the Newton Community Chest.

Tobin and Dever Appear Certain to Head Democratic State Ticket in '54 Election

Speculation already has started as to the identity of the Democratic candidates who will challenge Governor Herter and Senator Saltonstall in next year's State election. Barring unforeseen happenings, the probable answer to the early conjecture seems rather plain. There is every indication that Maurice J. Tobin and Paul A. Dever will team up to head the Bay State's Democratic slate in 1954.

The impression exists in political circles that Tobin will be the contender against Saltonstall and that Dever will run a return race against Herter, but conceivably it could prove to be the other way around.

Tobin and Dever presumably will sit down a year from now, reach an agreement as to which office each will seek and map their battle plans. It is possible that both may be aiming at the same objective, but under the circumstances they would be anxious to avoid a costly and harmful primary fight.

An attempt has been made by some Democrats to promote Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes as a candidate for State-wide office in 1954, but Hynes has rebuffed every suggestion of that nature in chilly fashion and has declared repeatedly that his only purpose is to apply himself to his present job.

The cares of office do not rest as easily on Hynes as they did on ex-Mayor Curley. He is deeply concerned about the prospect of another increase in Boston's tax rate. He is harassed by problems such as the MTA deficit about which he can do nothing, and there is some doubt whether his friends will be able to persuade him to run for anything after he completes his present term.

Tobin and Dever, on the other hand, are motivated by strong desires for political vindication. Both were defeated in their last runs for the Governorship, Tobin going down in the Republican sweep of 1946 and Dever losing to Herter last fall.

While Dever himself a year ago at this time was undecided whether he would seek a third term and yielded rather reluctantly to pressure from his supporters to make the fight against Herter, no group in modern times has taken defeat harder than did the Deverites.

They began talking about the 1954 election even before their man left the State House, and while Dever has remained silent on whatever ideas he may have concerning a possible comeback, his friends certainly are banking on his running next year.

Tobin is an even more certain candidate in 1954 than Dever. The only thing that might conceivably keep him on the sidelines would be to have a Republican tide running so strongly next year that there would be little prospect of his winning election.

He stepped out of the gubernatorial race in 1948, leaving Dever unopposed in the primary and accepting the position as Secretary of Labor when almost every political expert in the country was predicting that Thomas E. Dewey would defeat Harry Truman for the Presidency and it appeared that the job Tobin was taking would last only five months.

Tobin was one Democrat who was completely untouched by the scandals of the Truman administration, and his personal prestige has been greatly enhanced by his service of four and a half years in the cabinet.

Except for Mayor Hynes who isn't interested in running and John F. Kennedy who is in the U. S. Senate and out of the contention, there is no Democrat in Massachusetts who could stand up against Dever and Tobin in a primary fight for their party's nomination.

The political writers like to call the roll of potential candidates and usually include Congressman Philip J. Philbin and Superior Court Chief Justice John P. Higgins, but none of them would come even close to Tobin or Dever in a primary.

Some observers are disposed to forget that many men of undisputed ability, who are holding places of great trust and responsibility, are still comparatively unknown to the rank and file of the voters.

Congressman Philbin, highly respected in central Massachusetts, is understood to be desirous of achieving promotion to the U. S. Senate, but it is unlikely that any such opportunity will present itself to him next year.

A year ago at this time, the Republican leaders, after persuading Christian A. Herter to run for the Governorship, were still in the throes of uncertainty and were waiting for their unofficial State convention in June to determine the makeup of their slate.

Both parties now know pretty definitely, 20 months in advance of the 1954 election, who their standard-bearers will be.

Governor Herter took two steps last week which are likely to be the subjects of discussion for some time to come. Both of them apparently came as a surprise to his critics.

He moved swiftly to halt a gas strike which would have had the most serious consequences. A lack of decisive action on his part would have left some 140,000 families without cooking facilities and many without heat in the middle of winter.

It unquestionably was Mr. Herter's most important single action in his seven weeks at the head of the State government, when he stepped in quickly and stopped that strike.

His other move, which aroused widespread comment, was in seeking funds to fight a proposed increase in telephone rates. That came as a surprise to many Democratic politicians, and it is a step which they scarcely can criticize.

Between trying to fill key places in his cabinet, reorganize a number of State agencies, including the MTA, purchase the Boston Arena in order to save it for school-boy sports, prevent any increase in taxes and stop industries from leaving Massachusetts, Mr. Herter has been a very busy individual.

By the time you are reading this, Governor Herter may have named a new State public works commissioner, and William C. Callahan will have shifted to the $12,000-a-year post as chairman of the Massachusetts East-West Toll Highway Authority which is to build a toll road from Boston to the New York line.

Callahan is both one of the most able men and one of the most controversial figures ever to serve as a State department head.

Because he is a man of tremendous engineering and executive ability, the task of filling his place is not an easy one. Boston Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland might have been induced to accept the post, if some misguided G.O.P. politician has not voiced a phoney protest when Herter and Hyland met to confer on public works matters.

Since then Herter has been scanning the field of possibilities, and Callahan, who has not been in the best of health since he underwent a major throat operation, is vacationing in Florida, waiting for news of the selection of his successor.

Callahan has had both a spectacular and a stormy career. He was appointed by ex-Governor Ely just before the latter went out of office in 1934, and he served during the Hurley and Curley administrations.

Leverett Saltonstall removed him in 1939 after hearings before the Executive Council, but Callahan returned to the State public works department exactly 10 years later to direct the most ambitious road-building program in the history of the Commonwealth under former Governor Dever.

Callahan was probably most interested in personal vindication when he returned to the public works post. Now in poor health, he is apparently glad to turn over his duties to someone else and shift to a less arduous position.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A file clerk in the F.B.I., who is taking correspondence courses in the hope of becoming an agent, spotted one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals the other day and helped to capture him. The criminal's picture had appeared on a circular Clerk Robert L. Harvey of Oklahoma City had helped to prepare and distribute.

Cof C Objects To More State Legal Holidays

Any increase in legal statewide holidays above the 10 already celebrated by law was opposed by the Newton Chamber of Commerce last week as tending to cause "general disruption in business operations."

Writing in the Chamber's monthly bulletin, Executive Secretary Rupert C. Thompson stated that businesses believe "great caution should be exercised" in creating new holidays or imposing tighter restrictions on existing ones.

He pointed out that the holidays made interstate commerce especially difficult, since the same holidays are not marked in all states.

Mr. Thompson claimed there was "no evidence" that bills for additional holidays were backed by the general public or there was "widespread public sentiment" for them.

"Business firms willingly join in the observance of all holidays which long tradition and widespread public sentiment call for commemoration," Mr. Thompson wrote.

"They accept the existing legal restrictions which are felt necessary for proper observance. But because the laws relating to legal holidays cause a great deal of general disruption in business operations and are especially difficult for many firms in interstate commerce, business firms believe that great caution should be exercised in enlarging the present number or in imposing further restrictions on existing holidays."

"There is no evidence that these bills are backed by general acceptance of the importance of the proposed holidays or widespread public sentiment for their observance. Massachusetts is a commercial and industrial state which is in dire need of more business, more production and a lessening of the high burden of cost on business."

Jorgenson Story Now Appearing in American Weekly

Newspapers are concerned every day with what is loosely called "human interest," in which are described the strange things people do and, most important, why they do them. Some stories the papers print have a scientific angle to them, as well as a human side.

From both the human and scientific standpoint, one of the most remarkable newspaper stories of the year was the revelation of an American boy, George Jorgenson, who had undergone surgical and medical treatment to become a girl. However the public may feel about the manner in which the original news break was emphasized in some instances there is no doubt that there lay behind the dispatches a remarkable personal experience, a life story unique in the annals of science and literature, a story which the daily news dispatches hardly touched.

American newspaper foreign correspondents in Copenhagen learned that Christine Jorgenson had no intention of accepting the many offers to make personal appearances or to appear in motion pictures. She had promised her doctors that she would spend the months following the completion of her conversion in writing the history of her life to date, in the hope that her experiences would serve science well and, in addition, clarify the emotional problems she faced.

After some spirited bidding Random House and King Features closed the contract with Christine Jorgenson to publish the story. It was agreed mutually that the story must be handled with dignity and that the human aspects should be stressed to avoid any questionable overtones.

The Jorgenson family is co-operating in every way, not only to help make the story as real and moving as possible, but also to prevent other publications from getting any part of this material. They have made available the childhood incident and pictures which greatly enrich Christine's own recollections.

Every one in America will want to read this story. It has been written, edited, and presented in such a way that it can offend no one, that its emotional qualities are stressed, and that the great human document the American public will read is handled with dignity and restraint.

The third instalment of "The Story of My Life," by Christine Jorgenson, will appear in the American Weekly, distributed with the Boston Sunday Advertiser March 1st. Succeeding instalments will appear in consecutive Sundays immediately following.

N.C. Resident Treasurer For Cancer Drive

William H. Rice of 21 Herrick road, Newton Centre, has been named treasurer for Newton of the 1953 Cancer Crusade of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society.

Mr. Rice, who is president of the Newton Centre Savings Bank, has been treasurer for the Cancer Drive since 1949. He is a trustee of the Andover-Newton Theological School, clerk of the Stone Institute, clerk of the Newton Home for Aged People, and treasurer of the Brae Burn Country Club.

All funds contributed to the Cancer Crusade are utilized in the broad program aimed at conquering this second-ranking killer in the United States.

In Massachusetts, with its concentration of major universities and medical centers, more funds annually are allocated for scientific research into cancer's causes than are raised within the Commonwealth by public subscription.

In addition to research, the American Cancer Society and its Massachusetts Division sponsors a broad program of public and medical education. The public education is designed to reduce cancer's death toll by giving the public a better understanding of the disease, with particular emphasis on the fact that cancer need not be fatal if discovered in time.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The incidents that have taken place in our city during the past month regarding vandalism and juveniles has been indeed very tragic. Punishments, talks, restrictions, etc. are all well and good but how about somebody really getting up enough gumption to correct it.

The Y.M.C.A. is a lovely old landmark in Newton but as the city had grown one could not expect the Y to have room to admit every boy for recreation in the whole city. We see an adjoining city to Newton, a great deal smaller in size, taking on the responsibility of a boys' club. So I'm sure if they can do it, so can we.

If the proper central location can be found each section of the city could have their own day of use at the building, and maybe the girls could get some enjoyment from it too. Newton can do it.

How about it folks!

Newton Man's Role Vital in Aid to Israel

Edward Richmond of 47 Kenmore street, Newton, president of the Plymouth Rock Transportation Company and a member of Temple Emanuel, is credited with keeping open a "life-line" to Israel from all over New England.

When the New England office of Material for Israel opened recently in Boston, it became obvious that there would be a sharp increase in the amount of material moving from New England to the New York warehouse.

The director of Trucks for Israel, which is sponsored by the America Motor Carrier Industry, called on Mr. Richmond for suggestions for expansion of transportation service in this area.

Through Mr. Richmond, whose firm has been aiding the Material for Israel program for a long time, the New York-New England Motor Carrier Owners' Association pledged the services of all its trucking companies. As a result, up to 20 carriers are now regularly donating their services to the transportation of merchandise contributed to Israel.

Much of the material carried in this "life-line" to Israel is being secured through the efforts of the members of the Temple Emanuel Brotherhood, which has taken the lead among New England Brotherhoods in soliciting donations of critically-needed materials for Israel.

Says Soviets' Anti-Semitism A 'Diversion'

Rep. Lawrence Curtis of Brooklyn charged Sunday that the Communists had adopted Hitler's tactics of attacking Jews in an effort to divert the public's attention from internal troubles within the Soviet Union.

Speaking at the Brotherhood Week meeting of Brookline Post No. 2, Jewish War Veterans, at Temple Kehillath Israel, Congressman Curtis said Russia was attempting to "whip into line dissident elements inside the Soviet Union by inspiring fear of an imaginary element from within."

He said the breaking-off of diplomatic relations between Israel and the Soviet Union was generally recognized as an attempt by Moscow to unite its own dissident elements and at the same time to seek the favor of renege Nazis in Eastern Germany and in the Arab world.

The Congressman declared himself in favor of "extensive revision" of the McCarron Immigration Act and predicted its revision by the present Congress.

A quarter of the country's gross output of goods and services is the result of government expenditures. If once more Americans assume individual responsibility for "attaining" their share of domestic tranquility and welfare, their government can concentrate on what alone it can provide, the common defense.

It is cheaper by billions to support ourselves than to support a huge government in order that it may support us.-No. walk (Conn) Hour.

Although not so long ago it was accepted doctrine that the population of the United States would shortly cease to grow, it now seems highly probable that it will increase by 50 per cent in the next 50 years, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

High School Notes

A program illustrating the languages of both music and art as presented for the Junior class on Wednesday, February 25, 1953. It was sponsored by the Music Club and the Art Department and under the supervision of Miss Eleanor Elliott, Art Supervisor of Newton schools. Miss Helen Miles, High School Art Department head, Mr. Henry Lasker, advisor of the Music Club, and Mr. Charles Chase, directing the stage crew. The introduction was given by Dan Sharrow. Jack Bresnahan as commentator of the first presentation with Steve Kuhn at the piano while four artists, Arlene Solomont, Judy Field, Carol Frech, and Marjorie Joselyn displayed what the music suggested to each at the easels. Steve Kuhn's music varied from simple finger exercises to a version of De Falla's Ritual Dance of Fire.

Next, three films, "The Loon's Necklace", "Begone Dull Care", and "Boundary Lines" were seen. The first of these was the movie named 1949s best by Canada and displayed the art of British Columbian Indians in making masks and used vivid colors. Following this, "Begone Dull Care", created by Norman Macaren, with musical background by Oscar Peterson and his trio expressed the audience with the lines and patterns which expressed the musical ideas. Lastly, "Boundary Lines", using a theme of social problems and the same appreciable music and art was seen. Other students working for the success of the program were Nancy Bigelow, Helen Wolff, and Joyce Dudley. Film operation was directed by Mr. Gradone.

Patty Atwood to Give Lecture On North African Adventure

"North African Auto Adventure" will be the subject of an illustrated travelogue to be delivered by Patty Atwood, traveller, and photographer of Newton, Friday evening, March 6 at the Newton Centre Methodist Church, Langley road.

PATTY ATWOOD

Mrs. Atwood is an experienced and seasoned traveller, and her brilliantly illustrated and unique travelogues have delighted audiences far and wide. Her "North African Auto Adventure" is a colored pictorial auto safari through Tunisia, Algeria and the Sultanate of Morocco. It glimpses the Arab life and religion, their kasbas, souks, horses, natives and the pageantry of the Sultan. 4200 miles by auto to the interior and the Sahara, along the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts with historical reminders of the native and Roman civilizations which antedate the Christian era.

To build big government even bigger and make our economy dependent on it would be a step away from the way of life which has brought us freedom and high living standards.

Lasell Students Guides at Jackson Homestead Sunday

Students from Lasell Junior College will serve as guides at the Jackson Homestead Open House on Sunday afternoon, from 3 to 5 p.m. They will be wearing lovely old dresses from the Homestead costume collection.

According to Fred C. Alexander, chairman of the Board of Trustees, first Sundays of the month at the Community Museum located at 527 Washington street, Newton, have come to be an occasion for family groups to step out together and enjoy the atmosphere of an earlier day in the life of Newton.

Each successive visit reveals additions to the furnishings and to the growing collection of items of historical value. A recent acquisition is a facsimile of four pages of the original Biblical translation which John Eliot made for local Indians.

Is in Demand as Speaker at Meetings

In addition to her duties at the State House, as a member of two committees, Education and Public Welfare, Rep. Irene K. Thresher of the Fifth Middlesex District has been in demand as a speaker. A week ago she was the leader of the round-table on the Problems of the Aging at the One-Day Legislative Clearing House of the Massachusetts Organization Services, which was held at 3 Joy street in Boston.

On Friday morning, February 13, she spoke to the Wellesley League of Women Voters on various educational bills before the Legislature, and other bills, in which the League is particularly interested. At noon on the same day, Mrs. Thresher was the guest, with several other lady members of the General Court, at the Women's Educational and Industrial Union in Boston. At this meeting she was asked to speak on the issues in legislation for the elderly, on which she is working with her recess commission.

BU to Observe Founders' Day March 10-14

President Harold C. Case of Boston University has invited the general public to participate in this year's 5-day observance of "Founders' Day" at the school March 10 through March 14.

The theme of the celebration will be "The University and Its Community," showing that every college and university serves its community in many ways "over and beyond the call of classroom and laboratory."

In the 1953 Founders' Day Institute, President Case declared, Boston University will strive to show the "day-to-day relationships which a university has to its local, regional and world community. Using itself as an example, Boston University will show visually the character of a university and the various aspects of education in which it is engaged, with particular emphasis upon the types of service a university performs for its community and their importance."

The program will feature displays, campus tours, panel discussions, public forums, demonstrations, exhibits and dramatic presentations which will typify community service.

News of the Day

As the boys' basketball season draws to an end, the Day Varsity lost another game to Bigelow, 41-39 while the J-V's won, 33-19. However, after a series of close ones on the losing end, Captain Russell Putnam and the varsity boys eked out a close win over arch-rival, Weeks Junior High School, 28-27. It was a breathtaking finish with the last few seconds anybody's game. Besides their captain, the other boys on the squad played splendidly — Bob Holmes, Al Hackel, Billy Hough, Don Christenson, and John O'Reilly. The J-V team lost this one, 23-18. The next game is with Wellesley Junior High School here at Day.

Plans for the annual Day Science Fair and Open House the evening of Wednesday, March 18 continue to develop. Pupils in science classes of all grades are encouraged to enter exhibits in the form of projects, collections, live animals — anything related to the study of general science. A special Science Fair Assembly Program is scheduled for Friday, March 6, when Mr. Richard Kleber of the Boston Museum of Science will be our guest speaker.

The February school vacation is now in progress. When 9th grade pupils return in March, the time will again be with us for planning next year's program at Senior High School. The latest edition of the pamphlet "Welcome to Newton High School" is now ready for distribution. The major portion of orientation and preparation of 9th grade boys and girls will take place in Social Studies classes.

Various items of interest around the school include the acquisition of a Bell-Howell 1000 watt Filmosound Projector. The one it replaces was a staunch old timer in service nearly twenty-five years. . . Miss Hinkley, who suffered a fall recently, has returned to her home from the hospital. . . The Boys' Club Club held a Valentine tea for faculty members. These boys, who work with Mrs. Nicholson, made and served a fine variety of hors d'oeuvres. Club members are George Mosher, Frank Civetti, Joseph Panaggio, Louis Farugia, Philip Baker, Alden Hatch, Joseph Francione, Robert Rosenblatt, Francis Mazzola, and Daniel Magni, all of Grade 8.

In connection with the collection for Dutch Relief, which totaled over $75.00, the original idea and planning was carried out by the Eighth Grade Girls' Service Club, Frances Russo, President. Miss Ammidown was in charge of the whole project as well as Day Junior Red Cross.

Colorful Ceremonies Held By Pack 22 of Cub Scouts

Four eight-year old boys were inducted into Pack 22 of the Norumbega Council, Cub Scouts of America, in a highly colorful ceremony, last Friday evening at the Underwood School. "Bud" Angier, Cub Scoutmaster, performed the ceremony before a large number of scouts and assembled parents. The inductees gathered in front of a simulated campfire, and listened to Scoutmaster Angier explain the significance and honor of the ceremony. The new Cub Scouts included: Jonathan Ingersoll, Leo Burke, Gerard Mazzola and Robert Englewood. The boys were happy to join the ranks.

In addition to the induction, the evening's activities included the traditional monthly flag ceremony with Richard Smith and Eliot Winkur posting the colors. Awards were presented to the following cubs: Bobcat: Carl Osterberg, Peter Lombardi, David Jennings. Wolf: Johnny Cochrane, Paul Feinberg, Kenneth Gleason, Roger Ritvo, Jerry Winkur. Gold Arrow: Eliot Winkur. Cold and Silver Arrows: Jack Swanton.

Bear: Larry Thompson. Silver Arrow, Charles Dimond. Webels Award, highest honor in Cubbing, presented to David Ingersoll, who is now a Boy Scout and has trained in Tender-foot Scout requirements. A number of interesting exhibits, made by the Cubs, were displayed including: a scrapbook made of wood by Bob England; scrapbook of famous paintings by Eliot Winkur; members of Den 6 (Mrs. Boyd's) made valentines for Mothers; memo board by Jeff Edmonds; name slugs made for each boy in Den 4 by Chester Taylor; a Valentine Scrapbook and Knot Board by Larry Thompson, a collection of coins from various countries by Roger Ritvo; a stamp collection and Ring-a-Bottle game by Michael Draper; scrapbook and ring-tones game by Roger Ritvo; "the Den 4 Coverall" a newspaper by Mrs. Edmonds' Den, the first publication of its kind in Pack 22; silhouette of self by Ned Shiffman; stone collection, baseball scrapbook and silhouette by Paul Feinberg; and a set of flag replicas made by Den 4.

The night of the evening was a talk on Knots and types of Rope by Dwight S. Simpson, the father of one of the cubs. Mr. Simpson gave the cubs some valuable information on how to splice rope, make bows, square and granny knots among other things, which held the boys attentively.

If you have moved, eloped, died, sold out, had company, been murdered, lost your teeth, been in a fight, sold your goldfish, had an operation, earned your first million or got all "A's" — its news — drop it in the Orange Library Box — and we'll print it! Vacation began with a bang with Diane Steinberg's Sweet Sixteen party at the Meadows Saturday night. . . Newtonites are leaving for vacation — Barb Lamkin and Mary Perry to the "Big City" a la shopping.

Adrie Glazier is visiting her sister at Sara Lawrence College — plays and restaurants — Sue Harwich to the "Concord" in the Adirondacks — Ellie Dutton will be in Marlboro — Peter Valtz and Dick Liddy are going skiing, as are Myrna Karofsky and Carol Flax — Rhoda Kaplan will come home from her Florida vacation with an inch thick coat of tan — Joanie Narces is celebrating her sixteenth birthday with an all-female "p.j." party — and of course, our Southern Exchange is down at Bradenton. . . Danny Antonellis and Billy Adelson masterminded the dressing of "Horace," the skeleton of 2311 with Eliot Aronson's socks, tie and scarf. . . Wonder who has the oldest car on campus, drop your entry in our mail box during this vacation. . . Jane St. Amant will have a p.j. party at her home in Waban. . . Another party will be Joanie Van Haelst's sweet sixteen party. . . The good news of the day is about Adele and "Swanee". . . What is this about the four girls that skipped school last Friday. . . Who was the cute boy from Governor Drummer last Friday, at the game. . . Did you hear Dick Fogg is getting his license — you better watch out. . . Did you notice Bill Hamill back in the lineup on the basketball game. . . Homework for Kenny Flagg and his block "B" biology class "The Social Life of a Bee". . . Marty Dorenbaum is pinning for the sunny south and what goes with it — women — mainly Chris Elms — Newtonite-turned-southern-belle. . . Another Newtonite who is leaving our fair burg for sunny lands is Betsy Coan to California. . . Richard "Zipper" Lord and Sally Elliot won the dancing prize at Furguson on Friday the 13th. — Who said that was an unlucky day? . . . Barb Gelles was bridesmaid at her brother's wedding on Washington's Birthday. . . Taylor Duncan's food passion is a "good cheese and mustard sandwich". . . We say "pass the bicarbonate". . . And from the Orange Box in the library comes a note — J. B. — B. H. is still carrying the torch. . . During basketball practice Amy Blender, Dolly Nickerson and Doty Stokes land themselves on the floor more than they land the ball in the hoop — but during games — boy — do they go. . . If Jack Dowling should ever contract amnesia he'll be easily identified by either of his two "IDs" — which he received at one-time-or-another from his brothers. . . In the detention room, Werner Fornes is referred to as "King of the Alibies". . . Don't forget that Orange Box and enjoy vacation. . . Toodle-oooo-oo.

Discarded Cloths For Use in Cages

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, yesterday appealed to all animal lovers for discarded blankets and cotton cloth, to be used in the cages of its Angell Memorial Animal Hospital.

Society officials made the following statement: "It has been called to our attention that the present supply of blankets and cloth is nearly exhausted, and we find it necessary to replenish our needs if we are to provide maximum care and comfort for the many animals that are brought to us daily for hospitalization. This is particularly true in the Macomber Ward, where distemper cases are treated and where bedding must be constantly refreshed."

"We feel confident, therefore, that all pet-owners, as well as lovers of animals generally, will be happy to respond to this urgent appeal by sending their gently used blankets or cloth to the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, where they will be most gratefully received and promptly acknowledged."
